Mrs. Lee G. King, of Santa Monica, Meets Instant Death; Neck Is Broken

THE other bugaboo is still spread abroad. It is that we shall have to join with the League of Nations in enforcing the opinions of the Court, or submit to the League in its enforcement of them on us.

This is complete and ludicrous oblivion to all the facts, laws and documents in the case. There is absolutely no right inherent in the Court to have its decisions enforced by the League, or at all, and none of them have been enforced, by anybody. They have simply been obeyed, without enforcement. If in some future emergency the League of Nations members among themselves, should choose to use the League's organization as a clearing house for enforcement measures on one of their members, that would be a League matter, and not a Court one, and we, by express reservation would be free of any obligation or relation to it. So, for that matter, would the Court, whose arm the League would not be.

As to the League enforcing things on us, it could only do so by war, it, or any of its members, would have the right to do that now, if they were rash enough to venture it, and they could have no other or different right in case we adhered to the Court, submitted a case to it, and then defied its decision. It is unthinkable that we would ever do anything of the sort, but if we did, nothing could happen to us that could not as readily happen now. And we could as surely provoke it, if we were crazy enough, by defying the Hague arbitrators as by defying the Court.

IF THE people have not sense enough to understand this question when discussed on the law and the facts as they are—why discuss it before them at all? It does not have to be an issue unless it is made one by those who propose to reopen action already taken. But if they do have sense enough to understand it—why think to fool them with bugaboos whose non-existence will reveal itself in five minutes' study of the subject by any one who can read English?

ANOTHER bluff is to pretend to be for "a" world court, but against "the" World Court. Where, pray, could that "a" world court be located, and of what could it consist? It could not be the court of any different group of nations, since the adherents of this one constitute practically the civilized world, with the exception of Russia and the United States. It could not consist of more acceptable judges, since these are the pick of the world, not of more independent ones, since these are completely independent of every body, including the League and their own governments. It could not be more "American," since this already contains one American judge, and no international tribunal could contain more. The arbitration tribunals to which we have submitted in the past were usually unanimously foreign. It could not be out of contact with the League of Nations, and still remain on earth, since most of the earth is in the League and uses it as its channel of united conference and action. As an institution, there is no room for another "a" court, distinct from "the" court. Of it, lawyer-like, you think of the Court not as a fact, but as a document, the way to revise the document is to join the Court and move to amend it.

But, at least, stop talking phrases on this question and discuss the facts.

Bathing Beauties Parade In Venice

VENICE, June 28.—Invading bathing beauties, who sought to take the large silver cup awarded for first place in the annual bathing beauty parade away from this beach city, were turned back Sunday when Miss Aloha Porter, of Venice, was selected, the most puerilest of maidens of 50 girls who completed. First prize for personification was awarded to Miss Lucille Pinson, of Universal City, and Miss Winona Saginaw, of Los Angeles, won the highest honor in the costume division.

Greetings and Welcome to the National Editorial Association

Orange county, the "Biggest Little County on Earth," and California, in many respects the greatest commonwealth in the world, extends cordial greetings and hearty welcome to the hundreds of members of the National Editorial Association, unqualifiedly the greatest of all organizations of newspaper men, who will be the guests of Santa Ana and Orange county tomorrow.

The contact of these potent factors of social and economic progress cannot fail to be of benefit to mankind. The immensity of this country of ours, its great variety of conditions and resources, especially the difference between the Atlantic seaboard and the Pacific coast, which in many respects are as wide apart in physical conditions as they are in geographical location, make it not only desirable but necessary that the newspaper men of the country should know California. And lest we forget—we of Californian adoption—and that we may know—who are Native Sons of the Golden West—it is fortunate that we are to have as our guests hundreds of men and women of the press from all over the United States of America.

California is justly proud of its newspapers, and unquestionably our visiting brothers may learn something from our experiences and accomplishments; and those who come among us from other states, with experiences and accomplishments far greater than ours, undoubtedly will bring to us information, incentive and inspiration of incalculable value.

But broader and richer and more far-reaching than the mere professional aspect of the coming of the National Editorial Association to California, are its political, industrial, commercial and social phases.

These hundreds of newspaper people will cross the continent, many of them for the first time, and see with their own eyes the greatness of our common country. They will see California and mingle with the people of the Pacific coast. Their vision will reach across the broad Pacific as never before, and their souls will thrill to the music of the world.

And we of California—all of us, not merely their brethren of the press—will have brought to us the roar and throb of great cities, the hum of vast industries, the swish and swirl of swift-flowing rivers and wide spreading lakes bearing on their bosoms great cargoes of commerce. We shall feel on our cheeks the winds of the rolling prairies, and our ears shall hear the whispering leaves of millions of acres of corn and cane, and the melodies of the dinkies all singing in the cotton fields.

Just as suspicion and fear, due to misunderstanding among nations of the earth, are the principal obstacles to world peace, so lack of knowledge of local conditions and misunderstanding of each other's point of view among the peoples of different parts of our own country, often impede or wholly block national progress. Whatever will bring about a better understanding of the east by the west and of the west by the east and of every part of our country by every other part cannot fail to have a salutary effect upon all and is to be welcomed by all.

So California welcomes the National Editorial Association as a great newspaper organization and welcomes its members, individually, as representatives and exponents of all that is good and great in our common country. Our hands are held out in glad greetings, and our hearts are warm with hospitality.

NEGRO SCHOOL IS DYNAMITED; WORKMEN HURT

(By United Press)
MIAMI, Fla., June 28.—Eight workmen were injured, one perhaps fatally, when the new Washington school for negroes was dynamited and collapsed shortly after 10 o'clock this morning.

Probes were launched by police, school authorities and state building inspectors before all of the victims had been removed from the ruins of the three-story building. Repeated threats have been made against placing the negro school adjacent to the white residential section, school and building officials stated after the disaster.

RIGGER KILLED BY MOVIE SHIP BLAST

FAIRMOUNT, W. Va., June 28.—A general walkout of northern West Virginia coal miners was called today by Van A. Bittner, chief of the United Mine Workers of America in this district, effective Monday, July 5. The call, Bittner announced, was issued at the behest of union miners, who have launched a campaign designed to force non-union operators to abrogate existing wage agreements and adopt the Jacksonville union wage scale.

NEGRO AND WHITE NABBED IN FLORIDA AX MURDERS

(By United Press)
TAMPA, Fla., June 28.—Two men were arrested today by police in connection with the deaths of four members of the Rowell family, who were found, with their heads crushed by an axe, early today. The name of the men, one white and the other colored, were withheld by police.

B. Rowell, 45, a carpenter; his mother, Mrs. Rowell; his nephew, Ira Rowell, 30, and his niece, Lena Rowell, 16, are the victims. The first three were found dead in their home by a neighbor.

ARRESTS ARE HELD NEAR IN KIDNAP CASE

Aimee Believes Abductors Soon Will Be Run Down; Will Assist Authorities

WILL STAY IN L. A.

Mrs. McPherson to Take Long Rest Before Starting Trip Around World

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Aimee L. Sample McPherson believes that her alleged kidnapers will probably be run down soon and arrested.

After a conference today with Assistant Captain of Police Joe Taylor, the evangelist declared it "now looks very probable" the abductors will be apprehended.

Mrs. McPherson also announced she would remain in Los Angeles for some time, before leaving on a "round-the-world evangelistic tour," to aid authorities in solving the mystery of her abduction.

The comely Bible teacher was dressed in a simple gown of gray. She greeted newspapermen cordially, and made a plea that they direct their efforts toward discovery of the kidnapers "instead of suspicions regarding myself."

Will Avoid Curious. Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, announced after a brief statement by Mrs. McPherson, that her daughter "would take a rest in some spot free from the intrusion of the curious, if that is possible."

Overwhelmed with joy at their leader's return, members of Angeles temple will hold an all-night "praise service," beginning at 10:30 o'clock tonight, following the regular weekly prayer meeting.

Mrs. McPherson will not attend, but will remain in her home to rest. The evangelist, tomorrow night, will hand out diplomas to a class of more than 50 graduates of the Angeles Temple Bible school. She will address the graduates.

Policy of Hands Off. District Attorney Keyes announced this afternoon that his department would maintain a "hands off" policy, permitting the detective department of the city police to conduct the investigation now under way to find the alleged kidnapers.

Keyes said he believed Captain of Detectives Herman Cline would be able to carry on the investigation without aid from his department. The district attorney, however, instructed two of his detectives to "remain on the job" but to work under Cline's orders.

"If the kidnapers are found," Keyes said, "I pledge the people of Los Angeles the most vigorous prosecution in the history of this country. If Chief Cline wants anything from me, he can have it. I will spare no money to mete out just punishment to those responsible for Mrs. McPherson's disappearance, as she tells them, if the parties are found."

Search for Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angeles temple, has been abandoned, Chief of Detectives Herman Cline announced today.

"We have no evidence to indicate that Ormiston can contribute anything toward a solution of the kidnaping riddle," said Cline.

Appears and Disappears. The radio operator disappeared after voluntarily presenting himself to authorities for questioning shortly after the disappearance of the evangelist.

He was sought for questioning, but has not been seen nor heard from, as far as officials are concerned, for several weeks.

The reward offered by Mrs. Kennedy for the discovery alive of her evangelist daughter will not be paid.

The offer expired on June 12, one week after the report of Mrs. McPherson's discovery in Edmonton, Canada, which proved a case of mistaken identity.

"Mother" Kennedy, at the time of the report from Edmonton, announced the reward would stand for another week. It was cancelled on June 12, and never renewed.

Plans for a "world-wide revival" were launched today by Mrs. McPherson.

"I propose to tour the globe with my message of the Four Square Gospel," the evangelist told the United Press.

The announcement confirmed reports that Mrs. McPherson might capitalize on the publicity received as a result of her mysterious "sea disappearance" on May 18, followed by a spectacular reappearance at Douglas, Ariz., five weeks later.

Her mother and other aides will map out an itinerary and complete other arrangements for the tour.

POLAR EXPLORERS PART AT END OF TRAIL IN SEATTLE

Coolidge to Receive Flag Carried by Ellsworth Over Earth's Top

(By United Press)
SEATTLE, June 28.—It was the "end of the trail" today for members of the crew of the trans-polar dirigible Norge, as they prepared to part after weeks of peril together.

Capt. Roald Amundsen and the Scandinavian adventurers will start east tonight for New York and home, sailing on the steamer Bergensfjord, July 3.

Lincoln Ellsworth, the only American on the adventure, will leave for Washington to present to President Coolidge the only American flag carried across the north pole and a duplicate of the one dropped there.

Noble to San Francisco. Umberto Noble, now a general because of his successful navigation of the Norge, will take the five other Italian members of the crew with him to San Francisco, probably leaving Tuesday evening. He will be feted by his countrymen there and then go to Akron, O., to consult with engineers of the Goodyear Rubber company, who helped build the ill-fated Shenandoah.

Thus, Seattle, where the men arrived yesterday from Nome on the steamer Victoria, watched the separation of the Norge's party, which was not devoid of sentiment between these strong men of the north.

The Norge is still at Teller. It probably will be brought out by the first boat of the year which puts in there, but what will become of it is uncertain. Possibly it may be broken up for souvenirs.

Expedition Costs Half Million. The expedition cost about $500,000 and the dirigible, having served its primary purpose, must thus help to pay for the expensive trip it took.

But whether the world claims the Norge for a souvenir, the crew had the honor of polar flying, earned in the school of experience, which came from the fabric of the Norge itself.

These were bits of the covering of the big craft, torn from the ship at Teller. On them were autographed the names of 16 daring explorers.

PRISONER GUARDED AGAINST LYNCHING

AUBURN, Calif., June 28.—Threats of lynching today caused a strong guard of officers to be dispatched to Lake Tahoe to conduct Edward Anspach, 20, to jail here, where he is held on a charge of attacking Hazel Michaelson, 22-year-old Los Angeles girl.

Returning from a party late Saturday, the girl, a guest at Lake Tahoe, related the alleged attack to other hotel guests. Infuriated, they sought Anspach, with threats of physical punishment.

The girl is in serious condition at the Lake Tahoe tavern.

Davison Will Be Brought to Coast

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 28.—William C. Davison, wanted in California on forgery charges, will be returned to San Francisco Thursday, accompanied by a detective now on his way here with extradition papers. Davison was arrested here June 18, following his disclosures before a congressional committee on alleged wholesale bootlegging activities in which he claimed prominent western banks co-operated.

Men Missing from Schooner Rescued

HALIFAX, N. S., June 28.—The 12 missing members of the crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner Falmouth are safe, a dispatch from La Have said today. The fishing schooner Lucille Smith, the dispatch said, arrived there today with the 13 men aboard. They had been picked up after their vessel burned off Sable Island last Wednesday.

QUAKE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS IN EASTERN MEDITERRANEAN

(By United Press)
ROME, June 28.—Earthquake shocks throughout the eastern end of the Mediterranean basin have caused widespread damage.

Dispatches from the island of Rhodes said 600 houses collapsed in the village of Arcanxelo and 2000 in the villages of Armita, Monolito and Apolochia.

The quakes, of 10 seconds duration, was extremely violent. In the village of Arkangyella, more than 100 houses were thrown to the ground and one man was killed. Several were reported injured there. At Binde, many houses were cracked, and injuries are reported among the inhabitants. Houses also collapsed in the city of Rhodes.

Latest advices to Rome confirmed earlier reports that there were no casualties and no serious damage in the earthquake which was felt in all southern Italy and Tripoli.

MEN PAID TO GET LIQUOR AS EVIDENCE

Temperance Workers in Pennsylvania Pay Wages Of Under-Cover Agents

Enforcement Band Leader Testifies at Hearing by Senate Election Probers

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28.—The $130,000 W. C. T. U. special Pennsylvania law enforcement fund—contributed by women of the temperance organization—was used in part to employ under-cover workers to buy liquor from bootleggers, William B. Wright, leader of the special enforcement band, told the senate primary investigating committee today.

Wright did not want to reveal names of the investigators who secretly furnish information for raids, and Chairman Reed temporarily refused to name "Mr. X," "Mr. Y," "Mr. Z" and "Mr. Zero."

These men are paid $200 or $250 a month and expenses to make liquor purchases, but they never make raids so that their identity may be concealed and they continue to get evidence of the bootleggers, he said.

The fund also was used and still is being used for open liquor prosecution, said Wright.

Wright told the committee today he received $8000 a year and expenses from the W. C. T. U. special enforcement fund to prosecute liquor cases in Pennsylvania.

Wright, special assistant attorney general of Pennsylvania, defended the policy of Gov. Gifford Pinchot in administering a private fund for carrying out state law enforcement. He cited statutes that the governor was charged with the duty of all law enforcement.

"First the governor asked me to act as his special counsel in law enforcement work," said Wright. From February, 1923, to August 1, 1923, I was paid by the state and since August 1, I have been paid out of the special fund."

Wright said his salary had been increased last January to $8000 a year, with limited railroad and telephone expenses.

ESCAPED MARINE SERGEANT NABBED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Sgt. Joseph Cerek, who recently escaped from the San Diego marine base, where he was under arrest on bootlegging charges, was held at Moore Island today, awaiting return to San Diego.

Cerek was arrested in March with several other marines on order of Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, commandant of the marine base, following investigation of an alleged bootlegging ring.

Capt. B. T. Crips, officer of the day at the time of Cerek's escape, is under arrest at San Diego in connection with the incident. He is not involved in the liquor charges it was said.

2 TRAINLOADS OF EDITORS ON VISIT TO COAST

(By United Press)

EL CENTRO, June 28.—Enroute to Los Angeles for their annual convention, several hundred members of the National Editorial association arrived here this morning on two special trains from the east.

After a three-hour stop, the delegates resumed their journey, leaving here at 9:30 a. m., headed for San Diego, where they are scheduled to arrive at 3:30 p. m.

At San Diego, the editors will be guests of the chamber of commerce at a swimming party at Mission Beach and on a tour of the city and environs.

The party is due in Santa Ana early tomorrow. They will be guests of Orange county during the day, on special excursions into the oil fields and orange groves.

Los Angeles will receive the visitors tomorrow night. The convention is scheduled to get under way the following morning.

FILIPINO LEADER GROWS DEFIANT

MANILA, June 28.—Filipinos will request the abolition of their own legislature and refuse to co-operate in any way in insular government affairs if congress passes some of its proposed legislation, Manuel Roxas, independent leader, declared at a protest meeting in the Manila opera-house today.

The meeting, attended by 4000 independence enthusiasts, was called to protest against the Bacon bill, designed to establish a separate government for the Mohammedan Moros, who occupy the richest districts of Mindanao.

"We admit we are weak and helpless before America, but we are not fools," said Roxas. "The Bacon bill is the worst insult ever offered the Philippines. If this and the Kless bill, giving the governor greater control over our finances, is passed, we will ask the abolition of the Philippine legislature and will withdraw from further participation in government affairs."

The meeting was marked by extreme bitterness and one speaker declared that South American countries, "always opposed to United States imperialism," would support the Filipinos.

BEATTY RECOVERING

LONDON, June 28.—The admiralty announced that Lord Beatty, first sea lord, who was operated upon Saturday for appendicitis, was making favorable progress toward recovery today, but will be unable to attend to his duties for some time to come.

Low Percentage Of H. S. Students Finishes Course

SACRAMENTO, June 28.—Only 34.8 per cent of the girls who enroll in California high schools ever graduate, but even so the average is 6.3 per cent greater than for boys, according to statistics completed by Walter Morgan, assistant state superintendent of public instruction.

More boys than girls enroll in the first year of high school, but the proportion of male students shows a steady decrease each year thereafter, Morgan said.

Statistics reveal that of 21,924 students who graduated from high school last year, 12,022 were girls and 9902 boys.

READY FOR BATTLE ON CLARK FORTUNE

BUTTE, Mont., June 28.—A suit to determine heirship to the $47,000,000 estate of the late Senator William A. Clark was scheduled to open in court here today.

Three Missouri women, Alma Clark Hines, Edna L. Clark McWilliams and Addie Clark Miller, arrived here Saturday to seek daughters' portions of the huge fortune left by the former senator and Montana mining magnate.

Depositions from more than 20 persons are on file and will be introduced in an effort to show that Clark was not the William A. Clark who married the mother of the three women 57 years ago and later deserted the family.

PASSAGE OF PLANE MEASURE ASSURED

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Consideration and final enactment of the $144,000,000 army aviation bill was practically assured today when the house rules committee reported a rule for consideration of a conference report, despite Speaker Longworth's action in ruling that part of the report constituted new legislation and was out of order.

The rule provides the report can be considered regardless of points of order.

The bill, authorizing extensive aviation equipment and personnel increases, has been passed in different forms by both houses.

Merry Widow of Movies Marries

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Mae Murray, the "merry widow" of the movies, was a princess today, the wife of Prince David Divani, of the state of Georgia, in Asia. The couple was married Sunday in Beverly Hills, Pola Negri, who brought the pair together for the first time at her home three weeks ago, was matron of honor. Rudolph Valentino was best man. There will be no honeymoon for the present.

AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON IN TRIUMPHANT RETURN TO FOLLOWERS IN LOS ANGELES

Followers of Aimee Semple McPherson carry her from the train in a flower bedecked chair upon her arrival in Los Angeles. More than a hundred thousand persons surrounded the station and lined the railroad tracks for nine miles out of the city to catch a glimpse of the noted evangelist who said she was held for weeks by kidnapers in Mexico.

ARRESTS IN KIDNAP CASE HELD NEAR

said the evangelist. "What they particularly need is more of the good, old-fashioned teachings of the fundamentalists."

"On my recent trip to Europe and Palestine, I noted the first signs of a great religious awakening. I hope I can rekindle these smoldering fires and spread the Four Square gospel all over the earth."

Mrs. McPherson addressed more than 15,000 followers in two religious services Sunday. Many thousands, unable to find seats in the temple, were turned away. Radio fans within a radius of many miles listened in on the sermons.

The evangelist retold her tale of kidnaping by bandits, and thrilling escape five weeks later. She likened her experience to that of the Biblical Daniel, who was thrown into a lion's den, but escaped unhurt, and other proverbial personages who figured in miraculous escapes from danger.

"The same God that saved Daniel from death in the lion's den saved me from my captors in Mexico," said the revivalist.

Keyes Takes Up Quiz

District Attorney Asa Keyes took up the investigation today of Mrs. McPherson's kidnapping story. He announced that the probe would proceed on the theory that her story was authentic and an international search for the asserted abductors was organized.

Investigators claim to have information that the two men and the woman known as "Rose," described by the evangelist as her kidnapers, had been seen loitering about the temple for several weeks prior to Mrs. McPherson's disappearance.

An effort to locate the merchants who sold the clothing worn by the evangelist when she staggered into Agua Prieta, last Wednesday, was made also. If this information is obtained, authorities believe it may lead to identity of the three persons Mrs. McPherson described as her abductors.

Photos of Kidnapers

Hundreds of photographs of kidnapers, thieves and other criminals were taken to Angelus temple by police today, in the hope that Mrs. McPherson might be able to identify "Gypsy Rose," "Steve," and the other unnamed abductor.

The photos of many foreign criminals were in the group submitted to the evangelist on the theory that her kidnapers might have followed her from Europe, after her recent visit to the holy land.

Police investigators at the same time turned over to postal authorities the envelope used by "The Avengers" in their last demand for ransom for Mrs. McPherson's safe return.

The envelope bore the stamp of the El Paso-Los Angeles railway post office No. 3. It had been mailed on June 18, apparently aboard a train.

Promoter Draws Sentence In Jail

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—William E. Duerston, who was convicted by a federal jury on five counts charging misuse of the mails, was sentenced to the Los Angeles county jail for nine months by Federal Judge Paul McCormick today.

Duerston, according to evidence at his trial, which lasted two weeks, was the main promoter of the American Aluminum Metal Products company, of Burbank, in 1922. The testimony showed that, although approximately $500,000 was invested in the venture no aluminum products were manufactured.

Attorneys for Duerston intimated they would appeal the sentence.

3 State Nursing Societies Meet

LONG BEACH, June 28.—More than 600 delegates of three state nursing associations attended the opening session of their annual convention here today.

The organizations represented at the meeting are the State Nurses' association, Public Health Nurses' association and State League of Nursing Education.

Miss S. Gates Dozer, president of the State Nurses' association, presided at the opening meeting. The convocation will continue until Friday, when the nurses will enjoy an excursion to Catalina.

MAN BOUND OVER ON DEATH PLOT

AZUSA, June 28.—Declaring that there was sufficient evidence to show that Albert Ross, 52, plotted the death of Mrs. Madeline Driver, 35, widow and mother of four children, Judge J. O. Durell held Ross to answer in superior court on charges of attempted murder, after his preliminary hearing here today.

The complaint also charges that Ross planned to kill Mrs. Driver's children.

According to testimony presented this morning, Ross was arrested in a cabin in the San Bernardino mountains after the discovery of seven bundles of kindling wood, connected with a pipe which ran to a gas furnace, under Mrs. Driver's bed.

Letters threatening Mrs. Driver's life unless she "cut out playing around with married men" were introduced as evidence. They were written on a typewriter. According to arresting officers, a typewriter was found in Ross' cabin.

Ross denied his guilt.

STATE UNFOLDS CASE ON DURKIN

CHICAGO, June 28.—Marty Durkin's chief hope of escaping the gallows—a plea that he killed Federal Agent Edward J. Shanahan in the belief that Shanahan was a robber—was attacked today by the state.

Two witnesses to the killing, Lee Porter and Freeman Longtin, were summoned to tell how Shanahan's first move, when he confronted Durkin, was to throw back the lapel of his coat and show him his federal badge. Their testimony is relied upon to blast Marty's alibi.

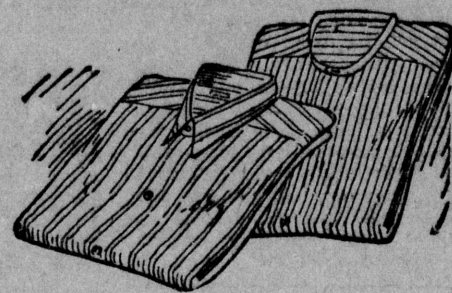

The state is expected to complete its case by Tuesday evening, after which Durkin's side of the story will be told. He faces another murder charge if acquitted on this count.

Tour of Europe Costs Only $600

LONDON, June 28.—Two American girls, Helen Caldwell, of Flint, Mich., and Ruth Rawlings, of El Paso, Tex., are doing Europe this summer with $600 apiece.

They bought all their clothing second-hand, they confided in an interview here. Both teachers, they have been eating at "quick-lunch counters" in their home cities so they could save enough for the trip they said.

Their itinerary includes Venice, Florence, Milan, Mentone, Rome, Monte Carlo, Cannes, Nice and Geneva. Miss Caldwell has an ancestral home in Aberdeen, which she expects to visit.

Local Briefs

An extensive tour of Europe with the Castle party of the Raymond Whitcomb tour will be made by the Misses Ruth Hickox of Laguna Beach and Irene Catland, 419 Wellington avenue, this city. Passage has been obtained through the Santa Fe railroad for Montreal, Canada, and Kingston, Ontario, where they will embark for Cherbourg, France, Spain, Germany, Switzerland and Italy will be included in the journey. Upon returning to New York, Miss Catland will go to Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and Houston, Texas, where her brother, Ray Catland, is located. Coming home from there Miss Hickox will return by way of Washington, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Jewel City, Kansas, her mother's birthplace, Denver and San Francisco.

Miss Lydia Ward today was at her home, 311 West Tenth street, suffering from two fractured ribs of the right side. Visiting last night at the home of A. T. Armstrong, 1008 North Broadway, Miss Ward slipped on the polished floor of the sitting room and fell across the arm of a chair with such force as to break the ribs.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Clark and their sons, Marvin and Leland Clark, returned yesterday from a two weeks' vacation spent at Yosemite. The enjoyable trip was made by motor.

A series of talks pertaining to the various phases of aeronautics has been arranged by the officers of the Santa Ana Air club, according to B. M. Morthland, commodore. These talks are to embrace such topics as motors, construction of airplanes, types of aircraft, legislation, publicity and transportation. Speakers from other Southern California air clubs will also be heard from time to time, Morthland declared. The club will meet tonight at the Finley hotel, 7:20 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged.

Arthur Hausauer, 36, and Edna M. Breedlove, 34, both of Santa Ana, have been issued a marriage license in San Diego.

Prof. Joseph Greven, a well known San Francisco musician, and Mrs. Greven are guests at St. Ann's Inn. Other arrivals include Burton Y. Gibson, San Francisco, and John W. Carpenter, Los Angeles.

Arrivals at Hotel Santa Ana include Dr. C. H. Halliday, of the California state board of health, with headquarters in San Francisco; T. Pritchard, Dr. Bowe, W. D. Lloyd, F. Jones, N. Jones, G. Davies, G. Jones, H. Trex, C. Jones, Tee Williams, George Wells, Tom Evans and N. Evans, members of the Welch Glomern, now appearing in this city; T. P. Wynkoop Jr., Boston; Mr. and Mrs. John K. Wells, La Jolla; Mr. and Mrs. S. Freeman, Bakersfield; Mr. and Mrs. Hear, Long Beach; Hugh E. Hughes, Berkeley; Clarence O. Brest, Arlington, Calif.; F. L. Zelliff, Mr. and Mrs. Davis Hendrix, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Mills, E. P. O'Hern, Mrs. E. H. Allen, C. G. McCann, Mr. and Mrs. W. Nicholson, Ernest Drysdale; Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Biers, C. W. Lanier, Martin Finberg, C. E. Ripar, C. W. Lanier, all of Los Angeles.

Listed among guests at St. Ann's Inn are Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Lee, San Diego, and A. Brant, San Diego.

EUROPEAN DRINKERS
BERNE, Switzerland, June 28.—Two Swiss physicians, Herold and Keller, have compiled statistics showing that the people of France consume the most, and the people of Germany the least alcohol per capita. The figures are based on reports of seven different European governments. The absolute consumption of alcohol is highest among the wine-drinking nations.

PETITIONS ARE CIRCULATED IN POLITICAL RACE

Emulating the early bird, nearly a score of candidates for office at the coming primary and general elections were taking advantage of the campaign's official opening today, by applying for nominating petitions.

At 11 a. m. County Clerk J. M. Backs had issued 15 petitions to various candidates, whose verification deputies will immediately start the work of obtaining signatures. Today was the first that the petitions could be circulated. All petitions must be filed with the county clerk not later than July 22, if the candidate's name is to appear on the ballot.

Candidates who applied for nominating petitions were:

Willard Smith (incumbent), for supervisor from the fourth district; Cal D. Lester, for supervisor from the fourth district; J. C. Joplin (incumbent), for county treasurer; James Livesey, for county treasurer; Sam Jernigan (incumbent), for sheriff; C. E. Jackson, for sheriff; Justine Whitney (incumbent), for county recorder; J. M. Backs (incumbent), for county clerk; James Sleeper (incumbent), for county assessor; Z. B. West Jr., for district attorney; Kenneth E. Morrison (incumbent), for justice of the peace, Santa Ana township; James C. Metzgar, for justice of the peace, Santa Ana township; G. W. Ingle (incumbent), for justice of the peace, Orange township; H. E. Inskley, for justice of the peace, Fullerton township; C. C. Kinsler, for justice of the peace, Brea township; John Landell (incumbent), for justice of the peace, San Juan township; Edward M. DeAhna, for justice of the peace, Laguna township; Chris P. Pann, for justice of the peace, Huntington Beach township.

MOTHER MUST HAVE INVENTIVE TURN OF MIND

New York, June 28.—Complex modern life keeps adding to the requirements for efficient motherhood. Besides the traditional attributes, Mrs. Molly Carter maintains that a mother must also be an inventor.

Mrs. Carter herself is a farm woman, from California, who has been forced to develop her inventiveness to keep up with her two sons, John and Junior. She has worked out many appliances to save steps and backs, which she writes about. Her inventions in a sense are the means for her writing. They give her time for it.

Box for Play
Some of these are so very practical they cannot help being extremely useful to those who are better mothers than inventors. "One of my greatest back-savers," she says, "was a playbox for Junior—just an ordinary packing box, three feet long, 18 inches deep, and 20 inches wide, containing a pad and a pillow and with casters on the bottom."

Vegetables Like Meat
Getting her boys to eat vegetables and take medicine called for some ingenuity—to which her active mind was equal.

"I served their vegetables like meat balls," she explains. "I took three or four vegetables, cut them into pieces and ran them through the food chopper, then added bread crumbs and beaten egg and formed the whole into little cakes. Dusted with flour and slightly browned in the oven they were ready to serve and the children ate them with real eagerness."

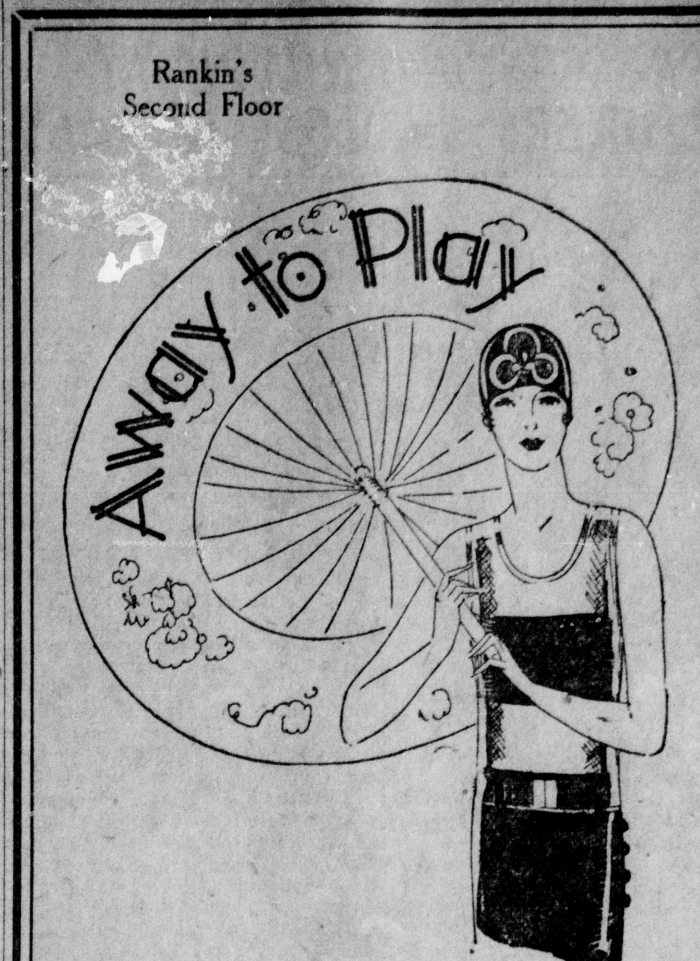

Made Fan Safe.
What mother doesn't worry about the fatal attraction of electric fans for tiny fingers?

"I tied a square of cheese cloth tightly over the frame," Mrs. Carter volunteers, "and it is now as harmless as a telephone—and the breeze is just as lively."

"I also improvised a bath screen without a screen. I place my table near the stove, then pin up a sheet to a line so it falls close to the table. By the time I am ready for the bathing process, the air in the enclosure is thoroughly warmed."

"When we take an all-day motor trip, I prepare the baby's feeding formula as usual and put it in the largest container of my fireless cooker. I place it in the cooker, pack ice under and around it and close the cooker tightly. The milk will be safe for 24 hours."

She has found many short cuts in sewing. For the baby's bibs, she uses narrow flat elastic instead of ribbon or tapes. At the knees of their rompers she uses an oxford length shoestring instead of rubber. The tip guides the string through the casing, and it can be tied in place. This makes the ironing much simpler. Loops of linen tape are better than buttonholes in the waistbands, and do not tear out easily. Loops of cloth doubled and stitched three times to the waistband fasten hose supporters so that the waists are never torn.

Drinks From Spout
"I had a real job," she confesses, "teaching the baby to drink from a cup. His tongue was always in the way and he spilled more than he drank. Finally, in desperation, I put his milk into a small cream pitcher and he drank from the spout like a gentleman."

"With children, every day brings new problems," she concludes. "The only way to cope with the crises is to become an Edison."

Condition of Car Crash Victim Is Reported Better

The condition of James Edward Rawlings, 54, who was severely injured last Thursday, when the machine in which he was riding overturned at Seventeenth street and Huntington Beach boulevard, was reported improved today, although hospital attendants declared that he still was unconscious.

Rawlings is suffering from a basal fracture of the skull. Louis Edward Rawlings, 24, a son, and Earl Hinkins, the latter of South Gate, who were hurt in the accident, were removed to their homes yesterday from the Orange County hospital.

Drive Right Up to Our Door On the New First Street Paving

Since more people ride on Goodyear tires than any other make it stands to reason there is very little sales resistance.

But, now, with First street open again in Santa Ana and the drive to our store less "complicated," sales resistance is just about nil.

If "road conditions" have kept you away, you haven't got one excuse left. It's the easiest thing in the world for you to now get the same kind of satisfactory mileage that your neighbor is getting from Goodyears.

Don't forget about those tire repairs either. Driving in for a free inspection tomorrow is a lot easier than changing a tire out on the hot road a little later on.

SAMPLE FAVORS PROPOSED GAS TAX INCREASE

LA JOLLA, June 28.—Advocating the proposed legislative measure to increase the tax on gasoline by one cent, to provide funds for the care of highways and extension of the state roads system, Senator Ed J. Sample gave an outline of the highway problems confronting the state.

He explained the ways in which the present tax is spent, one half of the funds being used by the state for repair work on the trunk highways and the other half turned over to the counties, to be used in extending the paved highway system.

"Out of the 78,000 miles of road in California, only 10 per cent is paved," he told members of the Kiwanis club. "Most of the rest of the roads should be paved, and those where travel is not sufficient to warrant paving, they should be graded and surfaced."

"The cost of this improvement should be borne by the persons who use the roads, that is, the motorists of the state and the tourists. There is only one fair and reasonable way to do this and that is by placing the tax on gasoline."

"The state raised $68,000,000 in past years for construction of new highways by bond issues. This money has been spent, and many of the roads which were constructed with this fund, have deteriorated because money was not available to keep them in first-class repair."

"With this money gone, the state may determine how additional funds may be raised, to care for the roads already paved, and to provide new ones."

He explained that the proposal to increase the gasoline tax has been approved by several of the automobile associations of the state, and a movement started to have the matter placed on the ballot through a referendum petition next November.

Delay Action On Mrs. Campbell's Plea for Parole

Mrs. Mary Campbell, who was sentenced to San Quentin from Orange county on a charge of manslaughter in 1921, has failed to secure consideration of her plea for parole, according to telegraphic reports from San Quentin. Consideration of her petition has been deferred for one year, it was announced. Mrs. Campbell was charged with murdering her husband, Jess Campbell, whom she shot to death in a tent house at Balboa.

The jury reduced the offense to manslaughter in its verdict and Mrs. Campbell received a sentence of not less than 10 years.

KENTUCKY BOY SETS RECORD IN MIBS PLAY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 28.—Down in Beaver, Ky., where Willis Harper comes from, they take their marbles seriously.

Twelve-year-old Willis demonstrated that conclusively, today, in the opening of the fourth annual National Marble Championship tournament, by twice shooting all 13 mibs out of the ring without a miss.

Never before in the championships had the feat been accomplished and the grinning Willis was roundly applauded as he emerged victor over Burl Storey, of Atlanta.

The first three days' play will be devoted to matches, determining the champions of the eight geographical "leagues" into which the 48 entrants have been divided. Each player shoots two games with each contestant in his own league and the eight champions then will hold an elimination tournament before Friday's final round.

Lena Fatica, of Cleveland, the only girl entered in the tournament, lost two games to Anthony Chicki, of Buffalo, 7-6 and 9-4.

Francis Kau, Chinese American youngster, who came all the way from Hawaii to compete, broke even in four games. He won from Carl Price, of Houston, Tex., 5-5 and 7-6, but lost to Glen Leggit, of Des Moines, 7-6 and 13-0.

William Dunn, of Boston, another Chinese boy, likewise had a "50-50" record.

HELD AS KILLER

Mrs. Frances Kowalkowski, of Chicago is held on charges of killing her husband, Alex, with poison. She has confessed, police say, with the remark, "I'm not sorry; he never had a kind word for me."

Virginia Provides Muskrat Detours

RICHMOND, Va., June 28.—Detours for muskrats as well as for automobiles have to be built by the Virginia highway commission.

Department officials gravely put their heads together and planned muskrat detours for 3.89 miles of the Richmond county approach to the Rappahannock bridge. This is no laughing matter to those engaged in road construction.

In some sections of the state, near swamps, muskrats have been known to wreck a fill by tunneling through. The little animals move along in definite paths and when they find obstructions they do not turn aside, but bore in.

Irvine-Hughes Wedding Follows Services at First M. E. Church

YESTERDAY morning's services at the First Methodist Episcopal church were made a gala occasion by being followed by a beautiful wedding ceremony in which the assistant pastor of the church, James E. Hughes, was wedded to the girl of his choice, Miss Nellie Irvine. The Rev. Will A. Betts, pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Alfred J. Hughes of Long Beach, brother of the groom.

The auditorium was made a flower garden for the event, a color scheme of green, sunset pink and white being maintained by festoons of asparagus fern, gladioli and baby breath. Great baskets of gladioli were used and the altar itself was banked with greenery. The charming effect was created by two close friends of the young couple, Mrs. J. G. Robertson and Mrs. J. T. Wilson.

Following immediately upon the close of the morning services, the Rev. Mr. Betts remained in his place where he was joined by the Rev. Mr. Hughes, as Mrs. W. B. Snow at the organ, swung into the lovely accompaniment for "Call Me Thine Own" played as a cello solo by Edward Burns. This was followed by the Wedding March from Lohengrin to which the bridal party entered the church.

Mr. Hughes, accompanied by William Stauffer as his best man, waited at the altar for the coming of his bride. A group of his friends had acted as ushers and Messrs. A. J. Leachy, Robert Garner, Lambert Baker, Paul Irvine, Dr. John Wehrly Jr., Donald Hilliard, Russell R. Caldwell, Jo Head, E. A. Noe and Mr. Matthews.

Miss Irvine chose white frost crepe for her bridal gown, which was fashioned with close fitting bodice, long tulle sleeves, bouffant skirt with transparent tulle ruffled hem line and a long tulle veil whose flutings formed a cap held to place with a chaplet of orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Wilbur Woods of Orange as honor matron, was gownned in peach taffeta with hoop skirt effect and carried butterfly roses. Tiny Audrey Grant wore a evening taffeta frock, the same tint as that of the matron of honor and scattered rose petals from her dainty basket while with her was Master DeMont Galbraith, sturdy small son of the Fred Stevers, all in white and carrying the wedding ring on a be-ribboned satin pillow.

Miss Irvine entered on the arm of her brother, Joe B. Irvine, who later gave her in marriage. Throughout the ceremony Mrs. Snow softly played "Call Me Thine Own." An informal reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ida B. Irvine, 818 Garfield street, and in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Hughes left for a motor honeymoon in the north. Mrs. Hughes traveled in a becoming tailleur of blue with tan felt hat and blonde shoes and hosiery. The date of their return is uncertain, probably not before the extreme latter part of July.

Mr. Hughes received his academic schooling in his native England, finishing at University of California. He is quite musical and is one of the favorite soloists of the city. His bride-to-be is an accomplished musician and frequently plays the piano accompaniment for his songs. She graduated from the local high school, from University of California, Southern Branch, and from Los Angeles Normal Training school, since which time she has been teacher of music in the Lincoln school.

Assistant Fire Chief Wins Bride in Texas

A warm welcome is being arranged for the return of Sidney Kimball, assistant fire chief, and his bride, formerly Miss Adeline Mitchell of Sherman, Texas, by his associates at the central fire station, where word was received today by Fire Chief John Luxembourg of the wedding event of Sunday, June 27.

The wedding announcements, issued by Miss Bess Mitchell, sister of the bride, created much surprise among the men of the station, where Mr. Kimball was looked upon as a confirmed bachelor, having frequently expressed himself as being unalterably opposed to marriage—for himself.

Young People Are Wedded in Fullerton

Friday at mid-day in the Fullerton home of the Rev. O. V. Long, pastor of the Church of the Brethren of this city, occurred the wedding of Miss Pearl Elizabeth Fink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Fink of Grand avenue, and William Russell Cope of Balboa.

The young people were accompanied to Fullerton by Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson as attendants. Miss Fink, who is popular in a large circle of friends and active in matters of her church, was costumed in satin chamoisee in tones of red. Immediately after 12 o'clock ceremony, the new Mr. and Mrs. Cope left for a honeymoon at the beaches. They will make their home in Santa Ana while the bridegroom continues his work in Balboa.

July Bride-elect Is Honored at Many Gay Functions

MULLEN of this city and Mrs. Ross E. Hostetter of Costa Mesa, at the MacMullen home on East Myrtle avenue.

Pastel tints were employed effectively in the decorative scheme which employed gorgeous gladioli in tall floor baskets with trailing greenery, as background for the score cards depicting graceful brides, and an exciting afternoon of bridge followed. Miss Marjory Ellis, holding high score, received an oblong flower basket filled with flowers in French arrangement and with a trailing bow of orchid tulle twisted around its handle.

Miss Elizabeth Bruner, holding second high score, was presented a half dozen salad plates in green crackle glass, wrapped in pastel colors and tied with delicately tinted ribbons while a similarly wrapped and tied package presented as consolation to Miss Alice Scallin of Los Angeles, contained candle holders and candles in pale yellow tipped with silver. At the same time a prize of an exquisite trifle of lace and crepe de chine was given Miss Sturgeon to add to her already lovely trousseau.

At the tea hour the tables were made lovely with linens and crystal, baskets of French flowers and maidenhair fern. The flower motif was expressed in the nut cups and in other details of the delectable tea menu.

Asked to enjoy the afternoon with the hostess trio and their honoree, Miss Sturgeon, were the Misses Helen Walker, Marjory Ellis and Elizabeth Bruner of this city; Marguerite Chapman, Martha Carlisle, Margaret Hannon, Helen Wallace and Alice Scallin, Los Angeles; Mrs. Nannette MacMullen, Orange; Mrs. Rose Donnelly, Miss Betty Donnelly, Anaheim.

Since the recent announcement of the betrothal and approaching marriage, Miss Sturgeon has found herself the object of countless friendly courtesies extended by college mates and sorority sisters. Among them was a bridge tea given by the Misses Martha Carlisle and Marguerite Chapman at the Kappa Delta Sorority house at Ellendale place, Los Angeles, when a shower of handkerchiefs and hosiery was given the honoree at the tea hour, while the gift of the hostesses was dainty lingerie. Such artistic details as lace froons, horsehoes and Cupid's bows were a part of the refreshment course while floral appointments were unusually lovely.

Another happy affair was a luncheon given by Miss Gertrude Hartman of Angels City, while Miss Violet Smith, another sorority sister, entertained late last week with a bridge evening at her Los Angeles home. Yellow and white formed an effective color scheme.

At a pleasant dinner given recently by Miss Mildred Kennedy of West Adams street, Miss Sturgeon was presented with a leather hat trunk.

Tenth Birthday Is Happily Celebrated

Lawn parties are always fascinating things to children, but especially so was the one Friday afternoon which was in honor of the tenth birthday of Harriett Susan Bryan, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Bryan of East First street. Games were played during the afternoon and refreshments, in which pink predominated, were served by Mrs. Bryan who was assisted by Mrs. W. H. Adams and Mrs. Chester Congdon. Many pretty gifts were presented to little Miss Harriett during the course of the afternoon.

Guests were Virginia Rae Congdon, Nellie Elizabeth Cribara, Virginia Means, Carrie Kimball, Nina Ferris, Katherine Ferris, Jean Phillips, Vivian Elliott, Gertrude Raymond, Ida Raymond, Howard Brown, Bobby Spencer, Marjorie Adams, Elaine Adams, Marjorie Adams, Margaret Ellen Sawyer and Glenna Jean Deardorff.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Orange county W. C. T. U. quarterly executive board meeting will be held Wednesday beginning at 10 o'clock, in Birch park. The morning will be devoted to business and a picnic lunch will be held at noon. A program has been arranged for the afternoon, a feature of which will be the reading of prize essays. The public is invited to attend the meeting. Everyone is to bring his or her own table service and picnic luncheon.

The Woman's Bible class of the First Baptist church will hold a 1 o'clock pot-luck luncheon tomorrow at Birch park when each one is asked to bring her own table service, one covered dish and individual needs in sandwiches.

WIFE KNOWS MIND.
LONDON, June 23.—A new law, based on the equality of the sexes, abolishes the presumption that a wife who commits an offense in the presence of her husband does so under coercion. In the future a wife must prove coercion.

ORGAN CENTURY OLD.
MANILA, P. I., June 23.—A bamboo organ, built into the church of Las Pinas more than 110 years ago by the Augustinians, still gives sweet and mellow tones. The bamboo was cut from a jungle near the church. The organ was twice damaged, by earthquake and typhoon.

Miss Marian Preston Becomes Bride of William Noble

MAINTEINING extreme simplicity in their nuptials, Miss Marian Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Preston, 525 South Ross street, and William Noble son of Mrs. Annie Noble, 618 West Third street were wedded Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian manse with the Rev. William Everett Roberts officiating.

The young people were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Noble and Miss Jean Ross. The bride was smartly attired in frock of Canton crepe of beige embroidered in soft colors, with blue predominating and emphasized by hat and bag in blue. Her cloak was also of beige while her shoes were in the popular blonde shade.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Noble and his bride left by motor for the U. S. Grant hotel at San Diego which was to be honeymoon headquarters. Upon their return they will have a pleasant home at 1011 West Fifth street where they will welcome their friends and put into use the many handsome gifts with which the bride was showered not only upon the occasion of her wedding but at countless charming parties preceding that event.

Both young people are graduates of Santa Ana high school, Mr. Noble, who is now connected with the E. B. Smith jewelry store, was a member of the class of 1921 and his bride, that of 1923.

Pretty Home Wedding Held Saturday at Silver Acres

APPLE - GREEN, gold and rose tints were used in foliage and flowers to deck the M. M. Black home at Silver Acres Saturday, for the marriage of Miss Ina Pauline Black, daughter of the home, to Charles Theodore Patterson.

Pink and white roses, carnations, marigolds and ferns were used in the floral motif, forming a charming background for the bride in her snowy satin crepe gown and with her arms filled with valley lilies in shower effect.

Miss Mary Pearl Black attended her sister as honor maid and was gownned in apple-green georgette over rose pink to harmonize with the great cluster of sweet peas she carried. Mr. Patterson was assisted by Raymond Davis as best man. The Rev. John E. Berry of San Fernando, a life-long friend of the family and the one who baptized the bride when she was a child, spoke the solemn words of the nuptial ceremony.

A friendly interval of congratulations and good wishes followed with dainty wedding refreshments served, and then Mr. and Mrs. Patterson took their departure on a northern motor trip. When they return they will proceed at once to a pretty new home on West Third street, which is all in readiness for the bride.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Patterson are graduates of Garden Grove high school and popular among their host of friends.

Young Cousins Share Guest Honors at Dinner Party

MR. AND MRS. Porter C. Edmunds of East Fruit street entertained at dinner Friday evening in honor of the birthdays of their son, Francis, and their niece, Miss Gwendolyn Talcott, of Anaheim, both birthdays falling on the same date.

A bowl of red salvia, gallardias, and feathery fern graced the center of the table while at each end a tall candle was placed in a large red rose. The prevailing colors, red and white, were carried out in all the table appointments, including the nut cups, place cards, and doilies.

The young people were the recipients of many gifts. A delicious course dinner was served, covers being laid for twelve. Enjoying the happy evening with the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds, and the honored pair, Francis Edmunds and Gwendolyn Talcott, were Mr. J. M. Talcott, grandfather of the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Talcott and son, Jimmie, Miss Luella Chapman, Miss Josephine Lopez, Mr. Clifford Cole, and the daughter of the home, Miss Marjorie Edmunds.

BRIDEGROOM PAYS.

LONDON, June 23.—Chinese weddings take 11 days, and for the wealthy sometimes cost as much as $100,000. It is not uncommon for 5000 invitations to be issued for such an event. The bridegroom pays.

INSANITY TRIAL IS REFUSED IN BURGLARY CASE

An eleventh-hour attempt, by the defense, to avert the trial of Guadalupe Salcido, who was facing the first of three burglary charges, to be tried in superior court this week falls today, when Superior Judge Z. B. West refused to order a trial of the defendant for ascertained insanity.

Defense Counsel Marquette made an urgent plea to the court, expressing his belief that his client was insane, because he had been unable to advise with his attorney or give the attorney any assistance in preparing for the trial. Marquette declared that Salcido appeared unable to give any lucid account of matters connected with his case.

While the attorney addressed the court, Salcido sat near him, with dull eyes and loose hanging mouth. He appeared to pay no attention to the proceedings.

Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mosley, who was in charge of the prosecution, succeeded in blasting the defense maneuver. He argued to the court that provisions of the law in the case called for more evidence of the defendant's insanity than the mere word of his attorney. Otherwise, contended Mosley, all that any accused criminal need do would be to have his attorney tell the court that his client was insane and thus block his trial, until a trial for insanity could be held.

Marquette replied that all that was necessary to secure the insanity trial was for the defense to raise a doubt in the mind of the court as to the sanity of the defendant.

"But you haven't done that," ruled Judge West. "Let's proceed with the trial."

After "excepting" to the court's ruling, the defense resumed and Clerk Earl Abbey started calling the roll of the jury panel.

Salcido was being tried today for an alleged burglary at the home of R. B. Johnson of Handy street, Villa Park, on April 12. Tomorrow he is scheduled for trial on a burglary charge, connected with the invasion of Henry Fitch's home, near Orange, February 1. The trial, Wednesday, involves the alleged burglary of John Allen's residence, Handy street, Villa Park.

CO-ED DRESSES AS MAN

Dorothy Carrington, former University of Missouri co-ed, simply won't wear women's clothes. Arrested in St. Louis in connection with an embezzlement charge in Detroit, she was garbed as a man—and she told police that as soon as she gets out she'll dress as a man again, discarding the dress they're making her wear now. Photo shows her as she appeared at the time of her arrest.

Court Notes

FILES ANSWER

Bernard Thoele, of Garden Grove, today filed his answer to a divorce action brought against him by his wife, Elizabeth Louise Thoele, of Santa Ana. Thoele denies her charges of extreme cruelty, particularly her assertion that he has been arrested and convicted of burglary. Attorney Franklin G. West represents him.

"Friendly" Action Filed
John H. Mosley has filed a "friendly" action in superior court against R. C. Mize, as administrator of the estate of the late May Mosley, to quiet title to property in Richfield, which Mosley alleges was his separate property at the time of the death of May Mosley, his wife. Attorney Roy V. Shafer represents the plaintiff.

Sentenced to Jail
John Morase, who recently was convicted in superior court of a charge of selling liquor, today was given the maximum penalty by Judge Hober G. Ames, who sentenced him to a term of six months in the county jail. A similar charge against Jesse Navarro, who was tried with Morase, was dismissed after the jury disagreed in Navarro's case.

To Foreclose Lien

A. E. Vaughan is plaintiff in a superior court suit brought against Nellie Means, Addison Means and other defendants, to foreclose a street assessment lien of $89 against property in Fullerton.

Police News

A trailer, stolen from Charles Heitz, 1115 West Eighth street, on June 22, has been located by the owner, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office. The trailer was found, minus a wheel and a tire, on North Baker street, south of Washington avenue, according to the report.

Twenty gallons of gasoline and 10 gallons of lubricating oil were stolen from the place of Henry Baudick, 291 North Cambridge street, Orange, Saturday night, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Dan Adams reported that the oil and gas were taken from a garage after the lock had been pried off.

TWO AVIATORS ARRESTED ON SPEED CHARGES

Two aviators were among the motorists arrested over the week end by Orange county state officers on speed charges.

Lt. William N. Updegraff, of the naval airport, San Diego, was arrested Saturday night by State Officer Yoder. Yoder charged the officer with speeding 60 miles an hour.

Lt. R. F. Meisner, Los Angeles, army aviator, was arrested by State Officer Pat Hurd, who charged him with speeding 55 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, on the Irvine boulevard. Henry Prochaska, 428 West Queen street, Inglewood, was arrested Saturday night by Pat Hurd, state officer, and is charged with speeding 58 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He was arrested on the state highway, south of Tustin. Charged with speeding 65 miles an hour, C. A. Vaniman, 1042 Locust street, Long Beach, was arrested Saturday night by State Officer George Stinson.

2 ARE FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Two men each were fined $250 on reckless driving charges in courts in the county today and a third charge this afternoon.

The two who are booked at the county jail, facing 250 days in jail unless the money is raised, are T. J. Wilson, 31, an employee of the Union Oil company, Fullerton, who was convicted in Fullerton, and Shirley Mowatt, 24, student, of Bala, who was convicted in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court. Mowatt was arrested by State Officer Vaughn. Charged with reckless driving, R. G. Rawlings, 27, Ontario, was in Justice John Landell's court this afternoon. He was arrested Saturday night by state officers Yoder and Calm. Yoder was giving chase to Rawlings, on the San Diego highway, when Rawlings suddenly cut in on Officer Calm, who was "working" the same road, it was said.

Bank Sues on Note
The First National bank, of Los Angeles, was plaintiff today in an action on file in superior court against Mabel I. Isaacson and the estate of the late A. F. Isaacson, involving a demand for $9515 alleged to be due on a note. Attorneys Flint and MacWay, Los Angeles, represent the bank.

Twelve great factories building the Improved Chevrolet—and that is not enough!

From the day of its announcement, this finest Chevrolet in Chevrolet history has been greeted by a demand absolutely new in automotive history.

Month by month, all records of retail sales have been smashed. March—April—May—June—each in turn was the biggest month enjoyed by Chevrolet until that time—and Chevrolet for years has been the world's largest builder of gearshift cars.

To better supply the worldwide demand for Chevrolet cars Chevrolet has begun a $10,000,000.00 expansion program. Up go the sales! Up go the factories—

—because Chevrolet alone has answered the demand for a low-priced car of modern design and quality construction.

Drive the Improved Chevrolet. Note its performance—so smooth, so powerful! Study the chassis and body with care. Note again that Chevrolet features include every development essential to modern motoring—3-speed transmission, dry-plate disc-clutch, semi-reversible steering, long semi-elliptic springs, Duco finish and complete instrument panel including speedometer.

21 LOSE LIVES IN TRAGEDIES ON WEEK END

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Tragic death claimed its average toll of 21 lives in Pacific coast states over the week end, the automobile and bathing pool running a dead heat as the reaper. Two suicides were reported. Another death was believed to have been caused by poison liquor.

Two women today owed their lives to a 15-year-old Boy Scout, who saved them from drowning in a swimming pool at Chico, Calif. The boy, Don Pierce, pulled them one at a time into shallow water, while scores of shore spectators cheered his courage.

Mystery surrounded the disappearance in the Sacramento river, of John Kenealy, a salesman attending a picnic of fellow employees. Jumping from the deck of a river steamer, he disappeared beneath the surface. Failure to recover his body cast doubt on his death.

Injuries were comparatively few and only a small number were pronounced serious. Reports from all principal coast cities set the number of injured at 22.

Tragic deaths, as compiled by the United Press, were as follows:

Los Angeles—Lucille Gallagher, 2 and Walter Gallagher, 3, burned to death in their home; Mrs. Genevieve King, automobile accident; S. Korikawa, automobile accident. Santa Fe Springs—Robert Frazer, 58, suicide. Catalina Island—Charles Davis, rigger, killed in gun explosion on "movie" ship. Glendale—Allen Ferber, 14, drowned in slough. Ocean Park—Jake Cimovski, 19, drowned in plunge. Gardena—Ritch Uml, 8, drowned in reservoir. Oakdale—Jesse M. Jones, 11, drowned in Stanislaus river. Fresno—Man believed R. J. McKnight, lumber mill worker, run down by automobile. Newman—John Cordone, 23, drowned in San Joaquin river. San Francisco—Frank Bahr, 73, suicide by asphyxiation; Ernest Maynard, 57, died from injuries suffered in fall from pile driver; James McEvoy, 60, died from injuries received in fall from window; Capt. Waldemar P. Mygind, employee of the Luckenbach Steamship company, died from injuries suffered in fall into hold of ship; Louis Nathan, automobile accident. Stockton—Man believed to be James M. Richardson, ranch worker, dead supposedly from bad liquor. Oakland—Mark Conway, 50, Berkeley, automobile accident. Washington Washougal—Howard Hamlick, 15, automobile accident. Seattle—Henry Minnie, drowned in Lake Samamish.

BELGIAN QUEEN HOLDS ESTEEM OF HER PEOPLE

BRUSSELS, June 28.—Must-clan, physician, artist, scientist or laborer, each has a sympathetic audience with the queen of Belgium.

She is cherished by the poor because she is modest, charitable and a loving mother. The middle classes are impressed with the queen's cordial and simple ways. Though a princess of German birth, she has never, even in the darkest hours of the war, lost the hearts of her subjects.

Since the day, 25 years ago when, as princess of Bavaria, but not of the reigning branch, she entered Belgium as future queen, she has with diplomatic skill consolidated her positions. And her people in the main are inclined toward republicanism rather than monarchism.

Active in Social Work

A learned physician and hospital nurse before her marriage, the queen assisted her father, Prince Charles Theodor, the famous oculist. As a social worker she has established two foundations for child welfare.

Professors, medical men and men of science discuss their problems with her on equal terms. The artists have discovered in Queen Elisabeth a fellow artist and a keen "connoisseur."

Herself an accomplished musician, the queen plays violin with a real maestria. Before her reign she used to play to her husband and children parts of Beethoven or Bach, of which she is particularly fond. The privilege of hearing the royal musician was offered when a dying child would take no more medicine until it was given "some music."

Played Violin for Suffering Child

When the queen heard of it she immediately took her violin and went with one of her ladies to the child's bedside. She played for the little sufferer for a full hour. The queen demonstrated her conception of charity when day after day she visited the aged painter Laermans who, stricken with blindness, was unable to work. She tried to cheer him up by discussing art and artists.

During the war, after she had "lowered a curtain of steel between the Vaterland and herself," as she used to say, she worked as a nurse at the side of the president of the International Red Cross at a military hospital. It was in a modest cottage, deprived of all comfort, that at the side of her husband, whom she often accompanied to the trenches, she spent the greater part of the war.

MORE INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN RECREATION

NEW YORK, June 28.—One-sixth of the population of the United States and Canada last year attended sports contests under municipal sponsorship, while the number of participants increased to more than half a million.

The Playground and Recreation Association of America, in its annual report, gives these figures as an evidence of the growing popularity of recreation. There was an expenditure of $18,816,165 for public play by cities in these countries.

Public recreation originally was a children's movement, but today nearly 50 per cent of participants in municipal sports are adults, said the report.

Public golf, which five years ago was not important enough to list, is now played in 190 cities. Tennis courts totaled 6110 in 474 cities in 1925, compared with 4865 in 410 cities in 1924.

Swimming pools, primarily for adult use, more than doubled in the last five years and now total 879. Five hundred more quail courts were reported in 1925. Ball fields, general athletic fields; bowling, picnic grounds and skating places also reported big increases.

More than 20,000,000 spectators saw league games in the various sports, which was a gain of two and half millions over 1924. Players totaled 585,043, a 55 per cent increase.

Baseball continued to top the list in popularity, showing 161,768 players in 379 cities, with more than 11,000,000 spectators. Basketball and quails were about equal.

The children's division also enjoyed good gains, reporting 8608 play areas in 748 cities.

Expansion of the work brought about such a demand for trained workers that 4332 employed leaders in 100 cities last year attended courses for such recreation training.

SWING TELLS OFF FIGHT FOR BOULDER DAM

Jack Wallace, secretary of the Young Men's Republican Club of Orange county, today received a telegram from Congressman Phil Swing, in Washington, declaring that he had made the best fight possible for the Colorado river project.

The telegram was in response to one sent Saturday, by Wallace and President Stanley Reinhaus, of the young men's organization, carrying out instructions of a motion unanimously passed at the meeting of the organization the night previous, commending Swing for his activities in behalf of the Boulder dam.

Congressman Swing's telegram was as follows:

"Jack Wallace, Secretary Young Men's Republican club, Santa Ana, Calif. 'I have made best fight possible for Colorado river project. Today addressed house, urging earliest action possible and pointing to present break in levees as warning that Boulder dam must be promptly constructed if catastrophe in lower basin is to be avoided. Your wire gratifying and encouraging. Express my appreciation to club. 'PHIL D. SWING."

SEAMLESS, the comfort shoe, will arrive in Santa Ana soon.

SWIMMERS ARE URGED NOT TO DRINK LIQUOR

SACRAMENTO, June 28.—If you like to swim and must drink boot-leg liquor, then the wisest thing for you to do is to hang your clothes on a hickory limb and not go near the water.

That's the advice of the state board of health to those who drink liquor and save water to swim in.

In addition to this warning not to drink alcoholic liquors and then go swimming, the board has issued nine other little don'ts to those who enjoy splashing in the ocean, in swimming pools, icy mountain streams, or what have you?

Don't go in where there is no life-guard.

Don't go in where there is no life-best swimmers get cramps.

Don't go bathing less than two hours after eating.

Don't go in alone.

Don't struggle against an undertow if you are caught; go with it and call for help.

Don't wade with your hands above your head. You'll go down like a plummet in deep water.

Don't yell "Help" unless you need it. Remember the boy who called "Wolf."

Don't drink liquor and then go bathing.

Don't swim with inner tubes or water wings. They are treacherous.

FEMINISTIC TIDE OPPOSED BY LORDS

LONDON, June 28.—The house of lords still stands a staunch bulwark against the rising tide of feminism that has threatened its historic threshold.

Stewart peers, who are determined to keep the upper house parliament as a last stronghold against the entrance of women, gathered in force today and by an unexpectedly large majority defeated Lord Astor's third attempt to enable peeresses in their own right to sit and vote in the house of lords. The bill had been defeated last year only by a majority of two, and it had been generally anticipated that Lord Astor would succeed in his crusade this year. The feminists, however, had failed to take into account the stalwarts who have long regarded the house of lords as a first rate men's club. Lord Banbury of Southam, leader of the bill's opponents succeeded in defeating the measure 125 to 80.

Lord Astor, whose wife is one of the best known of the feminine contingent in the house of commons, argued that it was only by an accident of birth that the holders of the peerages under debate were women and not men. He argued that most of the members of the upper house sat there because they happened to be the sons of their fathers and without the slightest inquiry as to their qualifications as legislators.

Milliners Seek New Type of Hat

LONDON, June 28.—Jam-pot hats have piled on the millinery trade and London designers are trying to find some kind of larger hat, which women will accept.

The treader hat has been selected by some makers as the most likely successor. It is a mannish type, suited to the mannish way in which some women wear their hair. The brim may be turned up a bit more than a real treader and it may be decorated with a few flowers and trimmed with bright-colored silk in Spanish colors.

The trimming is mostly underneath the brim.

OBITUARY

Another of Santa Ana's pioneers has been laid to rest and those who knew Daniel M. Frawley are recalling the days when he was in business in the old Blade building. They know him as a man of gentle and kind disposition. He was the type of straight forward business pioneer who struggled with the city in its younger days for its own sake.

Daniel M. Frawley was born in Kingston, Canada, Feb. 25, 1860, and at the age of 6 years removed with his parents to Fulton, New York, where he became a citizen of the United States when his father took out naturalization papers. From there he went to Massachusetts and on April 12, 1893 was united in marriage to Elizabeth Crowley. To them were born two children, John Joseph and Arthur Leo who reside in Summerfield, Mass. On Dec. 13, 1906, Mr. Frawley came to Los Angeles, remaining there only a short time. There he met and married Edna Falls, who was his patient and loving nurse during his illness of five years. Santa Ana was his next home and he remained here until the time of his death, which occurred at 614 East Fourth street.

Mr. Frawley purchased property at the southwest corner of Fourth and Broadway streets after selling his business on West Fourth and conducted a grocery store at this location. The property is leased to Charles Kelly, who has erected a drugstore building there.

Funeral services were held at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Friday morning, the Rev. Father J. C. Greenan, officiating, after which the body was taken to Los Angeles for interment.

To reduce the number of street accidents Paris has decided to install elevated moving sidewalks at busy corners.

LION CUB IS PET

Mussolini isn't the only one who has lion cubs for playmates. There's Miss Cornelia Bakker, daughter of the hunter employed by the government to rid Glacier National park of mountain lions. USE ELECTRICITY FOR DIGGING WORMS

SACRAMENTO, June 28.—An apparent solution of the multi-angled worm problem of California anglers was submitted to the state department of agriculture today by sportsmen of Elko, Nev.

Even though worms be scarce soil, it is quite unnecessary to "grow" one's bait in a box, as suggested by George H. Forbes of San Jose, Elko anglers revealed.

Up in Nevada, according to communication, fishermen fish for bait in this manner: A metal conductor with two wires is forced into the ground, and one wire connected with the electric light socket. The electricity is then turned on and elusive worms speedily turn up at the surface to escape electrocution.

Inheritance Tax From Ellsworth Estate Is Sought

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—9 suit to determine the amount of inheritance tax due the state of California from the $4,000,000 estate of James W. Ellsworth, father of Lincoln Ellsworth, Arctic explorer, who flew over the north pole with Abundsen has been filed here by Ray L. Riley, state controller.

Ellsworth's taxable property here is said to consist of 1800 shares of Standard Oil Company of California stock, with a value in excess of $100,000. By the terms of Ellsworth's will, recently offered for probate in Ohio, his estate is divided equally between his son, Lincoln, and his daughter, Mrs. Clair Ellsworth Prentice of Seabright, N.J.

WYOMING'S FIRST OIL MARKETED FOR GREASING AXLES

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 28.—Oil was first marketed commercially in Wyoming in 1849, but not for fuel purposes. It was to grease the wheels of the "covered wagons" trundling across the wide prairies and lofty Rocky mountains on the Oregon trail, so the state historical department has found.

Prior to the coming of the white pioneers, the Indians used oil for medicinal purposes. Historical researches have revealed that emigrants along the old Oregon trail in 1849 found a petroleum "spring" in Uinta county, and James Bridger, noted Wyoming trapper and scout, settled near the spring, naming his home Fort Bridger. He collected the oil and mixed it with flour to make axle grease. Later in the 50s Cyrus Iba, a pioneer of Casper, discovered a seepage of petroleum, called by the Indians "Poison Spring." In what now is the large Salt Creek field. He also used it to make axle grease. In 1925 the state's oil production totaled 45,000,000 barrels.

FORMER DRY AGENT SHOT AFTER RAID

PORTLAND, Ore., June 28.—C. J. McKnight, former federal prohibition agent, was wounded seriously here when he was shot by Deputy Sheriff Love, who was taking McKnight to the county jail.

McKnight was arrested by county authorities when it was discovered he was operating a still at his home. He was taken to the county rockpile and was being returned to the jail when he jumped from the machine. On order to halt he turned and swung on the sheriff, who fired through a busy section of the city before Love caught up with him.

Pain Suffered By Plants Says Hindu Scientist

PARIS, June 28.—Does a rose suffer when you break its stem? Do trees feel as much pain under the pruning knife as humans under the surgeon's knife? You can hurt a plant just as you can make an animal suffer, according to Sir Jagadis Chandra Bose, a Hindu scientist.

Under the auspices of Professor Mollard, dean of the science faculty of the University of Paris, this eastern professor explained to his audience in the Sorbonne the result of years experimenting with plants. Sir Jagadis Chandra Bose started with the problem presented by the sensitive mimosa, which when touched, moves.

After years of patient work, and by using delicate laboratory instruments, Sir Jagadis dissected out the nerve system of the plant. He measured the speed of its reflexes. The nervous system of the mimosa is 10 times as sensitive as the nerves of a human being. By tracing the plant's nerve organs, Sir Jagadis showed why the mimosa constantly turns toward the sun.

He continued the experiments with other plants, until he arrived at definite conclusions that fine vegetation is not only mechanical, but that it can actually feel.

Zoning, Set-back and Housing Laws to Be Drawn Up Carefully in Report

By CAROL ARONOVICI
City Planner

It is quite impossible at this time to state with any degree of accuracy what lines the comprehensive plan for Santa Ana is going to follow, as very careful and elaborate surveys, will have to be made prior to any suggestions as to the character of the plan.

Santa Ana is extremely fortunate in the way in which it was originally laid out. The change that will be required will undoubtedly be due to the necessity for adjusting an old and established community to its more modern needs.

It may be stated at the outside, that whatever plans are suggested will be worked out in co-operation not only with the city officials such as the members of the council, the city attorney, the city engineer, and the building inspector, but will also be discussed and considered with the various local organizations and individuals who may have knowledge of local conditions and local needs.

The city plan is to cover: first, a very carefully prepared survey dealing with the history, population, resources, housing conditions, transportation and traffic, recreation facilities, and regional requirements.

To Call Meetings
The plans, as submitted, will be prepared in preliminary form, so as to give the public an opportunity for discussion and criticism. Before the whole plan is accepted by the city council, there will be a number of special meetings called, at which every interest in the community would be represented. There will also be a request made to various local organizations for written suggestions, particularly on matters pertaining to the business and industrial development of the community, so that every opinion and all the facts may be available for the preparation of the final plan.

The maps that have to represent the suggested proposals for improvements and changes will cover zoning, street development and widening, location of parks, playgrounds and open spaces, suggestions for other widenings, regional highways and connections, and certain street layouts based upon the probable future of development work of the yet undeveloped areas.

Prepare Set of Ordinances
The report that is to be submitted in conjunction with the plans will contain complete information regarding existing conditions and a set of recommendations with a discussion of the reason for each set of recommendations. In addition there will be a set of ordinances, including a zone ordinance, a set-back ordinance, a housing code, a

PLANNING EXPERT

DR. CAROL ARONOVICI
The new Santa Ana city planner gives his ideas concerning initial steps in the accompanying article.

BODY COMPANY WILL ENLARGE
OAKLAND PLANT

Some of the millions of dollars appropriated for expansion of the Fisher Body corporation, builder of 42 distinctive types of automobile bodies, will be expended in enlarging and extending operations of the Oakland plant of the corporation, according to announcement here today by E. J. MacMullen, Chevrolet distributor.

MacMullen said that use of Pacific coast lumber, the purchase of Western timber lands and the erection of great sawmills on the Pacific coast are among the propositions now under consideration by the Fisher corporation.

Pointing out that the Fisher corporation now has 42 huge body plants, manufacturing around 1,000,000 bodies annually, the Santa Ana dealer said that body building engineers have been casting glances toward the great lumber preserves of the Pacific coast for some time.

"Extensive experiments were conducted over a long period, which proved that fir plywood was entirely satisfactory for automobile body construction," MacMullen said. "The use of laminated wood of five and seven plies serves as well as hardwood, and often it is actually better than the hardwood, which is becoming scarce. Fisher uses great quantities of wood in the construction of each body. This laminated wood construction, combined with steel reinforcing, gives great strength and resiliency and, at the same time, deadens the rumbling and vibration that would accompany a body of solid construction."

Veneer, which came into prominence as a durable and decorative substance in airplane building, has been successfully used in coach work for automobiles and it is highly probable that seat backs and other material, soon will be introduced.

"Seven of the Fisher body plants are devoted to the manufacture of Chevrolet closed bodies and are located immediately adjoining Chevrolet factories. This arrangement facilitates large quantity deliveries with utmost speed, thereby keeping down the production cost of the Chevrolet product, while offering the quality of the Fisher body."

OLD SETTLERS ARE REUNITED
AT BIG PICNIC

More Than 600 Pioneers
Present at Annual Meeting of County Association

Hundreds of men and women identified with the early development of Orange county passed a happy day yesterday at Orange County park in recalling incidents of the period when the territory now embraced in Orange county was a part of Los Angeles county, and when the rich county of today was nothing more than a mustard patch.

It was estimated that more than 650 persons were present at the second annual reunion of the Orange County Pioneers' association. It was a reunion of old-time friends and acquaintances of 30 and 40 years' standing were renewed in many, many instances.

Many Registrations Made.
The names and post office addresses of 450 were secured by registration, and there were at least 200 who failed to leave their names and addresses with Horace Fine, who had charge of registrations.

Notice of the next annual picnic, which is to be held the last Sunday in June, 1927, will be sent to those who registered, and it is expected next year's attendance will be more than 1000.

New officers were chosen yesterday, with Ed E. Waite being named to succeed George Peters, as president; W. Frank Harris, as vice president, to succeed Horace Fine, and Z. B. West Jr., as secretary, to succeed Miss Sue Greenleaf.

Pioneers Make Speeches.
An impromptu program was arranged and addresses were made by Henry Ford, of Porterville, one of the active young men of this community 40 years ago; Judge J. W. Ballard, of Los Angeles, a former judge of the Orange county superior court, and A. J. Waterhouse, the founder of the Santa Ana Daily Blade. Each recounted incidents of early days.

In point of the number of years in the county, the oldest person to register was Mrs. Louise Backs, 225 Claudina street, Anaheim. She dated her arrival in Orange county as of 1859. She is the mother of Fred Backs, of Anaheim, and an aunt of J. M. Backs, county clerk.

Mrs. Edith Redford, who has been a resident of Buena Park for the last year, greeted many friends of her parents who were early-day residents. She was the daughter of R. W. Grant, who, with D. W. MacDonald, was engaged in the furniture business here in the early 80's.

Express Thanks.
President Peters today expressed appreciation of the assistance given by Robert Northcross, the parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West, and Sheriff Sam Jernigan, who early yesterday morning sent Deputy Sheriff Dan Adams to the park to protect the location of the picnic place against "capture" by other parties gathering at the recreation grounds.

GIRLS REJECT DOLE
LONDON, June 28.—Girls between 14 and 16 are refusing to attend classes organized at Hull by the ministry of labor to give them vocational training for specialized work. Many regard training for domestic service as something to be despised. The school has been closed mornings because those who do go would not get up in time for morning classes.

AUTO CARAVAN OF BOOSTERS
TO VISIT CITY

Purpose of Junket to Increase Interest in Colorado River Development

According to Harry D. Riley, county distributor for Studebaker cars, the program is complete for the arrival and entertainment here, Wednesday, of the 350 persons who will accompany the Industrial Booster caravan, due to arrive here at 5 p. m.

Planting of a tree at the grounds of St. Ann's Inn and a banquet and dance at the inn are included in the program scheduled for here.

Pointing out that the slogan of the boosters is "boost for the Colorado River and Industry," Riley said that the tree to be planted here would be given its baptismal irrigation with Colorado river water, brought here from Blythe.

"The significance of this tree-planting should not be overlooked, for it will stand not only as a permanent memorial of the visit of the boosters, but as a symbol of the sure and steady growth of industry, once co-operation and vision have planted the 'seed' and constructive effort and brain power have 'watered' it," Riley said.

The fleet of more than 60 Studebaker busses and motor cars, carrying approximately 350 persons, will be met at the city limits by a committee composed of F. L. Purinton, mayor of Santa Ana; Clyde Downing, president of the chamber of commerce, George Raymer, secretary of the chamber; Mason Yould, president of the junior division of the chamber; Nat Neff, city engineer; Charles Chapman, member of the city council, and Z. B. West Jr., city attorney.

Declaring that the General Petroleum corporation is lending every assistance possible, Riley said that the Aristocrat service station, Ballard Brothers' service station, West Seventeenth Street service station, Checker Board service station, and Zlatkev's service station, General gasoline dealers in this vicinity, have been appointed honorary hosts to the mammoth industrial booster caravan.

Seamless Shoes
Store Will Be Opened In S. A.

Seamless Shoe stores, Inc., will open a store here Wednesday, at 318 North Sycamore street. This is the former location of Mrs. Marie Louise, milliner. The new store will be third link in a chain of retail stores which is being established throughout Southern California as the distribution machinery of the Seamless Shoe factory, located in the Long Beach harbor district.

Seamless shoes are made for women and children. Just one piece of leather is used, doing away with ridges, wrinkles and seams. George A. Johnson, president of the Seamless Shoe stores, Inc., has been here for several weeks, preparing for the opening of the store.

"We believe that Santa Ana mothers will welcome the advent of our line here because our shoes are ideal for growing girls and children," said Johnson. "We claim and can prove that our product will outwear the ordinary shoe several times. A low cost is possible because we make every shoe we sell in our own factory—the largest shoe factory west of St. Louis. Foot specialists and orthopedic doctors have pronounced our shoes a boon to all those suffering from foot troubles. We have stores operating now in Long Beach and San Pedro and we will strive for the same success we have attained there with our Santa Ana store, No. 3."

CABLE SNAPS AND SUBMARINE BEING RAISED SINKS BACK TO OCEAN FLOOR

Giant pontoons had just raised the nose of the lost navy submarine S-51 above the waters off Block Island, R. I., when—crack!—a cable snapped. Months of work by a gallant salvage corps went by the board as the heavy ship sank back to the ocean bed. The nose of the submarine can be seen in the center of the picture, supported by pontoons, an instant before the mishap.

BOYS TAUGHT
HOW TO SWIM

One hundred boys in Santa Ana, who were unable to take care of themselves in the water 10 days ago, now can swim. That is the most obvious result of the free swimming campaign for boys, which closed Friday at the Y. M. C. A.

For two weeks, the Y. M. C. A. was overrun each day with boys, all eager to get into the swimming pool for the instruction given by R. R. Russick, physical director, who personally conducted all the classes, with the assistance of Donald Anderson.

There were 219 boys enrolled in the classes. By actual count, 87 of these, who could not swim a stroke when they entered the course, were able to take their "baptism of the deep" Friday. Most of the others were able to swim and were directed to improving their style and stroke.

The free swimming instruction meant a strenuous period for all the secretaries. It is the custom of the Y. M. C. A. in all parts of the world to offer a free swimming course once each year in an effort to help save life, eliminate danger while in the water and encourage the healthful sport of swimming.

The Santa Ana swimming pool is one of the best in Southern California and is kept in perfectly sanitary condition and carefully safeguarded against accidents. It is open daily, to all members of the association, for exercise and recreation. Russick gives swimming instruction as they need it and at their convenience.

Mrs. Siddoway
Becomes Bride
Of Ontario Man

COSTA MESA, June 28.—At the hour of 8, Saturday evening, wedding bells chimed in Costa Mesa when Mrs. Dorothea Siddoway and Ralph A. Smith, of Ontario, plighted their marriage vows. The Rev. Paul E. Wright, of Ontario, family friend officiated.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Andrus, of Orange avenue, was decorated with beautiful simplicity, with flowers in the pastel colors. The young couple stood beneath an archway of ferns caught at either side by clusters of pink gladioli. Baskets filled with the chosen flowers, through which gleamed tall ivory tapers, also stood at each side of the archway and the rosy glow of floor lamps furnished the soft illumination.

The bride was dressed in gray georgette over taffeta, with bow knots of rose and silver shadowed by the georgette. She carried a beautiful French bouquet, frilled with lace and showers of silver-toned ribbon, which she afterwards presented to her mother.

Dwight Siddoway, the bride's son, carried the wedding ring in the heart of a white rose and we Miss Marilyn Hostetter, in dainty ruffled frock, scattered rose petals in the bridal pathway.

Following the ceremony, refreshments carrying out the pastel colors were served, the pretty old-time custom of cutting the bride's cake being observed, ere the bride and groom slipped away.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will return in July to the new home at Ontario which the groom has in readiness.

Rum Laden Ships
Are Reported Off
Southland Coast

A new squadron of rum laden vessels, whose masters are said to be seeking to land their cargo surreptitiously along the coast of Southern California, is cruising offshore, according to information reaching Santa Ana from coast guard authorities.

The combined liquor cargoes of the four ships is valued according to coast guard officials, at about $20,000,000. Although the prohibition fleet has captured three small rum-running launches during the last few months, several of them off the Orange county coastline, the liquor smugglers are believed to successfully land a thousand cases of whiskey and wine to one case that is captured.

YACHT RACING
BAY PROGRAM

Yachting activities on Newport bay will not be allowed to lag because of the recent failure at the polls of the harbor bond issue, according to J. A. Beek, commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, who declares that an interesting program has been arranged for next week-end, July 2, 3, 4 and 5.

The visit of the two destroyers, the U. S. S. Mullany and the U. S. S. Robert Smith, will add special interest to the events on these days, as it is expected that some of the officers of the ships will assist in the racing and yachting events which are scheduled.

Commodore Beek will serve on the committee which Dr. Richter has appointed to welcome the officers and crews of the destroyers. The Newport Harbor Yacht club will be the scene of many gatherings of note during the days of the observation of Independence day.

The main yachting events planned for the holidays are:
Saturday, July 3—Races for marlons, snow birds and bay sloops, 1 p. m.; star class sloops (Newport bay course) 2 p. m.

July 4—Bang and go back races, 10 a. m.
July 5—Marlons, snow birds and bay sloops, (1st heat Smith trophy) 1 p. m.; performance handicap and star class (ocean course) 2 p. m.

WOMAN SLIGHTLY
CUT IN COLLISION

A woman, riding in a machine driven by M. Korea, 20, El Toro, was slightly cut about the face, when the machine collided with a car driven by Mrs. Nita Lacy, 39, 306 North Bristol streets, according to a report filed with the city police.

The accident took place at 6:30 p. m., Saturday, at the intersection of First street and Pacific avenue. No arrests were made.

Mrs. Lacy, who made a report of the accident, did not secure the woman's name.

Santa Anans Back
From Parks Visit

Mrs. Jane Spurgeon, of the Bungalow apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spurgeon and son, Robert, of Valencia avenue, returned Saturday from a three weeks' trip through the north-west states. Places visited included Glacier park, Yellowstone National park, Seattle and Salt Lake City.

According to Mr. Spurgeon, the most remarkable thing about

THREE NEGROES ARE CAUGHT IN SPEEDERS' NET

Among the alleged fast drivers, arrested by state officers in Orange county over the week-end, were three negroes, all of whom had "perfect" alibis for their rate of speed, according to information obtained today from the office of Capt. Henry Meehan.

H. A. Rosemont, 1233 West Third street, Santa Ana, who is said to be a preacher, was arrested by Officer Stinson, on the Stanton road, and was charged with speeding 54 miles an hour. He faces a jail term if found guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court. "The late for my congregation," the pastor is alleged to have told the officer. Rosemont was arrested last night.

Officers C. J. Cain and V. Barnhill arrested Charles Whitaker, San Diego, on the state highway, south of Tustin, Saturday night, writing him a ticket charging 54 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. "Boss, I see got a telegram, saying my brother is dying," the man is alleged to have said. Barnhill asked for the telegram, but the man could not produce it, the officers said. "I ain't got the telegram, but I've got my wife and brother dead," he explained.

"Hard luck," has just naturally followed me for the last three years," Joseph Holloman, 1613 West Thirty-fifth street, Los Angeles, explained to State Officer Pat Hurd, when Hurd arrested him Saturday on the state highway. The man is charged with speeding 43 miles an hour.

All three are scheduled to appear before Justice Kenneth Morrison at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Dahlia Grower
Has Beautiful
Swiss Flower

Again wizardry has been at work in the land of plants. This time it is with the dahlia that miracles have been wrought.

The flower in question is an unusual one, not in size or shape, but in color, for it is snow white, with each petal bordered with brilliant red. The shades of red and white are the national colors of Switzerland and were perfected by Swiss hybridizers through hand pollination, which eventually brought the desired result, according to Ronald Boring, of Orange, who is in possession of such a flower.

The root of the flower was brought him, in 1924, from Switzerland, by Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Pixley. From the single root Boring has developed four plants.

When stopped by state officers on the highway yesterday, Frank Fregosa, Stanton, was unable to show a driver's license or prove that the machine, which he was driving, was his, so he was brought to the county jail, where he is being held.

The arrest was made in accordance with an order, issued several weeks ago, to the effect that persons, driving machines without proper identification, be held for investigation.

Fregosa also is charged with speeding 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone.

Yellowstone and Glacier parks is the supervision of them by forest rangers. The rangers escort parties through the park, showing them the many places of interest. The cleanliness of the parks also is due to the supervision of the rangers, Spurgeon said.

Welcome, editors, to Orange county, nature's prolific wonderland, something to write home about!

All arrangements were completed today for the reception and entertainment to be tendered more than 500 delegates to the National Editorial association convention and their wives, who will arrive in Orange county early tomorrow morning on their way to Los Angeles, where the convention is to be held this week.

The representatives of the fourth estate and their wives will arrive about 6 o'clock in the morning by special train at the Santa Fe depot. They will be met by parlor cars and taken to St. Ann's Inn, where breakfast, featuring Orange county products, will be served between 7 and 8:30 o'clock.

To Visit Beaches
At 9 o'clock the writers will be taken on a tour of Orange county, including visits to Newport Beach, Balboa, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove, Orange, the forenoon journey concluding at the county's 160-acre natural mountain park.

At the park, luncheon, featuring barbecued ham and all the trimmings, will be served, and J. E. Baumgartner, editor of the Santa Ana Register, and past president of the National Editorial association, and Edgar Johnson, one of the oldest editors in point of service, in the county, will extend the official welcome. While the visitors are resting under the classic oaks, a troupe of Spanish singers, dancers and musicians will provide entertainment.

Pick Own Oranges
The caravan will leave Orange County park at 2 p. m. The towns of El Modena, Villa Park, Olive, Richfield, Yorba Linda, Placentia and Anaheim will be visited. Leaving Anaheim at 3 p. m., the editors and their wives will be taken to the home ranch of Charles C. Chapman, where after the scribes have picked their own oranges, short talks will be made by Mr. Chapman and Harold Wahlberg, Orange.

Paintings Stolen By Clever Trick

PARIS, June 23.—Valuable old-masters for eventual American collectors of rare paintings found their way into the Paris antiquity market by a trick which has placed the dealer behind the bars.

The French merchant, who is a highly specialized antiquity faker and an artist of some ability, makes copies of the paintings in private galleries.

After carefully "antiquing" the copy he calmly carried away the original work of art and left his substitute hanging in its place. He never worked around Paris, and was careful to select distant castles in the country where experts would not be likely to pass.

Art collectors were usually flattered when the merchant requested authorization to make copies of their art treasures. The dealer believed he was safe when he carried away several valuable paintings from a castle in the Pyrenees mountains.

But a smart young nephew from Paris visited the owner of the castle a few weeks after the merchant had gone on, and discovered a forged picture. The merchants' arrest followed.

Stage and Screen

Lon Chaney and Henry Walthall in a scene from "The Road to Mandalay," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Barbara Bedford who has leading role opposite Lewis Stone in "Old Loves New," picture now at the Yost Broadway theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER

The Orient—uncanny and mysterious always, is even more so in its present day, as depicted in what is one of Lon Chaney's most startling vehicles of the screen, "The Road to Mandalay," which opened yesterday at the West Coast-Walker theater. It gets away from the mysterious Far East of conventional drama, and with a grim realism plunges into the land of today—and through Singapore, melting-pot of the races, Mandalay and the regions around the Bay of Bengal, it runs its weird gamut.

"The Road to Mandalay," presents Chaney in a role that is more than unusually interesting. He appears in a disguise that eclipses almost anything he has done in the past for grim realism; and he is the center of a plot astoundingly daring in conception, one of the most powerful dramatic situations ever conceived by a playwright. It is a vivid story of a sea captain who degenerates into the sinister ruler of an Oriental underworld, to be redeemed through a combination of circumstances almost unbelievable, but still, as worked out in the story, perfectly logical. A splendid cast surrounds Chaney, who plays the sinister divekeeper of the story.

Lois Moran, of "Stella Dallas" fame, appears as the heroine, daughter of the grim underworld ruler, who never knows the father who loves her from afar. Owen Moore appears as the dissolute "Admiral," a former naval officer, gone to the dogs in Singapore.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Marion Fairfax, world's only woman screen producer, selected a most admirable cast to usher in her first production, "Old Loves and New," which enjoyed a premiere at the Yost Broadway theater last night.

The ever popular Lewis Stone heads the cast. Barbara Bedford, a charming girl and a consummately capable actress, plays opposite him. Tully Marshall, the "man of the thousand faces," has a small but intensely vigorous part. Others in the cast are Walter Pidgeon, Katharine McDonald, Arthur Rankin, Ann Rink and Albert Conti.

It is superb entertainment, this "Old Loves and New"—a film replete with forceful situations, engrossing love interest, and a setting in the Near East that brings the mirage-like pictorial splendor of that far-off land before the eye in a glittering panorama of desert and tropical brilliance.

YOST THEATER

"The best ever" was the verdict of many who saw Leatrice Joy's latest comedy drama, "Eve's Leaves," at the Yost theater yesterday. The judgment is well deserved, for no better production, in point of titles which are witty, action that is swift, comedy that is exquisite, and character portrayals that are artistic, has seldom been shown at this popular theater. The scenes of the story are laid in China and coupled with their Oriental flavor, the settings are beautiful. Miss Joy is a genuine comedienne whose performance in this charming production will greatly enhance her vogue. William Boyd was excellent as her leading man and the entire supporting cast, including Walter Long, Robert Edson and Arthur Hoyt, is of the finest grade.

HE WHO GETS SLAPPED

Rev. Arlie
Brown

Miss
Martha
Bates

When the Rev. Arlie Brown, pastor of the Baptist church at Thornton Gap, Ky., declared in a sermon that all bobbed-haired women were "headed straight for hell," Miss Martha Bates, 22, sitting in the congregation, took it as a personal insult, because her own hair is bobbed. So she waited outside the door and when the preacher came out she slapped him twice, hard. She was arrested and sentenced to 40 days in jail, but was promptly pardoned by Governor W. J. Fields. "I'd do it again, too," she says. "Only I think I'd use my fists."

OPPOSING THE STRAIGHTENING OF NORTH FLOWER STREET

Orange, Calif., June 27, 1926.
Editor Register: According to a news article in the Register of Saturday evening the Santa Ana Realty Board is directing its efforts towards forcing the opening of North Flower street, straight through to West Chapman avenue. It appears that the members of that organization encounter difficulty in negotiating the curves of a short jog in Flower street a few hundred yards south of Chapman avenue.

While in the many years that the writer has lived in the immediate vicinity of this jog there has never, to his knowledge, been an accident there, he nevertheless wishes to advise members of the Santa Ana Realty Board that the Board of Supervisors of Orange County has given those most directly concerned with the matter to understand that in improving the road the curves at the jog would be sufficiently widened that even amateur drivers might safely attempt them in case of emergency. In these days of prohibition an intoxicated person is not permitted to operate a car.

The article mentioned was very meager in its reasons for straightening Flower street. It had to be, for logical reasons for so doing are very few.

North Broadway Park subdivision of Santa Ana eliminated straight streets because such streets do not make for beauty, and from the aesthetic viewpoint the straightening of Flower street would therefore be inconsistent to say the least.

From the point of view of safety, the same arguments are in order. The curves of North Broadway Park are not considered as dangerous. Neither, then, would those be on Flower street, after these are widened. And the writer has observed that the vicinity of the jog in Flower street is one of the few in Orange County where the speed laws are somewhat complied with without the presence of an officer to enforce them.

Economically, it will be much less expensive for the county to utilize the road already accepted by the county as a gift, than to condemn valuable land for a new right-of-way and pay, in addition, severance damages to every rancher concerned, for new pipe lines, possibly a well, and subways, or some method of transferring tractors, etc., from one part of a severed ranch to another.

Nor would all the damage done be to the ranchers whose property was severed by the proposed shortcut, but also to those who donated to the county the present right of way and then built their homes facing it with the natural supposition that they were building on the main thoroughfare of their immediate vicinity.

Opening Flower street straight through would leave them upon a very insignificant country byroad and would damage them instantly. Worse still, they would have no opportunity for reimbursement for the damage suffered; indeed, they would probably be taxed or assessed additionally to pay for the damage done the severed ranches.

The ranchers concerned do not wish their ranches severed nor are they interested in extending Belvedere Gardens of Los Angeles this far south by the subdivision of Orange County—yet.

In justice to the property owners concerned, the Board of Supervisors of Orange County can but improve Flower street "as is." In the future, conditions warranting and subdividing being in order, straightening the road may also be in order. Then, let the subdividers do it at their own expense. The time for so doing has not yet arrived, however.

And incidentally, since all the noise about paving, straightening, etc., of Flower street comes from Santa Ana only, particularly from her realty board, it might be well for the Board of Supervisors to permit them to pay for the paving of Chapman avenue. They alone seem to crave it. The $700.00 per month to be paid a city planning commission would help very considerably if applied for that purpose.

Respectfully yours,
J. E. WATERS,
North Flower St.

HE SAYS RANCH OWNERS ENTITLED TO CONSIDERATION

Editor Register: That "all roads lead to Rome" is ancient history and of course we're not much interested in those roads but here in Orange county they lead to endless discussion as we are all more or less interested in them. Our supervisors having co-operated with the property owners to widen and improve the northern portion of Flower street, said property owners having already given a sufficient strip on each side to make an up-to-date thoroughfare, are being opposed by a body of men I have always supposed to be in favor of all improvements that are beneficial to the public. This road has been a county road for many years, and is the main road opening into the residences of a thickly settled community. I, being one of them, think we are entitled to whatever improvements are contemplated. As opening the street due north to Chapman avenue will virtually ruin all the little farms and homes that are now held by the present owners, and as these folks are a thrifty, industrious people and an asset to any community, why not leave them in peaceful possession of what they have striven a lifetime to get?

Hoping the view I have set forth will be kindly taken, I am humbly, one of the community.

FRANK LUTON.

BALDWIN NEAR PIPE SMOKERS' PATRON SAINT

LONDON, June 28.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin is said to be a teetotaler and never drinks a drop of anything stronger than tea, but he smokes immoderately and has almost become England's patron saint of pipe smoking. Few have ever seen him smoke a cigar and none has ever seen him smoke a cigarette, but few have ever seen him when he was not smoking a pipe.

Recently he had a birthday, and his fellow citizens came to the front with not less than 300 pipes as gifts to him—800 and then some! No one event in any human being's life every conspired to give such a profit to the manufacturers of pipes as was represented by the English premier's birthday this year.

Of course such gifts for him will become a British habit now. That sort of thing always becomes a habit here. From now till the day of his death, hundreds of admirers, whether he is in our out of office, will send pipes to Stanley Baldwin on his birthday, even if they don't know him personally. Primrose day is virtually a memorial of Lord Beaconsfield. Pipe day may be established in Great Britain years hence as a memorial to Stanley Baldwin.

Nor were the pipe makers the only ones who profited. The tobacco that arrived with or separately from the pipes has not been weighed, but the estimate of the attendant who took most of it in at 16 Downing street, is that it aggregated not less than 200 pounds.

Tobacco pouches, of course, were among his gifts. Literally hundreds of such articles are now at hand for the prime minister to choose from every morning. Many of these are very elegant. Some are of precious materials.

county farm advisor. The party will return to Fullerton at 4 p. m., and will be met by buses, which will carry the editors to their hotels in Los Angeles.

If time permits, the party will visit the Brea oil fields, the avocado groves of La Habra, and Brea Park, before boarding the train at Fullerton.

Plans for the entertainment of the writer folk, who include several state governors, have been made by a committee working under direction of F. W. Slabaugh, director of Orange county publicity.

Pedestrian Hurt When Hit by Car

John F. Pieper, Tustin man, was slightly injured yesterday afternoon, when he was knocked down by an automobile at Haster street and Chapman avenue, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

No report as to the identity of the driver of the machine has been made.

Pieper was taken to the Orange County hospital, where his injuries were given medical attention. He later was removed to his home.

Tobacco pouches, of course, were among his gifts. Literally hundreds of such articles are now at hand for the prime minister to choose from every morning. Many of these are very elegant. Some are of precious materials.

Estes Named As S. F. Manager of Insurance Co.

John W. Estes Jr., for the last five years Santa Ana agent for the Aetna Life Insurance company, will leave here tomorrow for San Francisco, where he will take over the general management of the San Francisco office for the International Life Insurance company, of St. Louis, he announced today.

In his new office, Estes will be general manager of the company in the northern section of the state.

Estes has made many friends during his stay in Santa Ana. He is a former president of the Santa Ana Toastmasters' club and is a member of the Kiwanis club. J. Jefferson Tindall, Los Angeles man, will come to Santa Ana July 1 to take over the duties of Estes.

Police News

Ten dollars was stolen from the coat of T. B. Elliott, 915 Townner street, Saturday night, according to a report filed today with the sheriff's office. Elliott left his coat in a shack one and one-half miles north of Orange, while he was at work. He discovered his loss when he returned to the shack, he reported.

PLAN TO BUILD DAM FAILS TO WIN APPROVAL

By C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Evidence is piling up that the California Water Resources association, which has asked the members of the California delegation to serve on its advisory committee in the campaign to put before the people at the next election, the so-called Marshall plan for damming the Sacramento river near Redding, will meet with much success. None of the legislators have accepted the invitation, while Congressman Charles F. Curry, of Sacramento, has come out with a vigorous blast against it.

Curry's statement says that, while the Marshall plan may be the best obtainable for the conservation of water for irrigation and navigation, it nevertheless should not be made a part of the constitution, but should be carried out, if at all, by enactment of the legislature.

Curry said:

"The California Water Resources association was authorized by the legislature and given an appropriation for the purpose of conducting a survey of the water resources of the state. It is now endeavoring to carry out the result of its work through the initiative and by making its project a part of the state constitution. The project first should be reported back to the legislature for consideration. There is no assurance, other than the statement of the engineers employed by the association, that it is any better than some of the other schemes surveyed and investigated.

"The federal government has an interest in this matter and yet, if the initiative proposal is adopted and the project becomes part of the constitution of the state of California, the federal interest will be entirely ignored. Other state interests have a right to be heard, such as mining, navigation and lumbering, all of which have been overlooked.

"If the project is as good as they say it is, it should be reported to the legislature and adopted by legislative enactment, so that it can be changed from time to time to meet changing conditions. I was one of the original advocates of conservation in the use of water. I believe in its now, but I am not prepared to endorse the Marshall plan, even if it is the best in the world. I am certain it should be a part of the constitution."

The Marshall plan contemplates the erection of a 500-foot dam in the Sacramento river, 12 miles above Redding, where it is estimated the entire flow of the Sacramento river could be stored. Aside from developing 1,000,000 horsepower, the sponsors assert it would work the following miracles with which California has been struggling for years and upon which the state and federal government have spent millions of dollars:

It would forever prevent floods in the Sacramento valley.

It would forever assure ample water for domestic and irrigation use for the three million acres in the Sacramento valley.

It would maintain ample water for navigation.

It would maintain ample water for irrigation and domestic use in the San Joaquin valley, the trans-bay section and the Santa Clara valley.

None of the other members of the California delegation, aside from Curry, was prepared to say what their attitude would be, but none of them has accepted the invitation to become a member of the advisory committee. The invitations were signed by Col. R. B. Marshall, chief engineer of the project.

The bill sponsored by the Tacoma Kiwanis club, which would increase the gratuities given by the government to discharged federal prisoners, was given informal approval by the house judiciary committee. The committee agreed to adopt the amendment suggested by the attorney general, which would omit the specification of a sum which could be spent for a suit of clothes. The amendment leaves the clothing allowance to the discretion of the attorney general.

The bill, as amended, would give each discharged prisoner, transportation to his home or to some other city at the discretion of the attorney general, together with a new suit of clothes and not to exceed $20 in money.

At the present time, discharged prisoners are given $5 in cash and a suit of clothes worth not to exceed $12. The result is that a prisoner's suit is known wherever it is seen, marking the wearer indelibly. It is desired to get away from this identification tag carried by all discharged prisoners in an effort to give them a better start in life.

Charles W. Burr, chaplain of the McNeil Island penitentiary, near Tacoma, is credited with making the suggestion that resulted in the agitation started by the Tacoma Kiwanis club and the introduction of the bill by Representative Albert Johnson.

The forest service will have to make new arrangements for patrolling western timber areas by airplane next year, inasmuch as the war department will be unable to continue its co-operation after the close of the present season. Secretary of War Davis made this plain in a recent statement saying that the department equipment now in use in the forest work will need replacing next year and that none of the army's new planes can be spared for this duty.

It is not believed the war department's announcement will bring about a discontinuance of the forest patrol next season because the forest service looks upon the work of its "air rangers" as of supreme importance in detecting and controlling forest fires.

473 Millions Is Value Placed On State Farm Crop

SACRAMENTO, June 23.—California's main field, fruit and vegetable crops in 1925 had a total value to the farmer of $473,897,000 compared with $437,755,000 for the preceding year, according to a report made public by the California Co-operative Crop Reporting service. California continues the foremost state in the production of vegetables, figures show.

Tourists Observe Gigantic Sea Fish

NEW YORK, June 23.—More than 400 passengers disembarked from the steamer Cleveland the other day, convinced that they had seen sea serpents on their way across the Atlantic.

Capt. W. P. Hillman, in command of the vessel, and his officers, know better, however.

One day a crowd rushed to the rail to see a queer succession of fins protruding from the water. There were 24 large black fins. Whew! what a whopper!

The captain says it wasn't a sea monster at all, but the fins of a file of blackfish that the excited passengers saw.

Cotton Exports Take Huge Drop

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Reduction of $150,000,000 in cotton exports in the last 11 months is reported by the commerce department. The value of raw cotton exported was $882,782,887, compared with $1,032,887,384 for the corresponding period in 1925. The number of bales exported dropped approximately 250,000.

Road and Fishing Conditions

By the National Automobile Club

Roads to Lake Arrowhead continue to be in good condition. The village common has been sprinkled with calcium chloride to keep down the dust and additional parking space for 20 cars has been provided at the south shore of the lake. The City Creek road to Big Bear lake is kept in good condition at the present time, as well as the Deep Creek cutoff, but the "slow" signs between Lake View point and the steam shovel should be observed carefully.

The trails to Mt. Whitney are now open. There are two trails from Lone Pine to Mount Whitney. The shorter one follows up the eastern slope and is 13 miles in length. Five miles may be ridden on horseback, the balance must be climbed by foot. This route is not advisable for other than experienced mountain climbers, due to the great endurance required. Three days is the average time for the round trip. The other trail is 36 miles long and includes some wonderful mountain scenery, fishing and deer country. All but the last mile and a half may be ridden on horseback. This is the advisable route. Five days are usually required for the round trip. A shelter house of stone and concrete will be found on the summit which was constructed by the Smithsonian institute for the benefit of tourists and astronomers.

The Los Angeles county road department has done some good work on the San Gabriel Canyon road. The water crossings have all been repaired and the bad spots covered. Fishing continues to be good in this district and last week end many limits were taken out.

... ..

The route between Myrtlewild and Banning, via Pine Flat, is very rough, but passable. This route is now being repaired, but the work is progressing slowly and it is not advisable to take this road except in cases of necessity. As there are no controls on this road, traffic from the opposite direction may be met at any point.

... ..

On the route between Santa Margarita and Bakersfield, via Pozo and La Panza, heavy hauling is being done over Carrisa plains, and will put this road in very rough condition. On the route through Cuyama valley, several bridges are washed out.

... ..

Following is a report on fishing conditions in the district surrounding Bridgeport, Calif.: Fly fishing on all streams except West Walker is good. West Walker is too high. Spinners are best on lakes. Salmon eggs are good everywhere.

SUPPORTS ACTION TO CODIFY LAWS

WASHINGTON, June 23.—With approval by the house foreign affairs committee of the Tinkham resolution proposing a third Hague conference, Chairman Porter made public a letter from Secretary Kellogg recommending American participation in such a conference under conditions.

The resolution would request President Coolidge to call another conference at the Hague for codification of international law. Mr. Kellogg disclosed that nearly a year ago the state department was approached informally by the Netherlands government on the subject, and that he informed the Netherlands that the United States would give its "heartiest approval of and co-operation in a third peace conference to be called by the Netherlands government at a convenient time for the sole purpose of promoting the codification of the international law of peace."

Brandy City Is Upset Because Of Tire Theft

BRANDY CITY, Calif., June 23.—Hang it, there's really nothing to a name, after all. All Brandy City happened to be out one day when thieves drove through in an automobile and undertook a search for something stronger than water. They had to content themselves with making away with two automobile tires stolen from a local garage.

Babies Born In California Are Very Fortunate

SACRAMENTO, June 23.—California babies, when they first open their eyes on this world and find they are in California, don't appreciate how fortunate they are.

For the average California born youngster faces the prospect of a longer sojourn here than his babyland colleagues who see the light of day in New York state. It's true. The statistics say so. Delving into figures in his office here, L. E. Ross, chief of the state bureau of vital statistics, discovered that the average "after life-time" or life expectancy of the boy baby born in this state is 54.51 years, while the average life prospect of the California girl when she starts breathing the Golden State ozone is 58.44 years, or about 4 years longer.

New York babies face prospects considerably more gloomy. The average expectancy of cooing male youngsters on arrival in the Empire state is 52.82 years, and that of girl babies, 55.76 years.

New Record Set In 3-Flag Trip

SAN DIEGO, June 23.—Riding from Vancouver, B. C., to Tia Juana, Mex., in 38 hours and 47 minutes, Paul Remaley, motorcyclist, established a new record for the "three-flag" trip. He left Vancouver at 3 p. m., Thursday, and arrived at Tia Juana at 10:47 o'clock Saturday morning.

Remaley made the entire journey without sleep, stopping only for meals. He appeared in good physical condition upon his arrival.

The old record was established nearly two years ago by Wells Bennett, whose time of 42:44 was lowered by nearly four hours by Remaley.

EVENING SALUTATION

Joy, in Nature's wide dominion,
Mightiest cause of all is found;
And 'tis Joy that moves the pinion,
When the wheel of time goes round.

—Schiller.

A MEMORABLE GATHERING

Yesterday's gathering at the County Park of old-timers and their families was an occasion that will stand out in the memory of every person who was present.

Friendships made in pioneering are proverbially strong. And yesterday pioneers shook hands again, some of them meeting for the first time after years of separation.

"I haven't seen you for forty years, and you haven't changed a bit," was heard time and again.

Time, to be sure, as it always does, has made its mark on the faces and figures of those who knew each other in Santa Ana in the '80's and '90's. But time has not changed their hearts; it has made no difference in sincerity of their appreciation for each other. Men and women do not go through the joys and pleasures of village life, they do not go through the hopes and bitter disappointments of pioneering without developing lifelong affection.

The annual picnic of the old-timers was instituted a year ago. Yesterday the picnic became a fixed affair. Each year, from now on, the most notable gathering of all the year, to those who attend, will be the picnic to those who knew each other thirty or forty or even fifty years ago.

For it is now more than fifty years since Santa Ana, Tustin, and Orange were founded, while Anaheim dates its beginning back nearly seventy years.

THE GOLDEN TIDE

The most striking business fact in the country today is its vast volume of credit. That means much, in cause and effect.

Besides all the billions in gold piled up in American treasury and bank vaults since the war, there is a golden tide still rolling in. A financial observer says we receive a billion dollars a year from abroad, to pay principal and interest on foreign loans, public and private. Along with this, there is a big excess of current income at home.

Both of these great funds are calling for new employment. Money has to be put to work. Not long ago Americans were re-investing a great deal of the national income abroad. But now, with foreign affairs so uncertain, and with more money than ever available for investment, cautious Americans are afraid to send it abroad. So the big, growing surplus is being re-invested at home.

That, doubtless, is one of the important factors in the new rise of American securities. It makes money "easier" than money usually is in this favored land, and immensely easier than money is in any other land today. Hardly any legitimate enterprise need go now without necessary funds, if its case is properly presented in the right quarters.

The strange thing about it all is that with this enormous volume of money and credit, there is, so far, little inflation. Also, oddly enough, what inflation exists seems to be found mainly at the bottom of the economic system rather than the top; it is the great expansion of installment buying.

IDEAL OLD AGE

There is a tradition that when a busy man retires, he is near the end of his string—that if he isn't already on the edge of helpless old age, he hastens his time. And there are many cases in point. Yet we find Sir Oliver Lodge, turned 75, declaring that when a man retires he becomes younger.

At least it works that way with him. He feels younger and looks younger than he did when he was still "in the harness." He concludes:

"Everyone should retire in good time, for there is no tonic like it. You want to retire before you are played out, for it gives so much more opportunity to do all that you desire."

Evidently it depends on what a man does after he retires. If he does nothing, naturally his life is empty and he fades away and sinks. With living interests to pursue, with experiences and adventures long desired but hitherto prevented by the daily grind, and with retirement entered upon while physical and mental vigor remain, the retired man or woman should find the latter years what they ought to be, the pleasantest of his life. This is the ideal of the future.

WOULD CURB AUTO THEFT

A bill was recently passed by the lower branch of the Louisiana legislature, making it a felony to steal an automobile or a part. This is severe, but current conditions call for severity. Auto thievery is getting to be one of the more serious and frequent crimes from which the public suffers. In California the theft of an automobile is a felony; the theft of a part is a misdemeanor.

Checking automobile thefts ought to help a little to check some of the crimes committed with the aid of stolen cars.

Just enacting laws, however, is not enough. They need to be enforced both by established authorities and by public opinion. Along with laws, all the other elements which it is hoped will lessen crime must be studied and made effective use of as fast as understanding and knowledge permit.

GERMANY IS PAYING

Germany made her payments during the past winter with difficulty, because of unemployment and business failures—but she paid.

Seymour Gilbert, the American agent-general whose job it is to collect and distribute German reparations money under the Dawes plan, pays Germany a sincere compliment. During the first nine months of the year under that plan, ending June 31, he reports Germany paid more than any conquered nation before ever paid her victors, meeting all her obligations, and meeting them entirely out of her own resources.

It was not such a great sum judged by American standards, but it seems great for Germany, everything considered. It amounted to $21,000,000 gold marks, over $200,000,000. That sum is divided among eleven countries—Germany's war creditors—and the thing of particular interest in America is that our country gets part of it.

The American portion is small, only $7,000,000. Yet it is something to cheer about when America gets anything at all out of Germany, after all the billions the Kaiser and his crowd forced this country to spend in making the seas safe for Americans and the world safe for—well, whatever it was that we made it safe for. Sometimes, observing all these dictatorships and censorships and one thing and another, we're not quite sure about it.

X-RAY ON PICTURES

The X-ray is now being used to decide as to the genuineness of old oil paintings at Harvard university and elsewhere. The X-ray picture is checked up with the surface picture, and with the findings of the expert, and helps to make the final decision.

Next thing anyone knows, somebody will be using X-rays to find whether there was or was not a worm in the wormholes in antique furniture. Then where will the antiquer be with his modern mechanical worm-hole maker?

Or will the antique fans love their loot all the more because they have been fooled? And will they tell their friends in pride, "My dear, the X-ray disclosed patent worm holes made in the year 1924?"

But whatever happens, don't give up the ship.

Preserve Landmarks

Pasadena Star-News

How to save America's monuments and historic landmarks from the tooth of Time and the hazards of change is engaging the attention of the American Institute of Architects. Encroachments of modern progress in building cities are divesting the country of some of its most cherished monuments. Many buildings of historic significance as showing architectural growth, are disappearing altogether, or are being so altered and modernized that their value as monuments is rendered nil.

Complaint is made that the public is indifferent to these things and that civil authorities share in this apathy toward the preservation of monuments.

Here in California, much has been done and much is being done to preserve old landmarks of this state's romantic early history. The old Missions, in particular, are being preserved, as nearly as possible in faithfulness to their original architectural design. Native Sons and Native Daughters have sponsored movements to preserve historic old edifices and to mark, with monuments, the scenes of historic events in the history of California. Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the Revolution, and other patriotic organizations also have given aid to these preservational movements.

Hearty goodspeed to these activities. Intensified commercialism and thoughtless greed should not be permitted to rob this land of its historic shrines; its noble architectural monuments of early days; its birthplaces of eminent men and women; and sites of historic events. Preserve and cherish these monuments, so that the memory of the glorious in American history may be kept ever green.

Flowers Bring Peace

Oakland Tribune

As a peacemaker in a war which started when men first ran sheep and cattle on the same ranges comes a flower of Northern California, the larkspur. It is resulting in a virtually complete revolution of the cattle raising industry and is stifling the ancient feud, according to Professor P. B. Kennedy of the department of agronomy of the University of California, and this is the secret:

When cattle eat larkspur they become ill and die. In parts of the State, as in Humboldt and other northern counties, the larkspur has driven out some of the cattlemen or forced them to change their ways and their flocks.

Consequently," says Professor Kennedy, "it is no longer a disgrace for a cattle raiser to change over to the long-scorched practice of raising sheep, and the old enmity that once existed is rapidly disappearing."

If sheep eat larkspur and so rid the range of a poison, they can't be so bad, is the way the cattle man reasons. Perhaps they will change the name of larkspur to peacemaker and maybe someone will discover a flower which will restore harmony to tugboat captains and longshoremen.

Western Newspapers

Imperial Valley Press

The editor of the Riverside Press in an article prepared for the Southern California Editor, which has been sent to all eastern newspapermen and women who expect to make the trip to California this month on the excursion of the National Editorial Association, compares the growth of the newspapers of the smaller cities of California with those of the "far east." He cites actual instances showing that the eastern newspapers of cities of the same class as the smaller California cities have either stood still or actually retrograded, whereas the California newspaper has kept even pace with the phenomenal growth of its environment.

We had not known of that condition, had not thought of it; but upon reflection it seems the logical order of national evolution. Always the more venturesome and vigorous of the race work westward, whether they be farmers, artisans or editors. Westward the course of Empire takes its way was not a mere poetic locution, but the observation of an observant and reflective mind.

Only Twenty Years Ago

San Bernardino Sun

How times change! According to The Sun's "Twenty Years Ago" column of last Saturday morning, the then city council was in the throes of increasing the saloon license in San Bernardino from $50.00 to $100.00 per month. And that was a "reform" council!

But a short time before that The Sun was battling for regulations that would close saloons at midnight and on Sunday, and the result was an amendment which provides that between the hours of 1 a. m. and 5 a. m. and on Sundays the front doors of saloons should be closed!

Doubtless this is surprising to the thousands of people who have made this city their home only within the last 15 years, and they constitute the larger part of our population, while even old-timers and pioneers rub their eyes in amazement, as they think of the changes that have been wrought. And all in 20 years.

There Once Was an Elephant Who Always Had Plenty to Eat

The Foolkiller Season

The foolkiller is abroad in the land. He works all the year, of course, but the summer is really his busy sason. His aim is sure and fatal. There is only one way to avoid him: Don't be a fool.

To take only one instance out of a day's news, three girls and three boys set out in a little punt on the St. Mary's river the other day. One of the boys started to demonstrate how he won a charleston contest. One of the six was rescued.

In the first place, six people are too many for a small boat. Three are enough for the average rowboat. In the second place, monkey-business in small boats is one of the foolkiller's most deadly weapons.

Why people should think it funny to rock small boats is one of the unsolved mysteries of human nature. It isn't funny to drown, or to come close to drowning and be rescued. Nor is it really funny to endanger the lives of one's friends.

It isn't really funny to venture out into water beyond one's depth when one cannot swim enough to have a generous margin of safety.

It isn't really funny to show how fast one can drive—and end in a hospital.

It isn't funny to hug the road just to be smart—and side-swipe oneself, one's friends and the strangers one meets down the hill and into the morgue.

There is something about the good old summer time which lets loose all the silly desire to show off that is latent in human nature.

The foolkiller is always waiting. But he doesn't bother quiet, sensible people much. The smart Alec is his chosen game.

Worth While Verse

BRIDAL RECESSIONAL

All-wise, all-great, whose ancient plan
Ordained the woman for the man,
Look down, O Lord! on these who now
Before Thy sacred altar bow.

Almighty Ruler, in Whose hand
The morrow and its issues stand,
Whate'er the lot Thy will assign.
We can but kneel; our all is Thine.

Summer and winter, seed and grain,
The joy unhopd that comes of pain,
The unknown ill that good we call—
Thou in Thy balance metest all.

Throughout their lifelong journey still,
Guide Thou these two in good and ill,
And wheresoe'er the way extend,
Be with them, Father, to the end.

—Austin Dobson.

Little Benny's Note Book

Last nite I was late for dinner, being about the 3rd time and maybe the 4th, and I went back in the dining room trying to look innocent and pop was just passing his plate for his 2nd helping of liver and onions, being his favorite thing, saying, Well young man? Meaning why was I late, and I sed, Well Ill tell you.

It is my duty to inform you that anything you say may be used against you, pop sed, and I sed, Well, Ill tell you.

Perseced, pop sed, and I sed, I was standing on the corner with Puds Simkins, and Shorty Judge came up and we was all 3 standing there.

And then I suppose the ground opened and the 3 of you dropped through and havent bin seen sints, pop sed.

No sir, a horse ran pass attached to a huckster wagon and it was running as if it thawt it was a fire horse, and Puds sed, G, runaway horse, and I sed Aw it is not, its jest going fast because the mans in a hurry, and Sharty Judge sed, Who ever saw a huckster in such a hurry as that?

Thats a solem question, come to think of it, pop sed, Well, dont keep me in suspense, wat was the answer? he sed, and I sed, There wasent any answer, because jest then a little Ford almost bumped into a big truck and if they both hadent of quick put on their brakes the little Ford mite of got hert.

You make my blud run cold, is your story over? pop sed, and I sed, No sir, jest then some man thawt he dropped a dime and we started to help him look for it because it woundent of bin poltte not to and besides we thawt he mite give us something whoever found it, and we looked and looked and looked and he wasent even positive he dropped it for sure, but we looked and looked and looked.

But I cant lissen and lissen and lissen with this bewtiful liver and onions getting cold, sit down and eat your dinner, pop sed.

Wich I did.

It is generally conceded that a large number of people in the large cities of the state are not property owners, other than owning their own homes, and a large percentage are not even home owners and tax-payers. The city has become the refuge of a tax-free population who, through franchise, vote the tax burden upon the taxable property holders of the state, in rural and industrial California.

Taxation, water conservation, quarantine, transportation, marketing are a few of the problems directly affecting agricultural development and must be dealt with by an intelligent and sympathetic legislative body, that there may be preserved to California its agricultural wealth.

The Federal plan applied to California, would give not more than one senator to any county. Since there are 58 counties for 40 senators it would be necessary to group 29 counties of small population into 11 senatorial districts, with the remaining 29 counties having one senator each. This would give to the rural counties

Farm Bureau Issues Statement Concerning Reapportionment Plan

Concerning the proposal of the California Farm Bureau Federation to place an initiative measure on the November ballot whereby reapportionment of state senatorial districts in California shall be put upon a federal basis, the federation has issued a statement, as follows:

California's constitution, adopted in 1879, provides for reapportionment of the legislative districts, both Senate and Assembly, every 10 years on the basis of population, following the taking of the Federal census.

The rapid growth of the larger cities in the three most thickly populated counties, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda, which counties constitute only 3 per cent of the state area, was such that in 1920 those three counties contained 52.1 per cent of the total population of the state. School census figures and other reliable sources of information available in 1926 show that 62.4 per cent of the population now resides within these three counties.

Dominance Likely History has proven, that great concentration of people within the small area of large cities, which of necessity cannot become familiar with the problems of rural and agricultural life, tends to create an unsympathetic attitude toward the protecting of rural development. Further, the mass population of cities is not moved by careful and conservative thought and action, but rather by a political dominance, that does not always make for the true principles of self-government and the protection of the minority.

The census figures of 1920, gave the value of California's Agriculture as $4,501,581,899.00; adding petroleum, lumber and mining, other assets of the soil, Rural California shows an investment of $4,872,414,489.00. The industrial wealth of the state is given as $2,216,053,737.00, or a grand total property valuation of $7,089,953,737.00.

Reapportionment of legislative districts based on the 1920 census would give to the three counties 3 per cent of the area, complete control of both houses of the legislature, and leave 97 per cent of the area—the great agricultural and productive sections of the state—without any real voice in the state lawmaking body.

Our representative form of government is based upon the doctrine of representation for both population and territory. This well recognized principle of representative government was fought out in our early history and written into our national constitution, by giving control of one house of congress, the house of representatives, to population and control of the other house, the senate, to territory by giving each state equal representation regardless of population. New York with its ten million people has equal representation in the senate with Nevada with its 77,000 population. This balance of power has afforded a development of the sparsely settled areas of the nation that would never have been otherwise accomplished.

It is generally conceded that a large number of people in the large cities of the state are not property owners, other than owning their own homes, and a large percentage are not even home owners and tax-payers. The city has become the refuge of a tax-free population who, through franchise, vote the tax burden upon the taxable property holders of the state, in rural and industrial California.

Taxation, water conservation, quarantine, transportation, marketing are a few of the problems directly affecting agricultural development and must be dealt with by an intelligent and sympathetic legislative body, that there may be preserved to California its agricultural wealth.

The Federal plan applied to California, would give not more than one senator to any county. Since there are 58 counties for 40 senators it would be necessary to group 29 counties of small population into 11 senatorial districts, with the remaining 29 counties having one senator each. This would give to the rural counties the same representation as the large cities of the state are not property owners, other than owning their own homes, and a large percentage are not even home owners and tax-payers. The city has become the refuge of a tax-free population who, through franchise, vote the tax burden upon the taxable property holders of the state, in rural and industrial California.

History of "Black Gold" At Beach City Is Told

3-DAY PROGRAM SCHEDULED FOR HOLIDAY CROWD AT BEACH CITY

Hidden Treasure Hunt on Beach Front to Be Among Features of Celebration

GIVE FINE PRIZES IN BABY CONTEST

Crack Municipal Band and Huge Pyrotechnic Display Will Add to Pleasure

A wide-open town, that is in respect to unlimited fireworks of the type that delights the schoolboy, with a big three-day program widely advertised, involving cash prizes in spectacular contests and gold hidden in the sands on the beach—these are only a few of the many delightful events that will make Huntington Beach during July 3, 4 and 5 the mecca of an army of visitors from Orange county, as well as many from Los Angeles and adjoining counties.

The Fourth of July program will be in the nature of a pleasant surprise to the business men and residents of the town, as, for the first time in history, these individuals did not have a part of the joy of the celebration taken away by having to dig deep in their pockets for donations to finance the celebration. As planned and executed by Advertising Manager Clifton G. Reynolds, in co-operation with the city dads, the whole financing of the celebration has been done in a business-like way through the regular channels of city expenditures. Reynolds announces that, through the courtesy of the Pacific Electric, the advertising the celebration will be carried by a part of their cars. This advertising expense is borne by the street car company. Reynolds also has placed a large number of giant posters in brilliant colors all over the tributary territory.

A feature of the three day celebration will be a baby show, in charge of Mrs. Marie J. Wiener, and a baby parade, in charge of Mrs. Wiener, assisted by the members of the P. T. A. The baby show and parade will be given additional interest by a splendid array of prizes for the healthiest, the fattest, the most ideal and the most beautiful baby.

Contestants may enter by notifying Mrs. Wiener by mail at post-office box No. 1, or in person at 113 1-2 Main street. It is hoped that an extremely large and representative display of the infant life of the community will be attracted by the generous prizes, among which will be cups, cash and merchandise.

A penny scramble on the beach will be conducted by Trustee Mitchell. This will delight the boys and girls and create no end of amusement for spectators. To avoid the loss of gold buried in the beach, certificate orders on individuals will be buried, entitling the finder to redeem it in a specified amount of gold.

Beach Band to Play
The Huntington Beach band will be on hand, under the management of W. H. Gallienne and direction of L. L. Gilmore. The band of 20 pieces has been practicing for the event and will furnish music up to its usual standard of excellence. Aside from the regular program, various forms of diversion will be found for visitors in the beach concessions, among which are the plunge and dance pavilion, and the new fishing barge recently put in operation. The fireworks display, both from land and sea on the night of July 5, will be one of the most spectacular and gorgeous affairs ever witnessed in this section, it is hoped. No expense has been spared in making this a real pyrotechnic festival.

The program in detail is as follows:

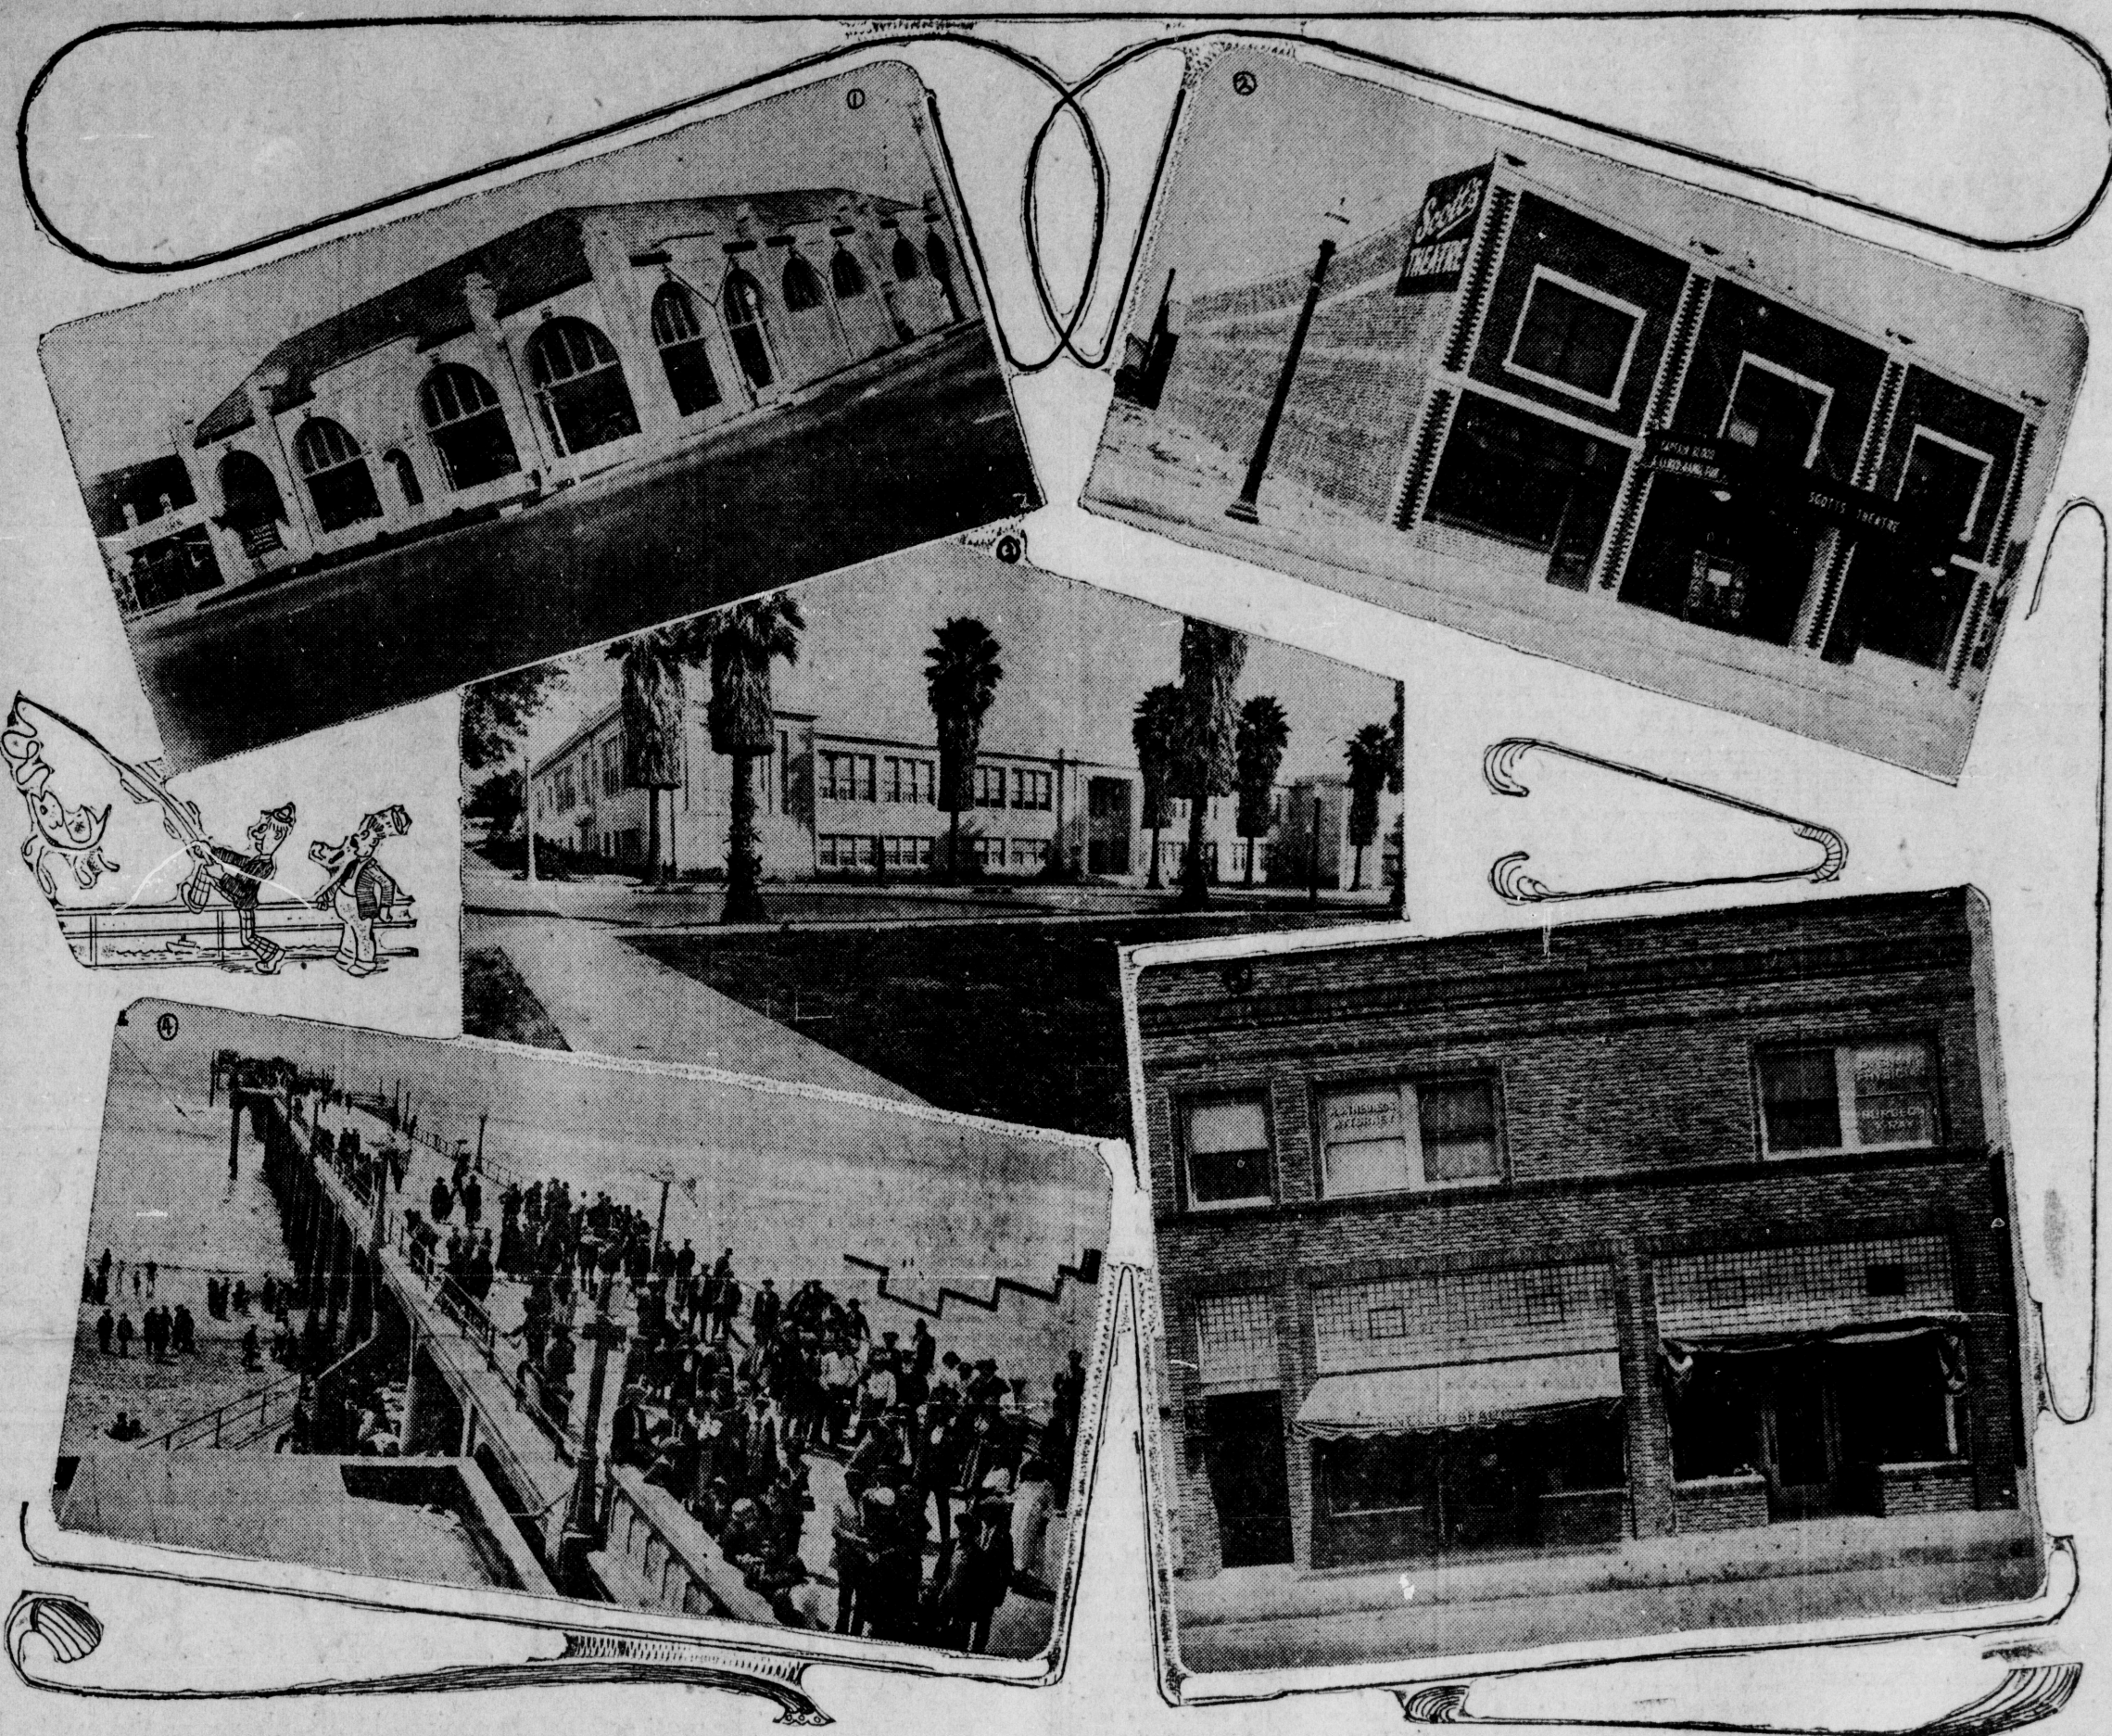

July 3
12 m.—Penny Scramble and diving for coins; 2 p. m., vaudeville; 4 p. m., Fat man's race; 7 p. m., Band concert; L. A. Arthur, speaker; 9 p. m., Fire dives under supervision of City Life Guard Ott.

July 4
Beach bathing and church services; 2 p. m., Band; J. G. Hurst, speaker; 4 p. m., Community singing, Charles C. Overbury, J. G. Hurst and Dr. R. E. Haws.

July 5
9 a. m., Baby parade under direction of Mrs. Wiener; 10 a. m., Awarding cups at beach; 12 m., Girls' athletics under direction of C. G. Boster; 2 p. m., Band; A. J. Thedek, speaker; 4 p. m., Y. M. C. A. Tournament; 8 p. m., Fireworks.

Heading the baby parade on Monday will be a jovial black mammy wheeling her white babies, which will be a group of white baby rabbits. The three tons of fireworks to be used in the big fireworks display for the celebration arrived by freight over the Pacific Electric Saturday. This announcement on the part of City Advertising Manager Clifton G. Reynolds is the basis for a wild jubilee on the part of the local youngsters. Nothing in the nature of this huge festival has ever been witnessed on so large a scale in Huntington Beach.

BEAUTIFUL BUSINESS STRUCTURES FOUND IN DOWNTOWN DISTRICT OF HUNTINGTON BEACH ARE FEATURES OF CITY'S RAPID DEVELOPMENT

1—Macklin building, palatial home of the Security garage. This building cost $32,000.
2—Scott's theater, modern throughout, equipped with pipe organ and divan seats.
3—Grammar school, completed at a cost of $300,000.

4—Section of 1500-foot pleasure pier, which is serving as landing for boats to and from the new fishing barge, anchored three miles off shore.
5—Shank building, occupied by Marinello Beauty parlor and McIntosh Electric Co.

DEVELOPMENT HISTORY AT HUNTINGTON BEACH DATES BACK TO OLD PACIFIC CITY

A barren plot of ground in 1901, an active field of wild oil excitement in 1922, and today a thriving city, whose oil output has settled down to a reliable and continuous production—such is the range of activity that has featured the growth of Huntington Beach. The first subdivision was laid out in this year by John N. Adams, of Santa Ana, and P. A. Stanton, of Seal Beach.

As late as 1904, there was little sloping back until three miles from the coast it attains an elevation of 30 feet. Such a gradual slope and contour of hills has given a splendid site for the building of homes with a view of the coast line for miles. Today Huntington Beach can boast of 19 1-2 miles of pavement and 27 miles of graded and macadamized streets. The paving program just completed was financed by the $300,000 bond issue of last August. An appropriation of $238,000 was made for the construction and paving of Ocean avenue. This spacious boulevard is 30 feet wide from First street to Twenty-third street and west to the city limits is a 20-foot pavement which links up with the state highway, which is now complete save a small strip at the north arm of the bay at Balboa and Newport. This gives three miles of splendid highway through the city.

10 Blocks in Original Town
In 1906 when the original townsite was laid out, it embraced but 10 blocks. In 1914, it had a population of 1400, and the coming of gas and electricity at this time added to its growth.

With the discovery of oil in 1920, a further impetus to growth was given. At this date, the population was 1650, and the assessed valuation $2,188,000. In 1923 the payroll jumped to $250,000 a month and the town made rapid growth to its present population of 6000. Its assessed valuation today is $11,815,813.95. Thirty separate industries show a payroll of $780,000. The postoffice receipts are five times their former figure and the town long ago rated as a city of the sixth class. There are about 100 different business houses and establishments and the town embraces 300 blocks, contrasted with the original 10. Industries range from tile and brick factories to asphalt works, taking in various sheet metal, forging, machine and oil tool manufacturing plants, together with the oil and gasoline plants of the many producers. The town extends back on a slightly mesa from an elevation of 30 feet above sea level, gradually

REAL ESTATE MAN HAS OLD PICTURES

C. D. Heartwell, veteran real estate man of Huntington Beach, can say truthfully that he has done business in the same spot for 20 years in his present building. A small structure, this building was erected by him at 308 Ocean avenue, in 1905, and has been continuously occupied by him since this time.

Through his long business dealings with the public, Heartwell has established a reputation for integrity in dealing that is one of the assets of his present business. To any one who desires to see the contrast in former days of Huntington Beach and the present day growth, Heartwell has on exhibition some pictures taken in the early days which are interesting and, but for their inability to reproduce, would have been shown in the illustrated matter of this section.

Heartwell is glad to show these pictures of scenes of former days to any who call at his place of business.

Hardware Store Is Well Stocked

One of the substantial business men of Huntington Beach is Willis H. Warner, proprietor of the Warner Hardware establishment on Main street. Mr. Warner has been in the present business 14 months but he was previously known and acquainted here as he has a business at Westminster. Mr. Warner has recently added to his stock and now carries as complete a line as any in a city of the sixth class. His values have compared very favorably with those of the hardware stores of other towns and he had found the local patrons prefer to trade with a home institution where all things are equal. He has built up a splendid business which is steadily gaining in proportions. His location is an excellent one, being close to the water front, thus favoring his sporting goods lines and yet accessible to the housewives of the community.

H. B. TRUSTEE IS AGENT FOR BUICK

W. R. Wharton recently bought into the garage and Buick agency in Huntington Beach being conducted under the name of the "Whitfield Garage, Incorporated." Wharton is a member of the city board of trustees and is an active worker for civic betterment. It was on his motion and urgent support that the city of Huntington Beach is to have a splendid Fourth of July celebration. When some thought the plan impossible, Wharton, with his characteristic energy, helped put it over.

Into the automobile business, Mr. Wharton has brought the same enthusiasm and activity that has characterized his public life. Since taking over the Buick agency Wharton and his force have made a splendid record in sales. He has eight cars to his credit this month, which compares favorably with the sales production in much larger towns than Huntington Beach.

The garage employs a staff of four mechanics and does a general repair business besides featuring Buick service. The firm carries a complete stock of tires and accessories.

Fix It Shop Man Has Good Business

F. M. Reeves is one who believes that if you do a thing better than your fellow man the world will make a path to your door. Though doing small things, such as a general fix it repair business and conducting a motor and "bike" shop, repairing and selling motorcycles and bicycles and handling tires and accessories, the constant faithful performance of the small things is bringing him a modest measure of success. Reeves was formerly an oil gager and sugar beet factory worker who has found that building a business for himself is much better than working for the other fellow. Being a welder and brazer in such a field has brought much business to Reeves.

OLD BARKENTINE ANCHORED THREE MILES FROM SHORE FOR USE AS FISHING BOAT

There has been a public demand and a desire on the part of many individuals for an off-shore fishing barge at Huntington Beach for a number of years. Six years ago, E. B. Stevens, local real estate man and community booster, began working to secure such feature for this section of the coast, and its completion this week marks the culmination of his six-year fight.

Eugene Lindley and Charles H. Warner are the proprietors of the barge. They were assisted in securing the franchise and making arrangements for landing and terminal facilities at the pier by Stevens, who had no interest in the undertaking except a public-spirited desire to see the fulfillment of his plans for a local fishing barge superior to anything on the coast.

Messrs. Warner and Lindley purchased the four-masted barkentine Jane L. Stanford from the Dollar interests, in San Francisco and brought it to Huntington Beach, where it has been fully equipped with engines, winches and complete machinery for barge purposes. The barge is 210 feet long and has a 52-foot beam. It has a complete capacity for 52 staterooms, of which 22 have been fitted up for present use.

Twice Around Globe
The Jane L. Stanford circled the globe twice and until two years ago was used in the lumber and copra trade in the South Sea Islands. It is anchored three miles off shore over a horseshoe or v-shaped cleft in the rock bank where the water is 65 feet deep. This point is only a short distance from the edge of the kelp beds, thus affording splendid fishing, as it is located in the feeding ground of many varieties of fish.

Though there are five anchors on board for emergency use, one anchor is sufficient to hold the barge in place and is the only one in use at present. The barge is equipped with power pumps, gas and steam engines, winches, hoists, donkey boilers and is just as safe and seaworthy as a passenger liner. It is declared. There is ample room on the 210-foot deck for many fishing parties. A first-class restaurant is maintained aboard, with Don Smith

OIL DISCOVERY IN 1920 LEADS TO INFUX OF WELL DRILLERS

Initial Producer Yielding 50 Barrels Daily, Leads to Much Development

DRILLING METHODS ARE REVOLUTIONIZED

Rotary Rigs Given First Real Tryout at Field And Prove Big Success

A very comprehensive discussion of the performance, characteristics and future possibilities of the oil fields in and around Huntington Beach, worded so that laymen will enjoy reading it, has been written for the Huntington Beach special section by R. M. Harris, widely known geologist. No subject is of more general interest at present and the treatment of the subject by a man so well informed as Mr. Harris will be very fitting in this section and will furnish interesting data to many readers.

The discovery well was drilled to 2351 feet and developed only 50 barrels of low gravity oil but it was sufficient in itself to justify a sudden influx of companies and operators from all over the country and the subsequent rapid development of the field. The discovery well was drilled to 2351 feet and developed only 50 barrels of low gravity oil but it was sufficient in itself to justify a sudden influx of companies and operators from all over the country and the subsequent rapid development of the field.

May Outstrip Other Fields
Production at Huntington Beach has not been as spectacular as it has been in some of the other fields of the basin. It has, nevertheless, been remarkable and bids fair to outlive many of the other fields.

Huntington Beach rightly claims its share of responsibility for the perfection of modern drilling methods. Prior to 1920, wells were usually drilled with cable tools and were drilled to depths seldom beyond 3500 feet. Mechanical trouble usually prevented the wells from being drilled deeper. A 4000 foot hole was unusual and a 5000 foot hole was extraordinary. The time required to reach these depths was figured in terms of years rather than in months. The discovery of prolific sands below 3500 feet at Huntington Beach decidedly increased competition and resulted in a frenzied effort of operators to get there first. The result was the wholehearted acceptance of the rotary drill to secure speed to accomplish this end. Deep wells drilled to 4500 and 5000 feet soon became a common-place occurrence throughout the field.

Of course, there must be, in the beginning, an oil field to develop but the volume of oil to be recovered and the life of a field are largely dependent upon the manner in which the field is developed. The development of the Huntington Beach field marked a new era in oil field drilling. Much of the guess and many of the hazards incidental to the proper development of a field were removed during the first few years of this field's history. The rotary method of drilling and prospecting for oil and gas, although by no means new to the profession, had never before received the unqualified approval of the oil men. The use of core-barrels in determining the character of formation penetrated had its inception and was perfected with the early drilling of this field.

In drilling the discovery well, a 120 foot body of tar sand was encountered at a depth near 2000 feet. This tar sand yields a heavy viscous oil of 14 degrees gravity. The yield is small but because of its certain lubricating properties its extraction is still profitable in some six or seven wells. A source of production was found immediately below this tar sand which later came to be known as the Bolsa Zone. This zone is about 600 feet thick. The same zone was developed simultaneously by the Standard Oil Company operating in Bolsa Chico No. 1 in the northwest end of the field and by E. J. Milroy operating in his well No. 1 located in the eastern part of the field. Because of the distance between the two wells, this zone was at first spoken of as the Bolsa Zone and sometimes as the Milley Zone. Within recent years there has been a tendency to eliminate both of these names and refer to this zone as the Upper Zone. Production from this horizon reached its maximum in April 1922, nearly two years after the discovery of the field.

GIVE HISTORY OF BLACK GOLD DEVELOPMENTS

Ashton Zone Located
About a year after the discovery of oil at Huntington Beach and during the time the Upper Zone was being developed, the Edystone Oil corporation, now the Shell Oil company, discovered a source of oil at a depth of 840 feet. It is remarkable that the Edystone company did not know at the time they cemented their water string that it was cemented above a zone of tremendous potential possibilities. The discovery of 1300 barrels of oil, April 20, 1921, in this well marked the opening up of a new zone. Coincident with this discovery was that of the Republic Producing company in its Kirk No. 1 well. This horizon is still referred to as the Ashton Zone by virtue of the Edystone Oil corporation discovery in the Edystone No. 1 well.

Development of the Upper Zone was curtailed following the discovery of the deeper sand and as the operators turned their efforts toward reaching the more prolific production of the lower zone. Possibilities of the Upper Zone as a source of future production were not considered following the development of the sands of high gas pressure at depth.

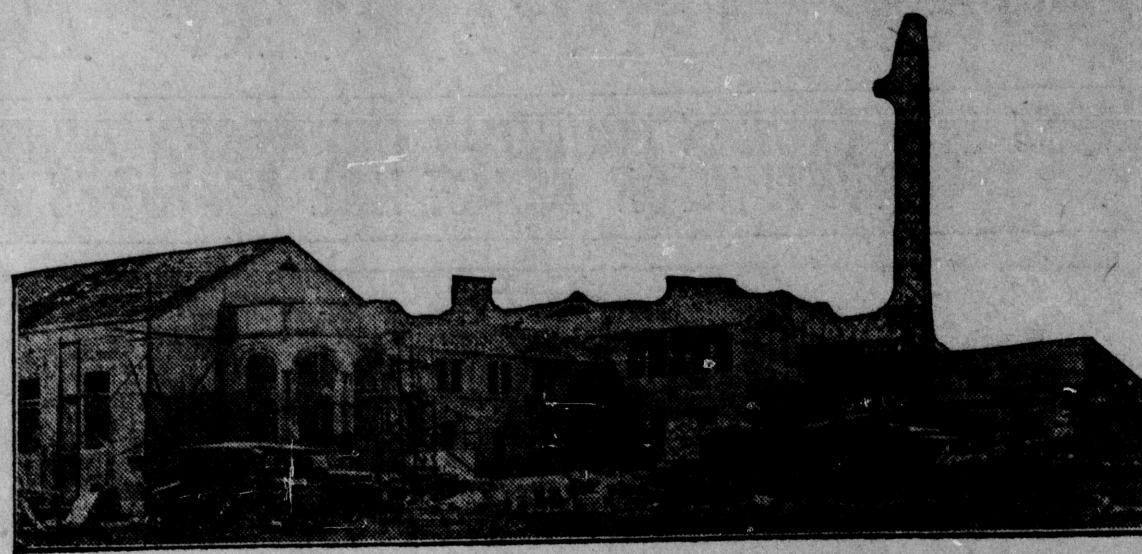

The discovery wells drilled in the lower zone penetrated about 200 feet of productive formation. Since this time, the Milley-Keck Oil company, California Petroleum corporation, Standard, Shell and Union Oil companies have penetrated successively as high as 1400 feet of the lower zone. These formations have been free from water until within the last two years. Incidental with the development of the lower zone, an intermediate water was found lying between the upper and lower zone. This water came to be known as the Copeland Water. It is fairly persistent throughout the entire field and in many instances has been a serious obstacle to overcome. Practically all of the wells now producing from the lower zone in this field secured a water shut-off below this horizon. It has been found that its elimination is almost impossible once it has broken into a well through failure of shut-off. It required nearly two years for the production of the lower zone to reach a maximum which was obtained in April 1923.

Encounter Porter Water
Incidental to the development of the lower zone, an intermediate water was encountered at a depth of about 170 feet below the top of the zone. This was called the Porter Water, having first been developed in the Mosier Special Porter No. 1 well. Additional proof of the existence of this water was found in the drilling of the Milley-Keck No. 7, Republic Kirk No. 1, and Huntington Signal No. 1 wells. There is reason to believe that the water is migrating up the dip from these wells in which it was first found but so far it exists only locally.

The first completions within the Ashton Zone secured a shut-off below the Porter Water horizon and produced from below it. Throughout the center and eastern portions of the field a uniform shut-off below this water was relied upon to prevent the migration of the Porter Water from well to well.

In drilling Milley-Keck Oil company well No. 31, located at the intersection of Garfield and Main streets, a new water horizon was discovered. This has since come to be known as the Milley-Keck 31 water and exists at a depth of 750 feet below the top of the lower zone. This water exists only locally and has not yet affected wells drilled considerably higher on the structure than Milley-Keck No. 31.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR HIGH SCHOOL IS UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN BEACH TOWN

New $500,000 union high school building, now under construction in Huntington Beach

Within the last year, however, this water has made a considerable advance up the dip. There are as many as 20 wells within the close proximity of Milley-Keck No. 31 which have experienced considerable water trouble due to its migration. Of course, this is only true of those wells drilled prior to the discovery of this water in which cases no provision was made for its exclusion. Wells drilled subsequent to the discovery of the Milley-Keck 31 water cemented the water strings below it and effectively eliminated it. Recently there has been some evidence of a water horizon still lower than that of Milley-Keck 31 but it must exist considerably down the dip and there is not sufficient evidence to positively identify its existence.

The northwest end of the field presents an individual water problem somewhat different from that described for the area contiguous to Milley-Keck No. 31. In this section of the field there has been found a water designated as the Brown water horizon. This water, like the Porter water in the Milley-Keck 31 area, exists on the edge of the field and at a horizon from 200 to 400 feet below the top of the lower zone. The northwest end of the field was practically drilled up prior to the invasion of this water; consequently, no provision was made for its exclusion. It has not yet seriously affected the favorable production obtained in this part of the field. Below the Brown water horizon lies the Pearce 6 water. This water presents one of the most serious problems within this entire section at this time.

Pearce Water Troubles
The northwest extension of the field has and probably will continue to produce much more favorably than any other section of the Huntington Beach field. The Pearce 6 water is threatening this favorable production and naturally enough it is offering a problem of considerable interest and vital importance. This water horizon is approximately 1000 feet below the top of the lower zone. It appears to be under considerable pressure and is advancing up the dip at an alarming rate. In some instances wells have been plugged in the bottom and have effectively eliminated this water but at this time its exact location has not been identified sufficiently close to permit its exclusion without at the same time losing an appreciable volume of oil.

The area adjacent to Delaware avenue and Springfield street has recently given evidence of some favorable production which heretofore was not thought to exist. This area has been more indiscriminately drilled than was the Milley-Keck 31 area and the area of the northwest end. The condition is true due to the fact that this area was more of a town lot proposition and consequently was drilled by many miscellaneous operators rather than by a few. Uniformity of water shut-off was not adhered to as religiously as in other sections of the field. The result has been a series of complex water problems caused from the infiltration of water from one well to another. There is at present a prevailing interest as to the possibilities of this part of the field. During the past week, Sun Oil company well No. 7 was completed as a flowing well and produced between 300 and 400 barrels of oil. This is a remarkable accomplishment; the location of this well having always been thought to be particularly adverse with respect to structure. If it develops that a favorable well can be secured at this location there will be some additional development work done in this section.

The surf area is described as the most easterly portion of the field, lying in what is locally known as the river bottom. It is thought that this area marks the limit of accumulation of the Huntington Beach structure. In this direction a discovery of a tremendous volume of gas has been made within the past week but because of the number of wells already drilled in this section it is thought that no future discovery of particular import will be made here.

Town Lot Activity
The town lot area lying on either side of Main street and south of Quincy avenue was a scene of considerable activity in the early history of the field. Throughout this general area an oil of low gravity is produced. The wells are all shallow and produce from the upper Bolca zone first discovered in the discovery well of the field. Several wells have been drilled in an effort to develop lower producing horizons but it is now fairly positive that the lower horizons are not productive throughout this area. Because of the intensive drilling and the lack of favorable showings at depth it is not anticipated that the area will develop any additional production that is not already known to exist.

At present the town lot area adjacent to Ocean Avenue and 23rd street is attracting the interest of oil companies throughout Southern California. It has developed that there is a possibility of securing a production east of 23rd street. Favorable production has been proven on the barley flats west of 23rd street. It is not known at this time whether or not production will be obtained throughout this area but several wells are now drilling to determine this fact. If any of the present work should develop a commercial well, much of the old time activity will be renewed in this field and Huntington Beach will once more command the interest and attention of the oil world.

It will be readily understood why it is that salt water is the oil man's bug-bear. The advance of intermediate and bottom waters strike at the very heart of the oil field. As known waters continue to advance and as new waters appear they must be eliminated. With their elimination, there follows a loss of zone in which production could ordinarily be secured. A field continues to be a good field just so long as it is free from water. It is felt that remarkable progress has been made in methods of identifying these several waters and their subsequent elimination from the producing zones in this field.

Huntington Beach field is now entering its sixth year. It is of interest to note that several wells have produced over a million barrels of oil up to the present time and it is reported that one of the original discovery wells has produced close to two and one-half million barrels of oil. The field although older than any of the other big fields of the Los Angeles basin gives promise to continue to produce favorably for many more years. This opinion is held by the oil profession and is justified by a consideration of its performance to date.

PRESCOTT HAS COMPLETE LINE OF HARDWARE

An officer of several of the community organizations, secretary of a large building and construction company and proprietor of one of the largest hardware and builders supply houses, R. J. Prescott has been one of the busiest men in Huntington Beach, yet he always has found time to give time in the interest of public enterprise.

He has been seven years before the public in a business line and has established a prosperous hardware business, in addition to his outside interests.

He employs a large staff of salesmen in his store and maintains as complete a builders' hardware service, carrying as large a stock of general hardware supplies, as there is in the county.

Prescott recently added extensively to his stock of goods and is planning many features to take care of the expansion of his business.

HUNTINGTON BEACH CITY BAND ONE OF FINEST ORGANIZATIONS IN SOUTHLAND

The Huntington Beach band, which, under the management of William H. Gallienne and the direction of L. L. Gilmore, won a number of loving cups in competition with other musical organizations in the Southland.

is 501 lights, costing installed on an average of $200 each. The lights for Ocean avenue alone cost $18,500.

In addition to the paving program 14,175 lineal feet of concrete curbing has been installed.

Depression Not Extensive

While the slump in price of oil has considerably slackened activities in the oil field, Huntington Beach, because of the lasting character of the field, has not felt the extreme depression experienced in other fields. Some 600 derricks thrust themselves against the horizon. Of these only about 50 have failed to produce. While the flow of many of the heavy producers, such as the Bolsa No. 1, dropping from 1200 barrels to less than 1000 barrels, indicates less production, the field has shown a lasting and steady production. The entire field is producing between 42,000 and 45,000 barrels. The Ashton No. 1 produced 876,000 barrels to November, 1923, and is still on steady, if reduced production. Figured at $1.20 a barrel, the total sum of $19,710,000 has been produced in the Huntington Beach field.

Naturally a business reaction has been felt in the town, but even with the low ebb of corresponding business activity, Huntington Beach is more stable now than at any time in her history and has not experienced the absolute deflation and business depression that has come to purely beach and pleasure towns that have not had the benefit of other industries.

Business Progresses Steadily

All business has progressed steadily and there is at present a greater demand for homes of the better class than there is supply, in spite of the fact that a very large number of new homes have been built in the last year. The advertising support given to this section is an indication of the general prosperity and business progress of the community.

There is now proven and undeveloped in and adjoining Huntington Beach 2500 acres of productive oil lands.

Huntington Beach has been favored with an abundance of pure water and the Huntington Beach Water company, under the management of H. V. Anderson, has steadily improved and added to its equipment until its plant and mains represent an investment of a quarter of a million dollars. The water is 98 per cent pure and is drawn from artesian wells of an average depth of 165 feet.

Peculiarly affected by ocean currents, Huntington Beach can truthfully claim the coolest place on the coast in summer and the mildest climate in winter.

Only 14 miles from Santa Ana and 32 miles from Los Angeles, so near to the largest population centers of Southern California, the town has been especially desirable as a home building city, as well as a pleasure resort. It is served by the Pacific

Electric and the Southern Pacific railroads, and with the Santa Fe and Union Pacific through transfer and switching facilities at Santa Ana. Freight rates on commodity lots are as low as in any other section of Southern California, thus favoring the location and future development of industries of many kinds. Land is available for industrial sites, with all facilities for shipping and public utilities, for $700 an acre and upward.

CHRYSLER CAR AGENTS SET UP SALES RECORD

When his family insisted that he give up his career on the track, where he had established a record with his Chrysler number nine car, L. F. Groover had formed such an attachment for automobiles and particularly Chryslers that, he immediately got into the game with his brother, G. A. Groover, and the two have established a record in car sales and service that has almost equaled the record made by L. F. Groover on the track.

Mr. Groover has been 18 years in the automobile business and is a registered mechanic wearing the three A badge of the automobile association of America. He has also driven in addition to serving as mechanic and holds a state record of one mile in 31 seconds which is the record for the straightaway mile.

An interesting side light on his racing career was that in the race immediately following the last one Mr. Groover made, an employee, driving Groover's car, was killed in a track accident in Arizona while trying to beat the record established by Mr. Groover. Mr. Groover still owns the racing car which has been reconditioned and is doing track service. Mr. Groover says that the only way he can defeat the wild speed desire to get back on the fascinating track is to try to establish a sales record in Chrysler cars, which he is doing with 11 sales to his credit since one month ago and seven cars to be delivered.

The Groover Brothers garage has the sole Chrysler agency and service and maintains a force of seven mechanics. It has splendid mechanical equipment and ample room for storage.

While specializing on Chrysler cars, Groover brothers also do a general garage and repair business and do mechanical work on all makes of cars.

H. B. Battery Man Adds Equipment

Lewis E. Lee, local Exide Battery representative and proprietor of the auto electric and ignition business, on Main street, operated the first exclusive battery station in Huntington Beach. He does a general electrical and battery business on all makes of batteries, though local representative for the one he selected as the most serviceable on the market. He recently installed new equipment which will permit him to do battery charging on a larger scale.

BEACH C. OF C. IS COMMENDED FOR ITS WORK

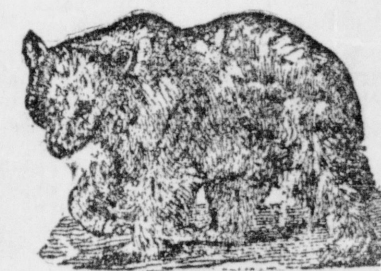

The work of the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce during the last year has been commended by many. Under the leadership of C. P. Patton, president, and through the activity of Secretary Armitage, much work of a constructive nature has been accomplished.

Correlating its efforts with the other civic organizations, it has recommended to the city trustees important measures and through committees has done active work before the county board of supervisors. Accomplishments include the securing by this active body of community playgrounds for children, municipal auto camp, and the stimulating of the improvement by residents of homes and lawns, fruitful boosting for good roads, the improving of electric car service, securing increased shipments of peppers and other products from the surrounding territory and the dissemination of information of a beneficial nature through its well located office at the pier entrance, where hundreds of visitors stop daily for various forms of information.

HIGHWAY WILL BE OPENED ON JULY 3, 4 AND 5

From those in charge of construction of the State highway between Newport and Laguna Beach comes word that from July 3 to 5 the road will be open through to Laguna Beach, with the exception of a strip across the north arm of the bay at Balboa. Connection may be made by ferry or by detouring from the Santa Ana road at the Country club.

Each Saturday and Sunday the force of laborers will be withdrawn and the road opened to the public. The strip on which the pavement is now being poured and bridging done across the north arm of the bay will not be completed for 30 days. With the completion of this strip will come the greatest rush of traffic through Huntington Beach that the town has ever witnessed. It is predicted, all down the line from Long Beach, San Pedro and Redondo come anxious inquiries concerning the opening of this strip. The route will be on the main line of travel from these points to San Diego.

Already all business houses located on the boulevard report greatly increased traffic since the highway has been opened through to Newport. Garages, oil stations and those in a position to note the increase in transient traffic say that twice as many cars traverse this highway now than before the opening of the road to Newport. These reports indicate what is to be expected with completion of the entire highway in 30 days. This strip now incomplete is a very difficult portion of the road work included in the contract of W. B. Beal, of Brawley, for the eight miles of paving from the east boundary of the town of Balboa to the Balboa Palisades.

TWO FIRMS HOUSED UNDER SAME ROOF

A house that is not divided against itself can certainly stand such is the belief of the men comprising two separate businesses so similar that, under the same roof, they have been quite successful though divided into two independent branches of industrial work.

D. L. Johnston as auto top man and Sennett and Roberts in their "S and R" paint shop at 314 Third street all work together in harmony and turn out work that pleases. Usually when the S. and R. gets a paint job, Mr. Johnston is very likely to put on a new top and many a patron who comes for upholstery repair or the installation of a new top for his car finds that the suggestion given by a shiny new top is too strong to resist the appeal of the "S and R" prices for a complete new Duco or Opex lacquer job on the body. All parties to this mutual arrangement are prospering and the shop is always a busy center of activity. A visit to the shop undoubtedly gives a contagious affect of putting the "fix up, paint up" urge into the visitor's system.

ARROW GARAGE IS OWNED BY MILLER

Six years in the automobile business in the same location, is a record of pioneering made by G. W. Miller of the Arrow garage. Miller owns his own building and has a well equipped mechanical department of the garage. He has complete cylinder grinding equipment and does a large part of the cylinder grinding which formerly went to outside towns because of lack of local machinery to do this difficult class of mechanical work. Miller enjoys a very large and prosperous business in his line. He is agent and service representative for the Dodge car.

Woman Is Active On Realty Board

Mrs. Marie J. Wiener holds the unusual position of being the only active woman member of the Realty board. Mrs. Wiener has been a resident of Huntington Beach for three years and has been in her present business two years. In this time she has established quite a realty brokerage business and lists a large number of very influential persons as her clients.

Mrs. Wiener is active in all public affairs and is working hard at present giving all her time and energy without remuneration to the baby show which will help to make the Fourth of July celebration a success. Any one interested in entering babies or in making suggestions for the success of the baby show should communicate with Mrs. Wiener.

Beach Hotel Fills Long Felt Demand

Anxious that visitors to Huntington Beach might have the best in hotel accommodations, W. S. Tubach, though an extremely busy man as head of the United Realty and Finance corporation, opened the Kenwood hotel at 116 Main street, where outside rooms and the best of furnishings have filled a demand for rooms of this class on the part of the public. This hotel, located in the central part of the business section yet near the beach, has been popular from the first with all classes of patrons.

PUBLIC LIBRARY ONE OF BEAUTIFUL STRUCTURES IN HUNTINGTON BEACH

MUCH LAND IS UTILIZED FOR GROWING BEANS

On no less an authority than the U. S. department of agriculture, the information is gained that two small sections of land embracing parts of two coastal counties furnish three fourths of the entire bean supply of the world. Though beans are grown in various states from Michigan to the southern states, the ideal climatic conditions necessary for the perfect setting of blossoms and the most fruitful production is found only in a limited area, where temperature and humidity are rightly proportioned for all requirements of this seemingly fastidious soil feeder, the lima bean and its relations, the baby lima and Henderson bush.

Section Is Favored

This favored section, which has proven the only ideal location for lima bean growing, is in an area finally small compared to the area of the world market it supplies. It embraces the low coastal valley of Ventura county from Oxnard to Santa Barbara, only a few miles wide, and the coastal region of Orange county. Of these two sections, the largest area devoted to the raising of beans is in Orange county and the largest bean farm in the world is that of the Irvine ranch.

Efforts have been made in other coastal regions and at interior locations to secure a profitable yield of the lima, but all other sections have proven unproductive and only this limited region is known as a bean country. The value of the bean crop as a soil builder is well known and the industrial value of a crop that makes big returns while building up the soil is so great that it can hardly be overestimated.

When the vast sea coast regions of this and other world continents are considered, it is really surprising that only these two small coastal areas out of the world's coast line present the necessary conditions for growing lima beans.

Grow Pimientos, Peppers
Practically all seed beans of all kinds and many other forms of seed are grown for commercial planting in this same area. The same conditions that favor the growing of lima beans, the cool humid atmosphere, with just enough sunlight and not too much, have also produced heavy yields of pimientos and peppers. The growing and drying of these and the shipping from Huntington Beach has developed into a very extensive industry, employing a large number of men.

All of the general intensive farming that is done in southern California are characteristic of Orange county and every such intensive form of farming is represented in and around Huntington Beach.

Fifth Anniversary Of Shop Observed

It is quite fitting that this edition will come out on practically the fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Marguerite Shop by Mrs. Marguerite Payne, as July 1 is the actual birthday of this institution. In the five years, Mrs. Payne has built up a splendid following and established a prosperous business in an exclusive women's wear line. This store carries one of the largest stocks of silk hosiery in the county and the line embraces all women's wearing apparel, including coats, dresses, lingerie and fancy goods.

Mrs. Payne gives special attention to beautiful window displays in exhibiting the splendid assortment she carries.

Beach Band Wins Competition Cups

The Huntington Beach band is an institution of which local persons are proud. This organization has been playing for ten years and has won some very fine cups at tournaments by in gone days. One of these trophies was won at Escondido at the Grove Festival.

The band is made up of 20 pieces, under the direction of L. L. Gilmore, with W. H. Gallienne as business manager. This is Mr. Gallienne's sixth year as manager of the band and he has proved efficient in this capacity. The concerts Sundays and at special functions have proven very popular at the beach and it is an organization well worthy of the support of all.

Photographer Has Fine Reputation As Camera Artist

In John P. Rabe, photographer, Huntington Beach has an artist who has spent nine years at Santa Ana specializing in child portraiture, some of his work ranking very highly in special exhibitions in competition with nationally known artists. Mr. Rabe also does commercial photography and retouching work. His location on the main street of the town is accessible to all. There are many of the old friends who will be glad to learn of his locating in Huntington Beach.

JURKOVICH SELLS FLINT MOTOR CAR

B. M. Jurkovich, proprietor of the Main Street garage, has won success from a good hard fight in the automobile business beginning in a small way six years ago and now owning his own building which has 6000 square feet of floor space and the very best mechanical equipment obtainable for his garage. He is the distributor of the Flint car and is local service representative for this well known machine.

Jurkovich has one of the best locations in the community, being close to the oil fields and yet near enough to the downtown section to make his place of business a suitable one for the town patronage as well as that of the workers from the oil fields.

The splendid record he has made for reliable workmanship has brought him continued success in his business and he has many local friends in the community. He does a general mechanical and automobile repair business.

Ford Agency Is Fully Equipped For Car Service

In the Ford sales and service business of W. D. Young is one of the most completely equipped Ford agencies in a town of the size of Huntington Beach to be found anywhere.

In his building, 100 by 117 feet, he has ample room for display of the large line of cars carried in stock with a large mechanical department which employs four mechanics.

One point on which Mr. Young has been quite emphatic is the fulfilling of the original Henry Ford intention of a complete service to every Ford buyer and not the average so-called service given by many who are in the game from the selling standpoint alone. It is the strict adherence to this policy which has built up the splendid business enjoyed by this large and prosperous establishment. The building occupied by this concern is one of the modern garage structures which has been a valuable contribution to the architectural beauty of Huntington Beach.

Billiard Parlor Gathering Place

Before there was any other public gathering place of note in Huntington Beach the old original pool hall of Lawton and Jones was the public meeting forum of the male element of the town.

This institution later became the Knott place and, under the present management of T. C. Vincent, has prospered under the name of the Royal Billiard Parlor. Vincent is well known among the oil workers and citizens of the beach town and has from time to time added to his equipment by the installation of additional tables and other fixtures. His personality has contributed much to the success of his business.

Magnolia Garage Well Established

G. M. Taylor, proprietor of the Magnolia garage, has resided in the vicinity of Huntington Beach for 25 years and has witnessed some very interesting changes in the community. He has been in his present business eight years and has built up a very large general automobile repair business because of the faithful performance of his work.

PLUNGE OFFERS ENJOYMENT TO H. B. SWIMMERS

Though a private institution, the Huntington Beach Plunge might well be classed as one of the public attractions of the beach to which many refer in telling of the attractions to pleasure seekers that their community possesses.

This plunge is of recent construction and, under the efficient management of J. M. Barlow, who is the builder and owner, has prospered and proved a very popular resort, not only for local residents but also for many who make weekly trips from the inland towns to enjoy the features of this splendid plunge.

Mr. Barlow has been one of the community's active boosters and has taken part in all moves to produce better facilities for the town and community. He has been quite original in different methods of interesting the public in the attractiveness of the local beach and his individual efforts to bring the better class of beach patronage to the town has been beneficial to all of those whose business activities are connected with the beach and pleasure seeking life. The entire community has benefited from the prominence of the bath house and the prosperity that this institution has enjoyed has aided the various other business houses and contributed to the general prosperity.

VULCANIZING SHOP FILLS GREAT NEED

When Moore and Churchill opened a general vulcanizing, tire and tube establishment in Huntington Beach they were filling a long felt want, as the sending of retread and city caning work outside of the city meant a delay to oil workers and local business men. They have the equipment to turn out all manner of vulcanizing work and the general consensus of opinion is that local patrons can secure a better class of workmanship at home for a sum more reasonable than they can secure in other cities.

The two partners are kept busy supplying their patrons with their class of service. They handle a complete line of tires, tubes and accessories.

Five years at his present location has made the business built by Mr. Robertson a good one and he is personally well known and liked in the community. Practically all oil worker and town made resident is known to Mr. Robertson by name and the personal element that enters into the transaction of clothing sales has been one of the contributing features in the success of this institution.

Once this business was known as Smith's, having been conducted under that name before Mr. Robertson purchased it. Some of the best known brands of clothing are carried by this house exclusively and the footwear line carried is a nationally-sought dealers product. Mr. Robertson is now conducting his annual sale and has been kept quite busy by the volume of business created. His sales are always noted for their money saving values.

Dr. Carlson Has Large Practice

Dr. Henry M. Carlson, graduate of the Palmer school of chiropractic, of Davenport, Ia., is one of the professional men of Huntington Beach who has established a large general practice. Dr. Carlson has been located in Huntington Beach for three years, where he has made many friends. Two innovations used by him in his practice are the instrument known as the neurocalometer and the Spears painless system of adjusting.

Auto Grounds Are Popular

CAMP PROVES GREAT ASSET TO BEACH CITY

The new Municipal auto camp, located 200 feet from the ocean strand, at First street, is proving quite popular with the public. This park has every feature for the convenience and comfort of those using it, including two large kitchens with gas plates, kitchen sinks, dining tables and seats. The park also has rest rooms, showers, wash stands, and drinking fountains.

It has recently been gravelled with granite and its wide drives and large stalls are so arranged as to allow the very smallest amount of congestion in getting in and out of the park.

A nominal charge is made for the use of the park and camping privileges and an attendant is in charge.

The ocean front has been improved with rest rooms, gas plates, tables, and play ground equipment for the children. Many visitors to the beach derive much comfort from these features and any week day sees large numbers of visitors enjoying the beach life.

The new concrete pier is said to be unequalled on this coast and daily is crowded with hordes of fishermen. It extends 1500 feet into the ocean and is ornamented with lights for night use. This pier has demonstrated that a structure of its kind may be serviceable and at the same time a thing of architectural beauty, and durability.

H. B. Confectioner Features Popcorn

J. F. Harris, who conducts the local candy manufacturing plant known as Harris' Home Made Candy Store, was the originator of the candied pop corn ball confection that is featured at every beach town and carnival or public gathering in this state. This confection has different features from just an ordinary combination of candied adhesive and popcorn, and it is the added quality of the innovation that has given the trade production of Mr. Harris a state-wide sale.

He wholesales an extremely large amount of this candy in addition to fudges and other manufactured products. Mr. Harris has been in his present location over two years, and besides supplying the local retail trade he ships a large amount of his product all over the state.

EXPECT RENEWAL OF OIL DRILLING

It is thought by many that a great increase in drilling activities will be witnessed in the next 30 days. No less than ten companies are expected to be forced to drill within 30 days as their leases require drilling by August 1. Among those who expect to drill are said to be the Richfield and Julian companies. It is not thought likely that any of the 20 companies granted leases requiring that drilling operations must be started before September 1 will permit their valuable leases to be forfeited for failure to start operations. These leases are considered so valuable that if the holding companies do not start work it is presumed that the leases will be subject to others who will attempt production.

Plumbing Shop In H. B. Is Busy Place

Proprietors Of H. B. Tackle Stand Do Big Business

In the beach and pier life of the fishermen of Huntington Beach there are no two better known men than C. K. Morrison and Harvey Walker, who conduct the bait stand at the end of the pier, having purchased this business October 15 from E. L. Curtis. Both men were formerly well known in the oil fields before their present vocation brought them in contact with local fishermen. Tons of razor clams and all forms of mussels and other bait are handled by this concern each week and often the demand for bait runs into such volume as to tax the ingenuity of these men to obtain large enough quantities to supply the demand. In season they supply live bait for halibut fishing and they carry as complete a line of rental equipment in poles, lines and fishing tackle as is maintained anywhere on the coast. They have especially pleased patrons by their courteous treatment and efforts to give the best of service.

The firm carries a large stock of plumbing fixtures and supplies and has built a reputation for expert workmanship that has made their services in demand.

PAVILION MANAGER PIONEER IN FIELD

Clyde C. Musgrave, in appearance would scarcely be taken for one of the pioneers of Huntington Beach, and yet he pioneered in the field of amusement and established his earliest efforts to amuse the public in a large tent on the beach. Today his dance pavilion has a floor space of 8000 square feet, and has provision for private dancing in boxes.

So well arranged is the dance floor, that a number of private dancing parties may be conducted at the same time in the separate box arrangement. A splendid seven piece orchestra is maintained and special dances are held every Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Brown and Cryder Are Popular Pair

Brown and Cryder of the Pastime pool hall are old time residents of Huntington Beach. R. D. Brown has resided here since 1895, and formerly was in business in a store and post office location. True M. Cryder, his partner, also has been in Huntington Beach for a number of years. Both are popular men and have built up a splendid business.

NOTED CHEF IS PROPRIETOR OF GOLDEN BEAR

It is only a natural consequence of the many public attractions of a beach town that a nationally known chef should make the city his home.

Harry Bakre, proprietor of the popular cafe, known as the Golden Bear, a copyrighted name, has seen active service in some of the largest cafes in New York and San Francisco. Some of his special dishes still are being used under permission in some of the cafes that cater to the night life of these cities. Bakre was for years with the Louvre, or the old time Black Cat, of San Francisco. He maintains a first class cafe in Huntington Beach and patrons come from Los Angeles, Hollywood and Pasadena to enjoy his special dishes.

He employs a large staff of experienced waitresses and the service he gives is equal to any cafe anywhere. Bakre makes a specialty of banquets, private dinner parties and special events in his cafe.

Dentist Graduates At Kansas City

Dr. F. F. Pound, practicing dentist, at 115 Main street, Huntington Beach, is a graduate of the Kansas City Dental college. He is registered in the state of New York and for 15 years practiced on Forty-second street in New York City.

He was an active member of the First District Dental Society of New York. He also conducted a tutoring class for registering dentists for 10 years.

With Dr. Herbert F. Cady, he had charge of the dental department of the post-graduate medical college of New York City, for one year. He was registered in California in 1921 and has been practicing in Huntington Beach for the last five years, and has made many friends there.

Music House Man Has Full Stock

H. J. Glockner, manager of the first exclusive music house and musicians supply store in Huntington Beach, has in his five years of service to the community, built up a splendid business in his line. He carries the only complete stock of small stringed instruments and is the local representative for Brunswick supplies. He is also agent for several well known makes of pianos. His sheet music and record department is as complete as any city store and he maintains a service to musicians that is unequalled. His concerts for the public entertainment have proven an attraction for visitors and local residents.

Expert Has Used Automobile Lot

Having put in nine years with large automobile concerns in New York and on the Pacific coast, Leon Eccles was particularly well fitted for this line when he opened his used car lot in Huntington Beach. Mr. Eccles makes a specialty of buying and selling used cars for cash and he has established quite a prosperous business.

His lot, at times, is filled to capacity with open and closed models of different makes of cars and no small number of the cars sold have not yet done their first 1000 miles. Mr. Eccles maintains his own repair shop and mechanics employed see that all cars sold go out in first class mechanical condition.

Andrews Active In Real Estate

One of the active real estate men of Huntington Beach is S. E. Andrews who, in the last four years in business here, has built up a large clientele. Andrews is one of the substantial men of the community and many persons rely on his judgment of real estate values. He does a general real estate and insurance business.

NEW SCHOOL IN BEACH CITY TO COST $500,000

The new Huntington Beach union high school, now under construction, a picture of which is shown in this issue, will bring the school plant and educational facilities of Huntington Beach up to those of any other community of its size in the state. This building when completed will cost a little over $500,000. The grammar school cost $300,000. The sum necessary for the building of the new high school was made available by the addition to the building fund of $300,000 voted in the bond election of last August.

Although the old main building had undergone various enlarging and rearranging processes from time to time, to meet the growth of student enrollment and the changing scope of the educational curriculum, it was found that the present building was the only feasible solution of the problem.

In the planning of this building and equipment, advantage was taken of an extended investigation by school housing experts employed by the trustees.

Figures on Enrollment

The student enrollment in 1918 was 137. In 1924, it was 373. The enrollment of the elementary schools constituting the union high school district ranged from 689, in 1918, to 2081, in 1924. Census statistics indicate that there will be an enrollment of around 600 additional pupils in the next five years.

The old school ground fronts on Main and lies between Manson and Union avenues. Its area is 8.63 acres. Including an abandoned alley and the site purchased between Union avenue and Union street, the area of land added was 9.73 acres, bringing the total area of the grounds of the high school up to 18.55 acres. The completion of pavement on the surrounding streets, some of which are 120 feet between property lines, makes the grounds and streets ample for future use.

The trustees have tried to make the new structure something more than the cold block-house type of building of olden days. The happy and beneficial effects on the mind of the student of artistic and pleasing environment will not be overlooked and the resulting building has combined the types of architecture common to the Mediterranean countries of Italy, Spain and France, but has the individuality that characterizes Southern California buildings. The recreation rooms provide for 500 students. The administration offices and rooms, library, cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasium will accommodate a much larger number. Special facilities, such as laboratories, will accommodate 600 students. The plan provides for additional buildings to be added in future years without disturbing the symmetry of architectural effect of the group.

The old main building was moved and incorporated in the unit of the new group of buildings. The main building, fronting on Main street, is two stories high and in plan forms a quadrangle. The interior of which will have a grass covered patio or court upon which the library and recreation rooms will face. Extending toward the south, the continuation of the Main street facade are the domestic science department and cafeteria, including housekeeping suite, sewing room and cooking laboratory. The building is fire-proof, all materials being of brick or concrete and it is extremely well lighted and ventilated. The gymnasium is of sufficient size to take care of the physical program. It is a separate unit of frame and steel construction, with an outside stucco finish. The space under the bleachers on one side will have the offices of the instructor, clinic, showers and lockers for girls, and similar accommodations on the other side for boys. The ample grounds provide track and field meet space and lawn.

Huston Brothers Active In City's Realty Affairs

J. Ed Huston and D. W. Huston, of the realty firm of Huston, Suter and Huston, are two of the most active men in realty affairs in the community and men who have contributed substantially to the development of the town.

Messrs. Huston are the only active members of the firm at present, the former member being no longer actively associated with the Huston brothers in the business.

The firm does a large general real estate and insurance business and it has been active in the leasing and development of oil lands.

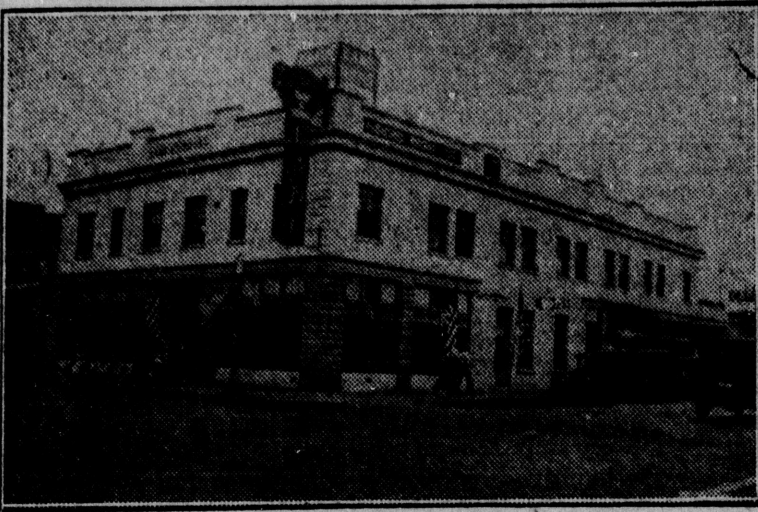

They have made their home in Huntington Beach since the early days and their interests and energies always have been allied with the growth of the town and upbuilding of the community.

Shoe Store Man Sees Town Grow

Very few persons can beat the pioneer service record of B. T. Mallica, who has been in his present location for 12 years. In this time he has witnessed some astonishing changes in the town and he has been an active element in all of its activities. His business having grown with it. Mr. Mallica, in addition to maintaining the finest shoe repair equipment in the county, carries a complete line of shoes.

His knowledge of the proper method of manufacture, because of the fact that he is a shoemaker himself, enables him to secure the very best quality in all his shoe stocks.

MANY FINE STRUCTURES IN HUNTINGTON BEACH BUILT SINCE PEAK OF OIL BOOM

Such a large amount of building of commercial structures was done in the oil boom period of 1923 that the building of business houses and blocks of commercial buildings has not progressed as rapidly in Huntington Beach this year as previously, though the town can show a number of exceptionally fine structures recently erected.

Among these is the beautiful building erected by James H. Macklin at the corner of Ocean avenue and Third streets now occupied by the Security garage. It is a building of which the community is justly proud. Beautiful in its exterior finishing, and covering almost a fourth of an entire block, this building is conspicuous on the new coast highway. The interior of the building is beautifully finished in a very new type of irregular surfaced plastering of a very delicate tint. A mezzanine floor above furnishes office quarters for the garage and the first floor, with its unusually wide display windows, forms a splendid display room for automobiles.

Large Parking Space

The entire rear section of the building provides Manager Charles Vernon of the Security garage the largest mechanical work room and storage garage in the entire county. The basement provides dry parking for 75 cars. This building would be a credit to any automobile industry in Los Angeles and for a town the size of Huntington Beach it is certainly an exceptionally fine structure. This building cost actual contractors price $32,000.

New Wupperman Building

Another very fine building just completed 20 days ago is the new brick structure of Mary A. Wupperman at the corner of Fifth and Ocean. This building has not so far been leased for store purposes as it has just been completed but several concerns are negotiating it as a future home. Mrs. Wupperman divided her time between Huntington Beach and Yuma, Ariz., having homes in both places. She has opened an office in her new building here. This building is 40 feet by 110 feet and contains four stories 40 by 50 feet. There are 16 office rooms upstairs. The building is modern throughout and has all the latest plumbing, heating, lighting and ventilating features. Its estimated cost is in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Other buildings that are of recent date are the R. L. Obarr block, housing the O. B. drug store and a number of other business stores. The Dr. Shank building is a new addition to the good buildings of Huntington Beach. In this building are located the two progressive firms, the Marinello Beauty Parlor and the McIntosh Electric Concern.

The buildings occupied by the three banks and the Warner Hardware store are all splendid structures of comparatively recent erection. The adjoining business houses occupied by the Glockner brothers and several other of the business houses, though not built of a very recent date, are nevertheless modern buildings that have added to the town's appearance. The Edison Company has contributed two new structures, a large warehouse and an office building.

The modern new school plant is spoken of elsewhere in this issue.

CLOTHIER AIDS IN CITY DEVELOPMENT

Frank A. Glockner, proprietor of the men's shop under his name, is one of the men who have aided in the business advancement of Huntington Beach. He has always strived to obtain the best and most complete stock in his line for his patrons and has featured service as well as quality. Mr. Glockner has proven an exceptionally "good mixer" and has friends all over town. Never a seeker of undue publicity, Mr. Glockner has in a quiet and unassuming way done his bit in the upbuilding of the community and his business has prospered. He was one of the first to see the expansion that was due to come in the area of the business section and the first of the present chain of business houses to locate at the upper, or northern end, of the town where the new business section grew up as a result of the oil field development.

Butcher Pharmacy Long Established

B. Butcher, proprietor of Butcher's pharmacy, has been doing business in his present location for seven years, during which time he has built a large list of friends and patrons. The location of the pharmacy is an ideal one, as it commands both the beach area and the business and residence section. Mr. Butcher has been prominently identified with all the activities of the community and has contributed materially to its progress and prosperity. He has shown his faith in the town by the erection of a fine home which is a contribution to the better buildings of the residence section.

Beach Bank Is In Healthy Condition

An institution that has proven of much benefit to the local community is the First National Bank, which is particularly one of home people for the home community. This bank, under efficient management, has prospered and has contributed its share to the upbuilding of the town. One of its active executives is W. B. Mandeville, who has been prominent in the social and civic activities of the community. Mr. Mandeville is one of those substantial men of the town whose judgment and loyal work have benefited the entire community.

City Development Is Rapid

BANK DEPOSITS IN BEACH CITY SHOW INCREASE

Bank deposits in Huntington Beach, which amounted to only $800,000 in 1920, have mounted until today the deposits of three banks in the city amount to $2,500,000. Assessed valuations of the town have raised from $2,087,750 in 1920 to $11,900,000.

Instead of the one lone oil well, which graced the town in 1920, there are now 492 wells in the oil field. Postal receipts have also shown a remarkable gain, raising from $6724 in 1920 to more than $30,000 during the past year.

Big School Being Built
Schools in the town are among the best in the state. Approximately $1,000,000 is invested in public schools in the beach oil town. A new section to the grammar school was recently completed at an expenditure of $230,000. School buildings valued at more than $250,000 were already included in the grammar school group when this addition was made. More than 1100 children attend the Huntington Beach elementary schools. A new $500,000 plant is now under construction for the 400 high school students of the district.

Industries have played an important part in the history of Huntington Beach. A few years ago, the Holly Sugar company, employing a huge crew of men, was operating with an annual payroll of $350,000. The coming of oil, however, saw the abandonment of the sugar plant and its utilization for a gasoline plant.

Town Boasts Big Payroll
Several industries have been established in connection with the oil business. Among the oil firms of the town are the Muller Machine and Forge company, with an annual payroll of $15,000; the Standard Machine company, with a payroll of $21,600 a year and the S. R. Bowen company, with a payroll each year of $45,000.

Other industries, according to a recent survey compiled by the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce's secretary, J. A. Armistead, the La Balsa Tile company, with an annual payroll of $19,000; the Beach Broom company with a payroll of $10,500; the Huntington Beach Creamery, with a payroll of $16,500; the Huntington Beach Asphalt works, with a payroll of $120,000; the Huntington Beach Sheet Metal and Tank works, which employs men at salaries aggregating $9000 each year, and numerous others.

OPERATES RESTAURANT
John N. Wharton has been a resident of Huntington Beach for five and one-half years and in his first-class restaurant, on Main street, has built up a splendid patronage. Wharton has quarters and a permit for private dancing in the rear of the restaurant.

ALL ADMINISTRATION OFFICES HOUSED IN NEW HUNTINGTON BEACH CITY HALL

New city hall, which houses all branches of the city administration. Basement below is city fire station, which houses most modern fire fighting apparatus and police department.

CANADY EARLY BUSINESS MAN IN BEACH CITY

While nearly every town furnishes its pioneers, few can boast of a jeweler who has been in the business 16 years. Yet this is the record of T. R. Canady. Canady's business has grown and prospered with the upbuilding of the town. He has specialized in gems and has a number of clients who are purchasers of diamonds coming to him from all over the county because of his judgment on rare stones. In his long years as a jeweler, Canady has become a connoisseur of gems of all kinds and it is this knowledge that brings patrons from a wide area to consult him for advice on gems.

Canady has installed a large street clock that is used as a town clock by the residents of the municipality. He also has added many other mechanical devices, recently installing an air suction system for ventilating his store.

Insurance Man Is Booster for City

It was E. B. Stevens who put over the big parade for the new barge and Stevens always has proven a public-spirited booster in civic affairs. He is engaged in a general real estate and insurance business and is one of the pioneers of the city. He has worked for six years to secure a fishing barge off the coast of Huntington Beach and feels much satisfaction in the accomplishment, even though he has no financial interest in the undertaking.

Uses Hobby for Photography As Business Start

It is not often that one can make a hobby foundation for a business, and yet the love of the camera and the lure of the art of taking and finishing pictures was the foundation of a thriving business for Miss Helen Gleave, proprietor of the Gleave Photo and Film shop. Added to the camera supplies as a natural adjunct to the business was a complete line of stationery and art post cards for the public. The concern also does a commercial work in the taking of pictures for reproduction. Four years in this highly specialized business has brought a fair measure of success to Miss Gleave, who is aided in the business by R. E. Gleave.

TRUMAN PIONEER RESTAURANT MAN

W. P. Truman, who operates the home dining room, says that in every way he is a home product. He has been one of the pioneers in the restaurant business and has been in his present location for five years.

He has built his reputation principally on home-cooked foods, his home-made pies being extremely popular. He has kept pace with the growth of his business and installed modern equipment in his dining room and kitchen.

A recent addition to his equipment is a large electric dishwasher, which enables him to give quicker service to the public and, at the same time, guarantees absolute sterilization of all utensils.

Obarr Store Is Well Equipped For Drug Needs

In addition to the erection of one of the finest business blocks in Huntington Beach, R. L. O'Barr, proprietor of the O. B. Drug store, has an extremely large investment in stock and equipment of his metropolitan drug store at the corner of Main and Ocean avenues. The fixtures alone represent an investment of $13,000 and include a Frigidaire fountain, the last word in sanitary and efficient fountain equipment.

Other features of the store service bring the total invested to $25,000. The store is in charge of A. J. Severson, who has proven extremely efficient and under his management the business has prospered. Mr. Severson is a member of the board of education and is otherwise prominent in the community affairs.

Mr. O'Barr purchased one of the nice homes of the city, known as the Nelson place and has greatly improved it. This store, catering to both the transient and local trade, so near the water front on the state highway, has proven a busy place and its daily business, though made up of small sales, reaches a surprisingly large total because of the volume.

Electrical Firm Is Well Equipped

One of the pioneer business institutions of Huntington Beach is the electrical contracting and supply house of R. E. McIntosh.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh have made their home in Huntington Beach for nine years and have been in business for five years. They are now located in splendidly equipped quarters in the new Shank building, one of the town's best structures. Mrs. McIntosh has charge of the office, clerical work and buying end of the business, while the electrical wiring and contracting is handled by Mr. McIntosh and assistants.

The firm has a most complete stock of appliances and electrical

HINTERLAND OF BEACH CITY IS SOIL 'PARADISE'

With the close of the year 1922, there began in the city of Huntington Beach a development period which has been equaled by few cities in the history of the United States. Geographically, the city has always held a great advantage over many other favored sections. It is situated on a plateau facing the ocean, at an elevation rising from 20 to 100 feet above the adjoining land area, of which it is the natural center. This vast acreage, stretching for miles on three sides, is composed mostly of deep black peat soil of unusual fertility. Unlike the farm lands in many sections of California, these ranches are not dependent upon rain for their crops. They have an almost inexhaustible supply of artesian water, much of which is flowing the year around. Farmers have found lima beans their most profitable crop. Any kind of citrus or deciduous fruit thrives here, but the lima bean is king. The following table of acreage and production is therefore interesting:

In 1924, 8300 acres were planted, and 56,000 100-pound sacks harvested, at 11 cents per pound.

In 1925, 4600 acres were planted, and 70,000 100-pound sacks were harvested, at 12 cents per pound.

In 1926, 5548 acres have been planted, with 90,900 sacks as probable yield.

Development of Oil Industry

In and adjoining the city of Huntington Beach the petroleum industry has enjoyed a marvelous development. Many of the largest oil companies of the world are represented here. Original prospecting was conducted by the Standard Oil company, of California. The Dutch Shell, the Union and the Associated followed in quick succession. Now there are 86 companies owning oil property in and adjoining the city.

Oil interests soon began encroaching on business and residential districts in the city, so that building and drilling restrictions had to be placed by ordinance in order to preserve the many summer and winter cottages of the city. Yet, since the discovery of oil, more homes have been built than ever before.

The fact that Huntington Beach is cooler in summer and warmer in winter than most sections of the southwest, is just beginning to be realized. Building permits for the last three years, ended in June each year, are: 1923-4, $560,879; 1924-5, $332,618; 1925-6, $785,105.

Is City of Homes

Huntington Beach is pre-eminent in a city of homes. Many families coming into the city compelled the construction of new grammar and high schools, the equal of which is not found in many cities of larger population. The surrounding country, the climate, the beach and the sea have all contributed to make this an ideal place for children and the city has done everything in its power to contribute to their training and happiness.

Huntington Beach is the only beach in this section where children are protected from the ocean wind by a high bluff while enjoying the sand and the sea. For this and other reasons, Huntington Beach has rapidly grown from a wheat field to the largest coast town in Orange county, in a remarkably short time.

Attention is invited to the following facts concerning Huntington Beach: Population, 6000; assessed valuation, $11,900,000; bank deposits, $2,500,000; monthly payroll, $250,000; monthly oil production, 1,260,000 barrels; annual post office receipts, $30,000; grammar school enrollment, 1100; high school enrollment, 350; 19½ miles of paved streets; lighting system and a grammar and high school plant unequalled by any town of its size anywhere; splendid transportation facilities.

EADERS BAKERY EQUIPPED FOR BIG BUSINESS

The bakery plant of John H. Eaders, known merely as Eaders Bakery, is more than a bakery. It is, in reality, a factory which turns out an unbelievable amount of pastry products.

Perhaps the largest amount of modern machinery in any bakery in the county has been installed by Eader, who thought at the time that he was building beyond the present capacity needs of the town in his extensive equipment and spacious quarters.

However, the tremendous increase in his business has proven that the plant is no more than adequate for his present output of products.

Eader has been 15 years in the community and has put in the major portion of his life in the calling. He built the splendid building occupied by his plant and has contributed in many other ways to the upbuilding of the town of which he always has been a loyal booster.

H. B. BANK HOTEL POPULAR HOSTELRY

One of the popular hotels in Huntington Beach is that of the Bank hotel under the management of A. A. Borey located at Fourth and Walnut. The comfortable rooms and high class furnishings in this well-ordered establishment are features which appeal to patrons. The entire hotel was overhauled just previous to the opening of the present season and every room was redecorated and the entire interior refurnished. Though a small hotel of only twenty-four room capacity the place has proven just the right size to enable Mr. and Mrs. Borey to give the entire business their personal supervision. Their three and a half years in this business has made them many friends in Huntington Beach as well as among the traveling public.

Beauty Experts Well Equipped To Serve Trade

Anna Butler and Ruth Hurd, proprietors of the Maribello beauty parlor, in the estimate of many of the women of Huntington Beach, furnish a service which the women of the community could not well get along without in their most completely equipped institution.

Both proprietors are experts in their line and have completed the most exhaustive study of this profession. To eliminate the effects of hard water, they have installed a complete Permutit water softening plant at a heavy expense, and another recent piece of expensive equipment has been a Leon-Oil permanent waving machine. These two women have been in this line in Huntington Beach for five years. They are now located in the new Shank building, one of the new structures that is a credit to the town.

Beach Concerts Are Appreciated

The Huntington Beach band, one of the finest musical organizations in the Southland, plays three times a week on the beach and the concerts are greatly appreciated by the bathers and others, who come to the beach for recreation. The personnel of the band is as follows:

R. M. Coney, J. D. Weaver, W. R. Clifton, Ed Marshall, W. L. Cairns, B. Howard, W. J. Burgle, O. Stock, C. Gilmore, Y. Marshall, C. A. Smith, T. W. Vincent, Director L. L. Gilmore, J. T. Hart, W. W. Anderson, M. C. Mitchell, W. H. Gallenue, R. S. Briggs, L. A. Matthews, J. S. Parmeter, J. Ruhland, E. Ioculucci, G. A. Pabst, William Stedman, C. M. Durgan, William Crawford and D. Barr.

Service Station Popular Depot of Beach Motorists

Robb and Gallienne's Service station at 303 Main street is one of Huntington Beach's most popular motorists' supply headquarters. Both L. M. Robb and W. H. Gallienne, business manager of the city band, are well known and have given their patrons the best of service. They have secured the exclusive agency for Callpet and Ventura gas in the community and carry complete lines of tires, tubes and accessories.

H. B. Optometrist Has Many Friends

Dr. L. A. Olmstead, optometrist, is one of the professional men of Huntington Beach who has served the community and established a remunerative practice. Dr. Olmstead has been in the professional services of the community for three years, having located in his present office two years ago. He has proven an active man in community affairs outside of his practice and has made many warm personal friends in the section. He carries the most modern equipment for his technical use and can give the same class of service to be obtained from any city specialist.

HUNTINGTON BEACH RAPIDLY IS BECOMING KNOWN AS INDUSTRIAL CITY AS WELL AS CENTER OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S RECREATIONAL LIFE

One of the strongest companies financially and one of the most active in the realty field is that of the United Realty and Finance corporation.

This concern, with an authorized capital of $75,000, does a general oil land and investment business and also handles various forms of financing. The officers of the company are:

W. S. Tubach, president; R. M. Bradley, vice president, and Sam Clapp, secretary-treasurer.

The firm enjoys a prosperous business and all of its members are men who are active in the social and community life of Huntington Beach.

Big Business Is Done by Patton Realty Company

The Patton Realty company of Huntington Beach, is one of the most prominent real estate firms in the county and is made up of C. P. Patton, president of the chamber of commerce, head of the realty and library board and prominent in all civic activities. Ben S. Patton and G. O. Berry, who has proven one of the most active realty men in the placing of large deals and who is an expert on insurance rates and propertied such a reputation for integrity and ability that many clients rely wholly upon their judgment in making realty transactions. They have an exceedingly large listing of various town properties and valuable farm lands.

Realty Men Keep Tab on Oil Game

Two of the old timers, who have witnessed and taken part in the great strides of the town of Huntington Beach, are E. H. Eoyer and W. B. Crawford, of the firm of Eoyer and Crawford, realty brokers and oil lease experts. Probably no two other men have been in closer touch with the oil situation here and their intimate knowledge of condition have enabled them to give a service to patrons in the lease end of their business that has been very popular. Many clients have been quite successful in the oil game through acting on the advice given by these specialists.

They also do a general real estate and insurance business.

BEACH TOWN HAS ADVERTISING MAN

A special advertising manager for a city is an innovation that is found in Huntington Beach. Clifford G. Reynolds has made a splendid showing in this position and has accomplished much for the good of the city. He has in hand the advertising of the town and has advertised it thoroughly. He originated the idea of a beach loud speaker for the radio entertainment of beach visitors and has created many new ideas that have brought publicity for the town.

Organizations of H. B. Meet In Cafe

One of the places of business that, in its relation to the public life of the community can almost be rated as a community affair in serving as the meeting place for many gatherings of a public nature, is the Rotary cafe. The Realty Board, Lions club and various other clubs and organizations find in this place a splendid location for their meetings and banquets. The cafe, besides a large public dining room that seats 52 persons, has a private hall that accommodates 34 persons. This business was formerly known as the Sweet shop but with the addition of other lines the name as used at present was thought more appropriate. Manager E. H. Cleck has been located here four years and has built up a splendid patronage.

Use Old Autos to Guard River Bank

PIERRE, S. D., June 23.—Junked motor cars are being put to a new use here—that of helping to "tame" the Missouri river.

The "Big Muddy" has a coy habit of tearing away large chunks of South Dakota farmland abutting the stream, during the spring rises, and carrying them downstream sometimes in twenty-acre chunks. The piling of logs, brush and debris along the bank has not availed to stop the channel's depredations.

But it has been discovered that the frames of junked cars, piled one upon another wherever the channel is cutting away the bank, settle so firmly and are so impervious to the channel stream that they stop the cutting of the bank. Several scores of abandoned automobiles are serving more effectively than expensive piling.

SLOW TO RECOVER

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Incapacitated veterans of the World war, who suffered chlorine gas poisoning have been slow to recover, according to a board of medical officers recently appointed to investigate. There were 835 casualties from chlorine gas.

FLOODS CAUSE BIG MENACE TO GERMAN DIKES

BERLIN, June 23.—"All men to the dikes" is the SOS call throughout Germany wherever floods threaten to wash away the last barriers and precipitate the worst catastrophe of the kind the country has experienced in years. Some estimates of losses place the damage already done at $10,000,000. Storms, cloudbursts and floods, which for weeks past have wrought havoc in southern Germany, are now also endangering the north and northwest, so that not only have the dike patrols been called out for continuous service, but volunteer emergency patrols have been organized to watch for weak spots in the dikes and immediately plug them with sandbags and clay. In the free state of Oldenburg, the Elbe and Weser rivers are overflowing, doing great damage to the whole hay harvest. Near Lüneburg, water is inundating gardens and houses. Reports from Stettin indicate that hay and vegetable crops were destroyed. Along the Rhine the rain has washed away the terrace constructed for wine cultivation, with inestimable damage to vineyards.

On large rivers like the Elbe the current is so strong and the actual river bed so difficult to locate that large transportation is impossible. Travelers reaching Berlin from various parts of Germany, such as Silesia, Saxony, the Rhineland and Mecklenburg, assert that trains often for miles seem to pass through a vast sea.

The rains continue and the high water mark has not yet been reached. A local train in Pomerania was derailed today because of the flooded roadbed. As the engineer was driving slowly, only the locomotive and baggage car fell into the ditch, and there were no casualties.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Transforming his investigation of senatorial primary election expenses into an Anti-Saloon league "probe" was one of the most remarkable achievements of Senator James A. Reed's career.

When the inquiry started nobody had the slightest idea that the wet-and-dry issue would figure in it. Reed himself had no such thought. It was impossible for him to foresee that the opportunity to drag it in would present itself.

Reed was considerably handicapped during the investigation of prohibition enforcement, conducted by the judiciary sub-committee engaged in consideration of wet-and-dry bills.

Now, besides being his own chairman, as he is of this one. Furthermore, he was in a wet minority of one, against four succeeded in getting the individual he most particularly wanted, Wayne B. Wheeler, a none witness stand.

FIRST ELECTRIC LINE IN TOWN 22 YEARS AGO

The part played by the Huntington Beach company in the upbuilding of the town was an important one. H. E. Huntington came into the city and took over the subdivision interests. It was through the efforts of Huntington that the Pacific Electric railroad was persuaded to lay a line into the new city. In 1904, the first street cars came to Huntington Beach, then known as Pacific Beach. Soon afterwards, the name was changed to Huntington Beach, in honor of Huntington.

In 1909, another forward step was made by the citizens of the prospering little community, when a union high school district was formed. C. W. Warner, justice of the peace at Huntington Beach, was one of the main workers in forming the school districts.

Then, in 1920, the Standard Oil company came into the town and drilled the first oil well. It was brought in at 40 barrels a day. Soon afterwards, the gushers were found and Huntington Beach leaped almost overnight from a quiet little farming town of about 1800 inhabitants to a bustling, busy oil town of nearly 1800 people.

Since that time, the development of the town has been rapid. Although growth of the oil field has slackened, wells are still being drilled and the Huntington Beach oil field is known as one of the longest lived and stable producing fields of Southern California. With the slackening of the oil activities in the beach town, citizens turned their attention to improvements and about three years ago, an elaborate improvement campaign was inaugurated.

The installation of more than $1,500,000 worth of public improvements, including street paving and lights, a municipal auditorium, a city hall building, sewers and storm drains has been an outstanding feature of the program. Buildings worth $500,000, including homes and business structures, were completed during the past two years and plans for this year call for an outlay of more than another $1,000,000 in building activities in this city. Of this amount, $500,000 will be spent in the erection of a new union high school.

Baileys Operate Pier Concession

The pier stand occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bailey is one of the most prominent beach concessions. Bailey is one of the pioneers of the town, having purchased his business from A. Beddeman. He has been identified with every movement for civic betterment and in boosting for a big Fourth of July celebration has done some very useful work. He carries a complete line of confectionery goods and conducts a light lunch business at the pier entrance.

still a wet. Two other members, Senators McNary and Goff, certainly are dries, but the fifth, Senator King, at least will not stand in the way of anything Reed tries to do.

Wheeler, while an important witness, with his revelation of the names of members of congress who have accepted pay from the Anti-Saloon league for making dry speeches, undoubtedly is only incidental to the Reed program.

Having started, it is a foregone conclusion that he will continue to do all the damage he can. The committee will not adjourn with congress but will hold sessions during recess, so that the Missouri senator will have all the time he wants.

The investigators expect also to meet in various parts of the country, which will give him a chance to stir up the wet-and-dry question on a geographically large scale.

The Reed investigation became a prohibition inquiry suddenly and unexpectedly that wet members of congress have hardly been able to assimilate the idea yet, but that they will make the most of all the ammunition the Missouri supplies them with is certain.

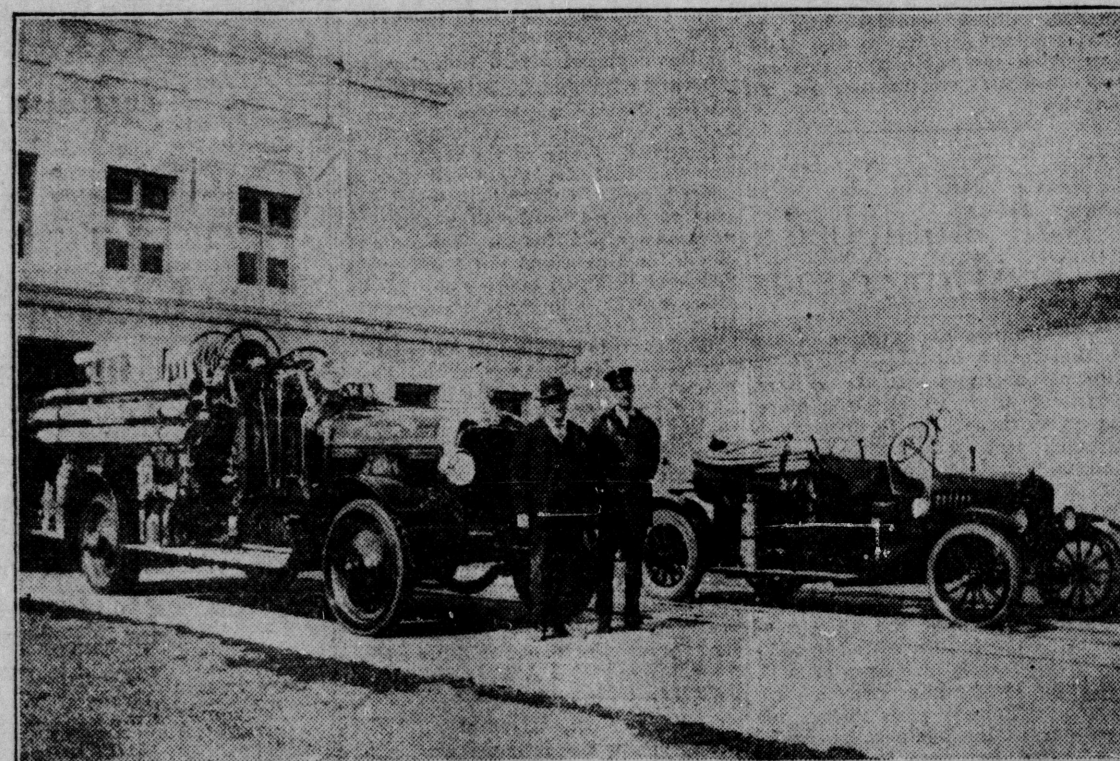

As the wet see it, the main advantage Reed has given them is in placing the Anti-Saloon league in what they hope will prove to be a defensive attitude just as it was on the point of launching a terrific offensive campaign in all parts of the country where prohibition will be an issue at the coming election.

The league view, of course, is that there was no impropriety in its payment of expenses and "honorariums" to members of congress for pleading the dry cause. Nevertheless, in the wet's opinion, Wheeler's testimony gives the league something to explain. They hope for still more of it and will howl for explanations for all they are worth.

Just how politically injurious Wheeler's admissions may turn out to be for the men he mentioned as in the league's pay will be revealed at the polls in November in the cases of Senators Jones, of Washington, Willis, and Robinson of Indiana and Representatives Upshaw, Cooper, of Ohio, Barkley and Lowrey. That they are dries is no news but the wets think Wheeler's statements that they took money for serving the cause may count. Senator Foss, also named by Wheeler, is not a candidate for reelection this year.

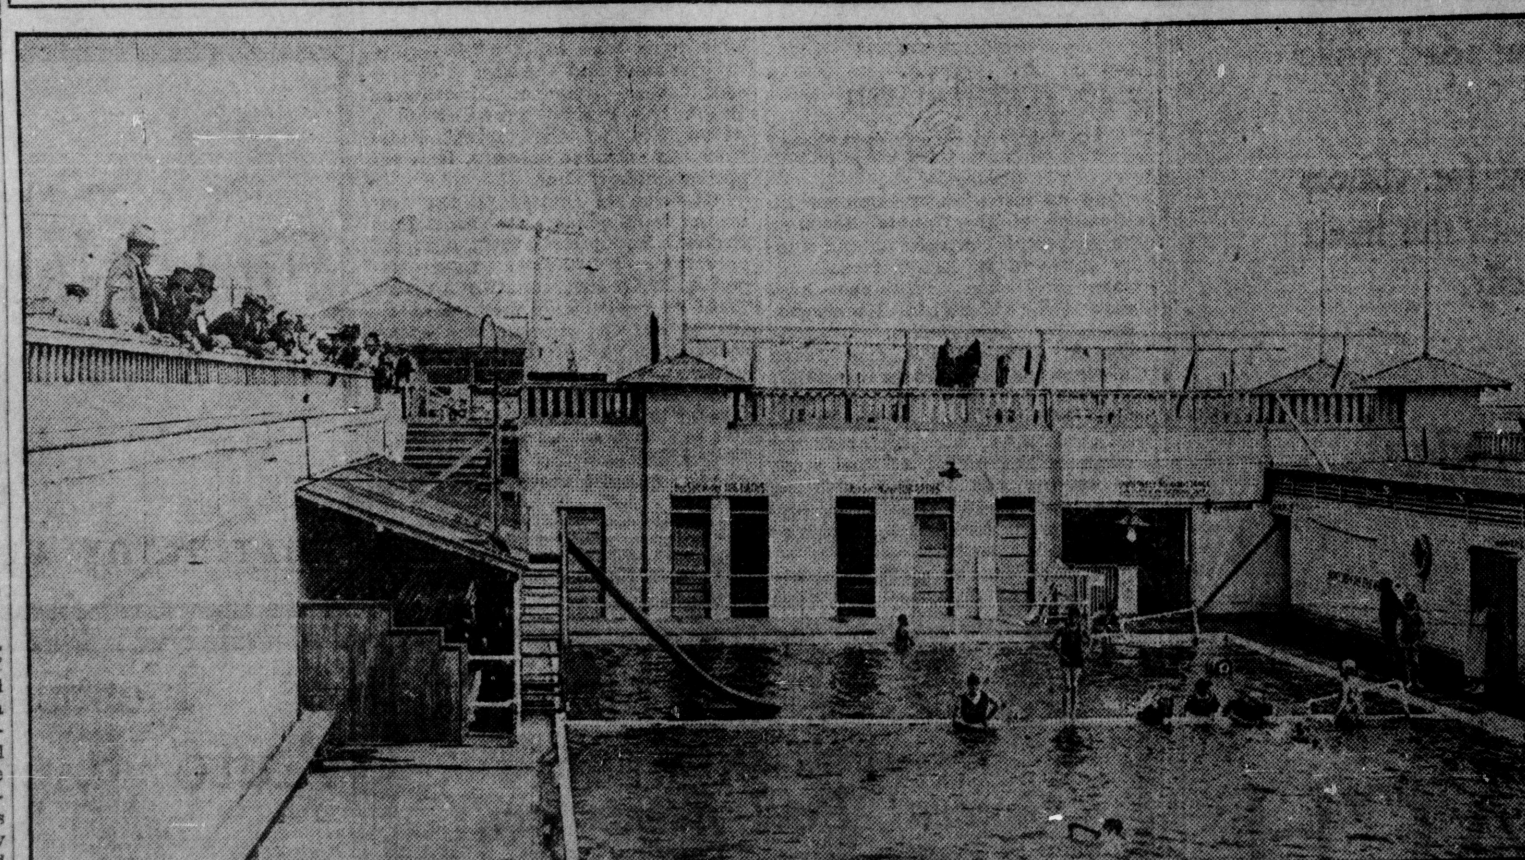

The irony of the situation, if it does make trouble for the dries, is that Wheeler himself, by his statement attributing much of such scandals as that of the Pennsylvania primary to wet corruption, opened the door through which Reed hauled the prohibition issue into his investigation.

HUNTINGTON BEACH FIRE DEPARTMENT ONE OF MOST UP-TO-DATE IN COUNTY

The Huntington Beach fire department is one of the most efficient in the county. The record of the department shows an exceedingly low rate of loss from fire during the last five years. Modern equipment is owned by the department, which is manned by volunteer fighters from the American Legion post in Huntington Beach. In the picture is shown Fire Chief Jack Tinsley, (left) and J. K. Sargent, truck driver.

PLUNGE ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD OF BATHERS DAILY

Orange county's finest plunge is operated at Huntington Beach by J. M. Barlow, manager. The plunge is located on the ocean front at the foot of Fifth street, one block from the municipal pier. It is the only salt water tank in the county. Recent improvements cost approximately $20,000.

COLLEGE OARSMEN CLASH AT POUGHKEEPSIE

BILLY EVANS

RHEM OF CARDS

Another young pitching phenom is blossoming in the National league. He is Charles Flint Rhem, who graduated to the St. Louis Cardinals via Clemson college and the Fort Smith club of the West-ern association.

With less than a full season of professional experience before he entered the major league field, Rhem promises to develop into a genuine pitching star.

Rhem's pitching easily has overshadowed all major league rivals this season. His work not only has advanced "Rog" Hornsby's team to the first division class but it is barely possible that this 22-year-old youngster may be the means of giving the Cardinals a look-in for the National league pennant.

BUILT LIKE JOSS

Rhem is built along the lines of the late Addie Joss. He is tall and slim but instead of featuring a sidearm and underhand shoot as Addie did, Rhem whips across an overhand curve and fire ball that set down many fence-busters.

The curve is the chief stock in trade. It is almost a reproduction of the shot that made Vic Willis famous years ago.

Last season, when Rhem started by winning eight out of 13 games, National league managers predicted that a pitching arm could not stand the strain of constant curve-ball shooting. And when Rhem failed to win a game after July 5, losing eight in succession, they were convinced that the precious arm had wilted.

BOB AND BILL

However, what Rhem needed was an experienced catcher and coach. He found both when Bob O'Farrell, veteran receiver, was obtained by the Cardinals last summer and when Bill Killefer joined the club as coach.

O'Farrell and Killefer drilled with Rhem constantly during the training trip with the result that it looks as if the Cardinals have the most promising National league pitcher since Pete Donohue made his debut with the Reds.

Rhem was discovered by Scout Charley Barrett while pitching for Clemson college in 1923. He was sent to the Fort Smith club in the Western association in 1924 and was the leading strikeout pitcher that season.

BENTLEY AS PITCHER

Jack Bentley has gone back to his original trade of pitching. With the Phillies dropping from a first division club to the dark spots of the cellar in the National league owing to weak pitching, Art Fletcher has pulled Bentley off first base to add a competent pitcher to the Phillies' staff.

When Bentley was obtained by the Phillies in a trade with the Giants last winter, Fletcher was more than pleased with the exchange.

"I have what I need," said Fletcher, "a fence-buster for first base. Jack will first base for me and break up many games."

Before the season opened Fletcher regarded his pitching staff, composed of Dean, Mitchell, Carlson, Knight, Willoughby, Ulrich and Maun, as plenty strong enough.

NO HAL CHASE

Bentley, husky and awkward, was anything but a Hal Chase around first base in fielding. Regarded as a fence-buster through his baseball career, he was expected to make up for his defensive deficiencies with his over-the-fence wallop.

As a pitcher Bentley poled many home runs but as a regular for

HAGENLACHER COCHRAN MEET HERE TONIGHT

Erich Hagenlacher, world's 182 ballline billiard champion, arrived in Santa Ana today for his two 300-point exhibition matches with Walker Cochran of Hollywood, Calif., who has been among the runners-up in the last three title tournaments.

Hagenlacher was to meet Cochran at the Valencia billiard parlors, 616 North Main street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The cue wizards will clash again at 8 o'clock tonight. Exhibitions of trick and fancy shots will follow both matches.

The champion, it will be recalled, won his crown from Young Jake Schaefer, whom he defeated in 34 innings, turning in an average of 70 billiards an inning in wrestling the billiard title from the San Franciscoan.

Cochran has made many remarkable performances in ballline billiard championships. In the 1919 tournament held in New York, he set a world's record with a run of 265, and two years later made a new world record for a single run when playing George Sutton, the Chicago veteran in the Chicago tourney. His new run was 381 made in the fourth inning of a 400-point game. He won the game in five innings with an average of 80.

Cochran's 384 exceeded all records until Young Jake Schaefer, ran 400 from the bank against Erich Hagenlacher, the present champion, in the last International tournament at Chicago.

In a challenge match Hagenlacher defeated Schaefer of the 182 ballline crown, 1500 to 1344 and got sweet revenge for the 400 to 0 beating when he defeated "Young Jake" 609 to 17, in the first book going out with an unfinished run of 165 for an average of 100 in five innings.

the Phillies he failed to slay a single circuit wallop in 45 games. And then Fletcher's forecast of his pitching staff was out of gear. The pitching was too weak to carry the hitting, thus Fletcher believes Bentley can render more assistance as a pitcher than a first baseman to the hopeless Phils.

Bentley was purchased for $50,000 by the Giants as a pitcher. Jack had a remarkable record with the Baltimore Orioles by winning 16 and losing three in 1920, winning 12 and losing one in 1921 and winning 13 and losing 2 in 1922.

ERICH HAGENLACHER

The ruler of the 182 ballline billiard domain, Erich Hagenlacher, a German, will meet Walker Cochran of California, one of the most skilled of the nation's young players, in a 300-point exhibition at the Valencia parlors, 616 North Main street, at 8 o'clock here tonight.

NEWT STARK SIGNS AS FOOTBALL COACH

Newt Stark, former Santa Ana high school and University of Southern California football star, has signed a contract to coach athletics at Pittsburg (Calif.) high school next year. It was learned here today. He will begin his work in the Northern California Institution at the beginning of the next school term, about September 15.

Stark graduated from U. S. C. this month. During his collegiate career he played on the Trojan varsity three seasons. He also was a member of his freshmen team during his first year in college. Stark was regarded as the best defensive end on the Pacific coast although during the tailend of the U.S.C. schedule last fall he was placed in the Trojans' backfield because of his ability to run interference.

While at Santa Ana high school, Stark played three seasons as a halfback, being named All-Southern his last year.

KAPLAN DEFENDS TITLE.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 28.—Twenty thousand boxing fans are expected to gather here tonight for the bout in which Louis "Kid" Kaplan will defend his world's featherweight title against Bobby Garcia, Baltimore's soldier-fighter.

SHIELDS, FARNSWORTH, LACY AND SMITH IN SEMI-FINALS FOR S. A. CLUB GOLF TITLE

The golfing championship of the Santa Ana Country club will be fought out by Hugh Shields, Hugh Smith, F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth and Mark B. Lacy, all of whom turned in winning scorecards at the conclusion of third round matches in the title tournament during the past week-end. This quartette will clash the latter part of the coming week in the semi-final rounds.

CONNIE SILENT AS TO CHANCES OF ATHLETICS

CHICAGO, June 28.—Whatever anyone else may have to say about those Philadelphia Athletics, there's one man who isn't going to say anything until they either have the pennant clinched or are definitely out of it.

That man is Connie Mack, the one who, if anyone does, really has the right to say something. Mack has a stereotyped statement, that doesn't mean a thing, that he gives in answer to all queries as to where the Macks will finish.

It is this: "They will win the pennant if they win more games and lose less than any other team in the league." Connie, having profited somewhat by his sixty odd years of lifetime experience is making no predictions as to what will happen to the 1926 edition of the "used to be" White Elephants.

Perhaps Connie is remembering that awful tumble last year his team took when everything seemed to indicate the Athletics would win about last August 15 when his team was in first place, two games ahead of the Washington Senators. At the time the Philadelphians were going smoothly and Washington didn't seem to be doing anything in particular that would rate them higher than the Athletics.

Then the real truth of the race came out. The eastern teams came west. Washington played real baseball and Philadelphia played something else.

When September 7 rolled around—just three weeks from the day that they had been in first place by two games—the Macks were trailing the Senators by nine full games.

Baseball never before had witnessed such a reversal of form. It isn't quite conceivable that the Athletics would do such a thing this year. At the time it happened last year, most everyone was wont to lay it to the fact that the Macks were a young team that had cracked.

This year they have an additional year of "big time" experience and there seems to be one thing that the team has acquired. That is the nerve to stand up and fight against odds.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—"Big Ike" Boone of the Missions was still leading Pacific Coast league hitters today by an average of .403, with Art Griggs of Seattle in second place with .379.

ART RIGBY SHOTS 70 TO BREAK COURSE GOLF MARK AT SANTA ANA COUNTRY CLUB

Fairly burning up the thatched fairways with his screaming drives and making his putter "talk" when he was on the greens, Art Rigby, club professional, smashed to smithereens the course record at the Santa Ana Country club when he negotiated the 18 holes in an even 70, two under par figures.

Rigby had 12 pars during his record breaking round and on four holes recorded birdies on his scorecard. He was

Art Rigby

Smith and Farnsworth advanced another notch toward the coveted championship only after the hardest kind of a fight but Shields and Lacy found the going over the grassy fairways somewhat easier.

Smith was carried to the nineteenth hole by George B. Shattuck and Farnsworth only won his match from Robert E. Reid on the eighteenth green whereas Shields conquered E. T. Mater, 6 and 4, and Lacy vanquished Mayor Frank Purinton, 6 and 5.

Four players still remain in the Defeated 16 flight, contestants in which originally were grouped in the championship block. C. H. Way, Z. B. West Jr., Dean Colver and R. D. Crenshaw advanced into the semi-finals last week.

A. J. Crookshank, J. W. Law, Dr. C. R. Lane and Don Andrews still are fighting for the championship in the third and fourth flights.

J. Fred Parsons triumphed in the ball sweepstakes competition, shooting an 84, which with his 12 handicap, reduced him to a 72, one stroke less than Law Wallace, who was second, and two less than Ed Holmes and F. E. Farnsworth who tied for third.

Parsons, Wallace and Holmes led in the Lorenz cup play.

Results in club championship play follow:

Championship Flight
Hugh Smith won from George B. Shattuck, 1 up at 19th; Hugh Shields defeated E. T. Mater, 6 and 4; F. E. Farnsworth beat Robert E. Reid, 1 up; Mary Lacy won from Frank Purinton, 6 and 5.

Defeated 16 Flight
C. H. Way defeated H. B. Van Dien, 2 up; Z. B. West Jr. beat Dr. C. R. Lane, 1 up; 21 holes; Dean Colver won from C. E. Downie, 2 and 1; R. D. Crenshaw defeated Walter Vandermast, 1 up.

Second Flight
Joe Parsons won from George Parker, 6 and 5; L. L. Carden beat L. D. Coffing, 3 and 1.

Third Flight
A. J. Crookshank defeated Otto McClure, 2 up; J. W. Law won from L. M. Forney, 3 and 2; Dr. C. R. Lane won, 1 up; Don Andrews won by default.

FLOWERS, HUFFMAN MAY MEET IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Tiger Flowers, recently crown champion of middleweights, will probably fight here the latter part of next month, with Sailor Eddie Huffman as his opponent, it was announced today.

Dick Donald, who controls Ascot arena, an open air stadium, declared today that both Flowers and Huffman had agreed to his terms for the fight.

Flowers declared in a telegram, which followed a long distance telephone call, to meet Huffman in a 10 round decision bout.

Many promoters in Southern California have been trying to line up the new colored champion, who took the title from Harry Greb in the east.

Londos and Lutze Clash Wednesday

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Nick Lutze, former Notre Dame football player, will have another chance to prove his assertions that he is a better wrestler than Jim Londos, Greek heavyweight, at the Olympic auditorium Wednesday night.

It is the second time the pair have met. The first time Lutze did not hear the bell that started the match and never got out of his corner until he was pinned to the mat by Londos. He took the second fall but lost the third one.

SUZANNE OUTS SINGLES PLAY AT WIMBLEDON

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28.

—Suzanne Lenglen, world's champion woman tennis player, today defeated and retired from singles competition in the all-England tournament here.

Lenglen scratched from singles play only, and will decide later whether to appear in mixed doubles competition.

It was announced that the French star started to the courts from her hotel, became ill and had to return to her room, where she decided to retire for the tournament.

Lenglen's opponent today was to have been Miss C. Beckingham. They were to have played for place among the last eight survivors of the women's singles. Among Suzanne's prospective opponents was Elizabeth Ryan, of California, whose flashing play last week in the United States, which she defeated, and "Dix" Vaisio, caused many to believe she would provide the French girl with opposition such as she rarely meets.

Elizabeth Ryan, America's hope in the women's singles, was eliminated by Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, 1-6, 6-4, 6-0.

The Californian was obviously ill. She was forced to postpone the match which originally was set for Saturday and still was out of condition today.

She outran herself to take the first set and had nothing in reserve. She tried in the second set but in the third could hardly move.

Howard Kinsey of California today entered the semi-finals of the men's singles by defeating P. D. E. Spence of South Africa, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Jacques Brunon defeated C. H. Kingsley, an Englishman, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Henri Cochet went into the semi-finals by defeating J. C. Gregory, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. The French champion was extended by his British opponent in what was believed would be a straight set victory.

THREE RIVALS TIED FOR LEAD IN CITY LOOP

Holding such a substantial lead over the rest of the field that the race has become a three-cornered affair, the championship of the Santa Ana Indoor Baseball league seems to resolve itself around a question as to how long the pace-makers can keep on dealing punishment before one of the outdistanced "also rans" rise up in righteous wrath and slap them on the shin.

The Tiernan Typewriter company, Lee's Fountain and the P. C. Blauer grocery are tied for first place, all with seven victories as against two defeats, and they are now so far ahead of the next contender that nothing short of a miracle will prevent one of them from capturing the city crown.

No crucial struggles between the leaders are scheduled for this week but the Tiernans, Blauers and Lee's all will get opposition against which it will not pay them to let up a bit.

Peaks, Blauers Tonight
Perhaps the most important imbroglio of the Lincoln park card is that tonight between the Blauers and the Arnold Peak market. The Meat-Cutters are too far down the list to be thinking much about a championship but it will be recalled that they represent the only team in the circuit that holds victories over both the Tiernans and Lee's Fountain.

Whenever they have their full strength, the Meat-Cutters are going to be tough to beat and it is quite probable that Manager Peak will trot out all his stars, including

Ed Boyd, "Slim" Higgins, "Colonel" Berry and Joe Irvine, who were absent last week, in order to get a last whack at the Grocers.

Reorganized under the direction of Gene Thomas, the colorful O'Donnell Motors crew meets the Tiernans tomorrow night. The Garage-men are showing fine ball since their readjustment, having won one and lost one under the O'Donnell banner, and the fans get a kick out of their aggressive play.

Need No Sympathy
The Tiernans need no sympathy despite the fact that they have lost the services, temporarily at least, of Tom Hitt and Randolph Bell. Gene Hitt pitched a fine brand of ball against Lee's Fountain last week and his subsequent performance on the knoll in Friday's County league contest for the American Legion indicates that he is going to be a competent successor to his young brother.

Lee's Fountain won't see action until Thursday when they are scheduled to open hostilities with the Fluor Constructionists. Rasmussen, can make arrangements to play here that evening this should develop into one of the best pitched battles of the season for many fans class Johnson right along with Jimmy Mansfield, the Fontaineers' undefeated southpaw ace. The Fluors have been playing great ball lately and maybe they will be the first to stop Mansfield's winning streak.

Wednesday night's turmoil will be offered by the Excelsior Creamery company the Southern Counties Gas company.

When runner collides with fielder about to field batted ball. Runners on second and third score on the play. What is proper ruling?

The fielder always has the right-of-way, the baserunner must avoid him to escape being penalized.

When runner collides with fielder about to make a play on a batted ball, the runner should immediately be called out.

Since runners cannot advance on an interference of this nature, the runners who scored on the play are sent back to their original bases, second and third.

The batsman who hit the ball is granted first base. So the situation remains the same, the bases are still filled, except two are now out instead of one.

HUSKIES FROM NORTHWEST ARE PICKED TO WIN

Washington Varsity Draws Favored Lane; Navy May Offer Close Competition

By PAUL W. WHITE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—Nineteen shells, each filled with powerful young men who have spent long hours with tortured muscles in preparation, will sweep down the Hudson river late this afternoon in the three events that make up the 29th annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing association.

Eight varsity, six junior varsity and five freshman crews are entered in the race, which with fair weather probably will attract a crowd of close to 70,000.

In the varsity event the "dope," which frequently is as tickle as the Hudson itself, favors either Washington or the Navy, with the former receiving the bulk of support. The Huskies from the Northwest, won in 1923 and 1924. Last year they were barely nosed out by the Middies.

The luck of the draw for positions has favored Washington. The Huskies have number one lane, hugging the west shore of the river which is more protected from the winds that usually blow upon the Hudson as the sun is setting. The Navy, in No. 5 lane, is fairly far out in the river.

In the last mile of the race, when the spider-like suspension bridge three miles from Cronk Elbow is passed, the wind begins to mean something—and it is over that last mile, when the sweep swingers are straining their lungs, legs, arms and backs, that a respite is most helpful.

The race for third position may be even more spirited than that for first place. Wisconsin and Pennsylvania are favored, but Cornell and California should provide plenty of competition. Columbia and Syracuse are believed out of it.

Washington's junior varsity eight also is expected to come home first with California's, its principal rival.

Pennsylvania, Cornell, Syracuse and Columbia also are entered and their chances are rated in about that order.

Columbia and California are favored for the freshman event.

FINAL GRUNION RUN WILL OPEN TONIGHT

The last heavy "run" of grunion this year is scheduled along the Orange county coast line tonight and tomorrow and large crowds are expected to dot the beaches from Seal Beach to Capistrano beach for their last try at the elusive little ocean dwarfs.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA— —BY REDNER

After several years' study of law, Jefferson began his public career by being elected to the Virginia House of Burgesses in 1768. John Wayles, in whose office Jefferson studied law, often invited him to week-ends at the Forest, near Williamsburg. Jefferson here, on New Year's Day, 1772, married Wayles' daughter, the beautiful widow, Martha Skelton.

Jefferson took his bride to Monticello. They had to ride part of the way on horseback through a driving snow-storm.

In 1774 Jefferson voiced many of the principles of the Declaration of Independence in a paper read before the Virginia Burgesses. This document was not accepted, because the leaders at that time thought the resolutions radical, but it formed the basis for the Declaration of Independence. (Continued.)

The WOMAN'S DAY
By Allene Summer

Birds and Girls
"Birds of a feather flock together. But they don't. A girl with a beautiful skin and red hair marries a man who looks like a reformed orang-outang. A clergyman makes a friend of an auctioneer and a banker would rather spend a day with an Adirondack fishing guide than with a whole vaultful of bankers. Burglars during the day-time go and swim in the Y. M. C. A. pool. Forgers in their time off sing in the choir and choirmasters when they are not singing shoot craps."
—Stephen Leacock.

Woman's Beauty
Millions of "just can't afford a manure every week," and she asks me how to shine her own. Like this, Miss-for-short. Have a stiff nail brush, a thin file with a round edge, emery board, sharp nail scissors, orange stick, two buffers, rose powder and paste, cuticle remover, soap, powdered pumice, and bleaching cream. Shape the nails with the file; if very long out with scissors before shaping; the shape fits the fingers; oval nails for oval fingers, square ones for blunter digits. Never a sharp, talon-like nail. While one hand is soaking in warm soapy water for 10 minutes, cold cream is on the other. A bleaching cream is put under the nails. Loosen cuticle with remover. Remove stains with peroxide and pumice stone. Polish.

Unfit Mamas
"A child born of a woman who has been to college should be taken from the mother as soon as it is born and placed in some institution where it would be properly cared for." This statement in an frat letter from a wealthy New York manufacturer to an eastern girls' college has excited the country. But who wants to argue?

July Fourth Party
Perhaps the children want a Fourth of July party. Make it an Uncle Sam birthday party. Invitations may be written on inside folded water color flags. Decorate with rosettes and bunting of special Fourth of July decorating paper. Guests can find partners for games by matching broken colored candles. Blue dishes on special paper doilies on a white cloth could decorate the table with a centerpiece of a "birthday cake" made from a white paper covered round box from which red ribbons lead to the place cards and favors at each place. Bell-shaped sandwiches, flag cakes and ice cream, and red and white candles make an appropriate light menu.

Table Manners
The hostess is served first at a formal dinner in order that the guests may "follow suit" her manner of handling the food, and in order that she may give any necessary directions to the servant about it. A teaspoon is never left in a cup and no beverage is sipped from the spoon. The spoon is merely for stirring and one first sip from the cup. Bread is broken into small pieces before buttering. Salad is cut only with the fork.

Garden Notes
A few little don'ts from "Garden making and Keeping" by Hugh Finlay, professor of agriculture at Columbia University, may intrigue the busy lawnmowing gude-man. "Do not," says he, "work on the lawn when it is wet. Do not cut the grass too close during the dry periods. Do not water the lawn too often, but when you do, saturate the soil well. Much damage is done by sprinkling the surface soil especially when the sun is high. Water in the late afternoon or evening. Grass may be cut shorter during the early spring than in mid-summer or early fall. Do not cut a new lawn too closely. When the grass is about three inches high, set the lawnmower blades high, and cut just before a rain."

PROPER CARE
After using an electric iron should be carefully covered to protect it from dampness, and the cord should be disconnected.

SAVES SCRATCHES
It is advisable to protect the bottom of a sink with a rubber mat when you have a dishpan in it.

ICE BOX EFFICIENCY
The coolest and driest part of the refrigerator is the first passage into which the air passes after cooling on the ice. Place the milk and butter in this compartment, and keep both covered.

Just Folks

ON A FISHING TRIP
I was all out of sorts, so I said to myself,
I'll go fishing today.
I'll chuck all my duties way up on the shelf,
And slip to the bay.
And maybe I'll get some, and maybe I won't.
But it won't matter much if I do or I don't.
For I'll look at the water and look at the trees,
And soak up the sunshine and soak up the breeze.
So I slipped out alone on a beautiful day
To fish and to rest.
And the wind blew a lot of my measurings away
As I later confessed.
And the Lord came and whispered to me: "Life is more
Than sharpening scissors or running a store.
And you don't need much money to live as a friend
And share in the numberless pleasures I send."

I was all tangled up and confused,
And my mind
Seemed a hodge podge of stuff.
I'd the notion somehow I was falling behind,
And the going too rough.
I was living with dollars and living with trade
And counting this life by the profits I made.
And I'd almost forgotten the long years might hold
Some treasures not reckoned in silver and gold.

So I stretched out my soul and I took in the trees
And the clouds drifting by.
I soaked up the sunshine and soaked up the breeze,
And I let my thoughts lie
On the beauty of blossoms and birds with their song,
I balanced life's pleasure against all its wrong,
I set myself straight on the great things and small,
And knew some of my cares didn't matter at all.

Menus
for the Family

By SISTER MARY
Breakfast—Grape fruit juice, cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs, crisp broiled bacon, crisp bran toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Baked green cabbage, whole wheat bread, apricot cream pudding, milk, tea.
Dinner—Pot roast of beef, potatoes cooked with meat, brown gravy, spinach salad, fresh strawberries, mother's spice cake, rye bread, milk, coffee.
If you have an iron kettle with a close-fitting iron cover, the potatoes are placed on top of the meat 1 hour before wanted to serve. The vegetable is really steamed and delicious by this method of cooking. Other vegetables can be added if the family do not object to a "savory" gravy. Salt the vegetables about 15 minutes before serving.
Mother's Spice Cake
Four eggs, 1-2 cup butter 1-2 cups brown sugar, 2-1-2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup milk, few grains salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon.
Save whites of 3 eggs for the frosting. Medium brown sugar is used and should be rolled before measuring.
Cream butter, slowly add sugar, beating until mixture is creamy. Stir in a few tablespoons of the flour sifted once. Add 1 whole egg and yolks of 3 well beaten. Mix and sift remaining flour with baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Add alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat until perfectly smooth and turn into an oiled and floured dripping pan. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Let cake cool and cover with the following frosting:
Roll 1 cup of brown sugar until free from lumps. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry. Beat in rolled sugar and spread over cake. Put into a hot oven for eight minutes to brown and puff the frosting. If there is any danger of the cake burning on the bottom during this additional baking place a shallow pan of water under the cake and put the rack on which the cake is placed as near the top of the oven as possible.

BEAUTY CHATS
EDNA KENT FORBES

GRACEFUL DRAPERIES
The woman who is too tall or who has an ugly figure should learn to make use of drapery. By that I mean that she should wear scarfs or fringed shawls, and have all her dresses cut with the new lines that give the body movement. The new fashions are designed so that the taller and thinner the figure the more graceful it becomes.

Shawls Are Universally Becoming

In tailored dresses "movement" is suggested by inserted pleatings often in detached panels that fly away from the figure. In fancier dresses of thin material the most graceful movement is achieved by slightly circular insets at the front or the sides, or by fine pleatings which make the skirt cling to the figure when standing but float out around it when walking. Even the familiar shirrings and ruffings are put to new uses to produce "movement." In other words instead of cutting and concealing the figure as before and having no motion but that of the wearer, the new style gives the dress an independent movement, a graceful swaying and fluttering which is much more becoming.

It is absolutely necessary to break the lines of a tall or a thin or an ungainly figure. The new complicated style of cutting does this most successfully. Dresses draped to one side and pulled around the figure as we wore them some years ago will also break up ugly lines and substitute better ones. The side draped style is coming back again, by the way.

To give "movement" to your old frocks wear long, bright silk scarfs with daytime dresses so the scarf ends float about the figure and wear light silk fringed shawls in the evening. Shawls should no longer be folded into a triangle instead one whole end should be turned back to a depth of twelve to twenty inches and then wrapped around the shoulders.

Miss B.—You have been irritating your skin by overdoing the treatments. A daily cleansing with cream and then hot and finally very cold water should be enough without following with an astringent. The cream you use should not be used on the face at all times as it tends to dry out the secretions.

Mrs. C. H. K.—Never try to remove a mole yourself as you may cause a permanent scar. A few moles are not disfiguring but if you feel that you must have them removed go to a doctor who does such work.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Close-ups on Manhattan's studios: Two more pictures and Constance Talmadge is through, she says. Then it's settle down with England as her future home. She's en route to Italy with her husband, Captain Alastair MacKintosh, on a honeymoon postponed for some two years because of engagements.
The "foreign invasion" continues. F. W. Murnau, German director, who brought out that classic, "The Last Laugh," arrives soon with prints of his latest, "Faust," in his satchel. He's been engaged by Metro-Goldwyn, is 37 and hails from Heidelberg University. A half dozen of his pictures have yet to be seen in America.

Troubles of a director No. 11,778. • • • How to make a Foolish girl get up in the morning in time for "location." • • • It's the particular problem of Ed Sutherland, who directs "Glorifying the American Girl" at the Paramount Astoria studio.

Latest screen discoveries: Edna May Oliver and Gregory Kelly. • • • Both recruited from Broadway. • • • Miss Oliver was playing in "Cradle Snatchers" when noted by screen folk, who felt she should go over to the films. • • • Appeared with Richard Dix in "Let's Get Married" and just about "walked away" with the picture. • • • She'll play with Dix again and probably will be wooed from the stage when her contract is up. • • • Gregory Kelly experimented with the films two years ago, but went back to the theater. • • • He's one of Broadway's pets. • • • But his work in "The Show Off" is something else again, Maurice! • • • A contract will probably be flashed under his nose any day now by the Paramount people.

HOLLYWOOD, June 28.—Charley Paddock, famous sprinter, is making his motion picture debut with Paramount as second lead to Bebe Daniels. Charley has the picture yet so badly that he has fixed up on the screen as a career. He was engaged primarily because of his early, graceful personality and his famous smile, rather than for his running prowess.
His foot speed, indeed, can be utilized only as a secondary feature in films, because if that were emphasized Paddock might run afoul of A. A. U. rules governing amateur sports standing. An amateur is not permitted to make money by his proficiency on the field of sports—and this prohibition might be extended to include film salary if his running were primarily exploited.

"Broken Hearts of Hollywood" sounds like an echo of the film capital's shattered romances. Be that as it may, this Warner Brothers' picture will include appearance of Patsy Ruth Miller, Louise Dresser, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Jerry Milroy, Stuart Holmes, John Barrymore, Irene Rich, Syd Chaplin, Monte Blue, Dolores Costello, Louise Fazenda and Willard Louis.

Buying

Business concerns seeking credit at regular intervals submit detailed audits by disinterested public accountants. The banker making the loan demands it.

These audits instantly disclose the exact financial condition of the business. They show the true value of inventories and assets; costs of operation; profits and loss. Such an audit creates confidence and is considered a necessity in banking operations.

The A.B.C. audit serves a similar purpose in advertising. A publisher or his representative in selling space presents his latest A.B.C. report. This shows quantity, territory of distribution, methods by which circulation was secured, and many other details necessary for the intelligent purchase of advertising space.

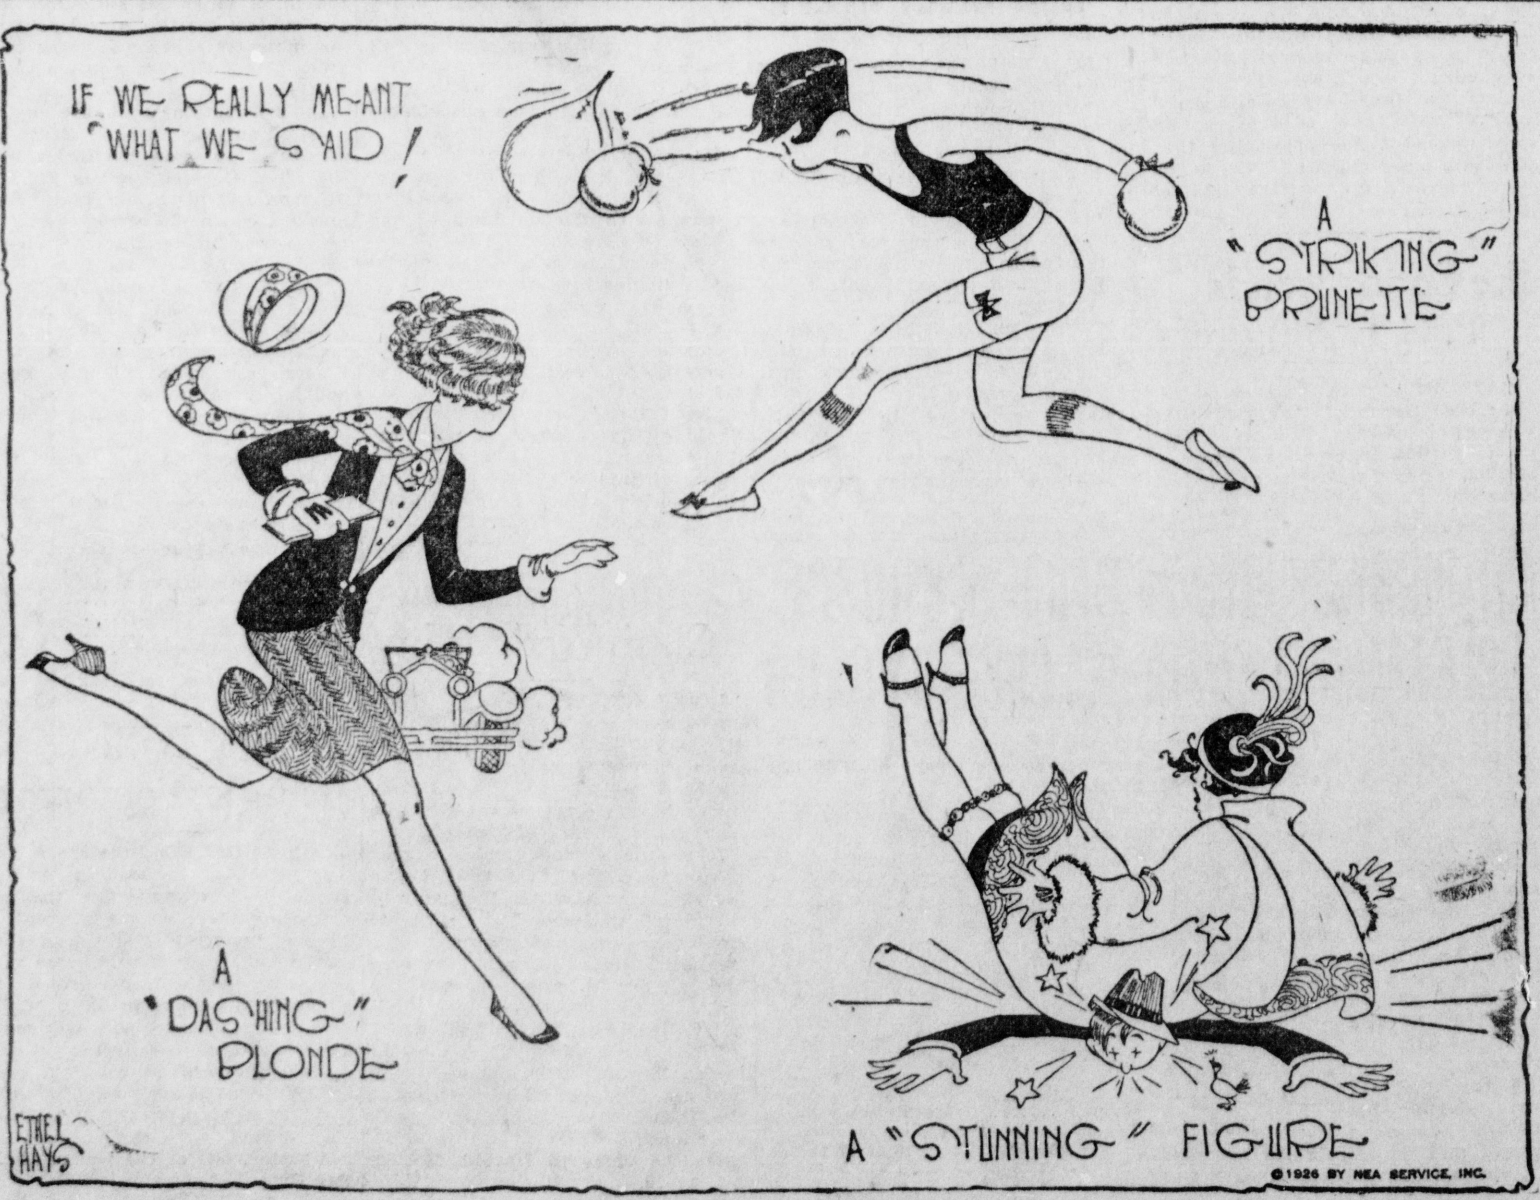

A study of the A.B.C. audit brings out every detail of circulation data, and immediately establishes confidence between the Buyer and Seller of Space.

For publishers to sell and advertisers to buy on the basis of A.B.C. reports is nothing more than putting efficient Business Methods into Advertising.

Let The Santa Ana Register submit their latest A.B.C. report before you make your next advertising contract.

STANDARD TO TEST TOP SAND IN YORBA WELL

YORBA LINDA, June 28.—Coming as a complete surprise to oil scouts and property owners of this section of the Standard Oil company in planning a production test of the top sand on its Anaheim Union Water company No. 1 well now being drilled at Yorba Linda lake south of town. The leases were secured in January, the well spudded in on April 6, and it is expected that the well will be pumping within a few days.

The well was started as a deep sand test and a couple of weeks ago, when the top sand was encountered just below the 2300 foot mark, it looked so good that officials ordered a change in drilling plans. The test is to be made in such a way that if the upper sand does not produce enough oil to satisfy the company, the hole can be continued to the deep sand at a depth of about 4500 feet.

A tank has been erected to store the oil. The company has attempted to maintain secrecy regarding the good showings but many cars carrying visitors are at the well daily. If the well is a producer, it means a big boost for this section, as the hole is both north and east of present production, and the Standard has almost 100 acres under lease surrounding it.

CYPRESS

CYPRESS, June 28.—The regular meeting of the Cypress Chamber of Commerce was held at the school auditorium June 22. The special business was the report of the committee on the financing of the fire fighting equipment. There is still $400 due on the chemical engine but there are pledges out to cover that amount. The stucco building recently erected is all paid for as is the supply of chemicals.

Other matters of business to come before the meeting was the discussion and preliminary arrangements to entertain the members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce during the month of October. It will be the first time that the local chamber has played host to the county organization.

A bulletin board is to be erected at the corner of Lincoln and Wall streets.

Irving is erecting a modern five-room home on Lahoma avenue. This is the third new home in this block in the last 60 days. Until the new home is completed the Irvines are residing in one of the Peagan cottages on Lincoln avenue.

Mae Whitcates' Sleepytime orchestra made such a hit at the chamber of commerce banquet that George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, made a date for the orchestra to play for the Santa Ana organization in the near future.

Mrs. J. M. Nutt passed away June 21 after a long illness. A son, E. M. Nutt, resides in Cypress.

The McClellan place, consisting of 10 acres and buildings, has been exchanged by the owners, Johnson and Kirk, for two business lots located in Loma. G. C. Marnton is the new owner. The deal was made through the office of Friday and Scone.

Hulzier and Sehra, subdividers and managers of the Cypress Acre tract, are planning on an extensive building and improvement program in the very near future. Much interest is being manifested in home sites in this vicinity and it is to accommodate the small home seeker that the building program is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Carpenter left Tuesday on an extensive motor tour through California and Oregon.

John Goldsmith and family have purchased the two and a half acre Darby place and have taken possession. The Goldsmiths are from New York and have decided to make California their future home.

Oren Wilson, principal of the local school, is spending his summer vacation dispensing groceries at the La Rue establishment.

Mrs. George B. Miller, Mrs. W. C. Miller and J. H. Hudson spent Wednesday at the E. E. Monroe home in Los Angeles.

Cary Caverton is in from Mexico, where he has been for the past year. Cary is visiting his mother, Mrs. J. C. Cawthon.

Merton Penhall has purchased a new sedan.

Mrs. C. L. Barnett is recovering from a severe illness.

Discovers Old Home Town Sign Won't Come Off

ORANGE, June 28.—"Medill, Oklahoma," to Orange, California," read a sign on the back of a well known touring car. Sighting a story a reporter accosted the driver of the vehicle concerning the time of his arrival from Oklahoma.

The ensuing conversation revealed the fact that the driver had come from Oklahoma about five years ago. It was also discovered that the sign which drew the attention of the reporter had been painted on the car in a spirit of levity a few days ago by the owner. However, when he attempted to remove the paint, it would not erase. Gasoline and other solutions proved unavailing.

So until the owner gets time to paint over the sign, he must go labeled as just hailing from his old home town in Oklahoma.

WOMAN SPEEDER FACES JAIL TERM

ORANGE, June 28.—Mrs. Chris Buell, Olive, was arrested Friday afternoon by Motor Officer Charles Wallace on a complaint signed by Patrolman Earl Shaffer charging her with speeding 57 miles per hour on the highway between Orange and Olive Thursday evening. When hailed before Recorder G. W. Ingle Saturday, Mrs. Buell asked for a continuance to insure her appearance on that date. Recorder Ingle set bond at $100, which was advanced by her attorney, Homer Ames of Anaheim.

According to Officer Shaffer, Mrs. Buell was driving her car at 60 miles per hour, in order to make sure of not over estimating the speed, she was booked at 67 miles.

Shaffer and Wallace were driving along the Olive boulevard when they spotted the car. Although they increased the speed of the police car to 60 miles per hour, the Buell machine drew away from them, they assert. However, Mrs. Buell stopped in Olive, thus allowing the officers to overtake her.

That Mrs. Buell faces a jail sentence if she pleads guilty or is convicted, was the statement of Recorder Ingle Saturday.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, June 28.—At the Lions' meeting Wednesday, a vote was taken to donate to the general fund the sum of $25. The quota from this district amounts to $250, a part of which had already been secured.

Among the speakers present were H. E. Wahlberg, past president of the Santa Ana, who complimented C. C. Arrowsmith, retiring president, for building up a live service club. He also extended an invitation to the club members to attend Santa Ana's installation, which will be held at the Ebell clubhouse next Thursday evening.

Garden Grove's installation of new officers will be held July 7. A. M. Stanley was present and gave a talk relative to the initiative amendment providing for re-apportionment or division of the state into senatorial and assembly districts, and warned against the danger of northern control in both senate and assembly under the proposed amendment.

A feature of the program included two dialect readings rendered by Miss Norma Larson.

Miss Mabel Jones entertained at a party in honor of the cheerful helpers' Sunday school class of Alamitos last Friday afternoon. The time was spent in playing games, hunting "treasure" and following the rainbow, at the foot of which a prize awaited the girl who answered the most Bible questions correctly. The prize was won by Mabel Bumgardner, with Ernestine Wakeham as finder of the hidden treasure.

Refreshments were served to Mabel Bumgardner, Ernestine Wakeham, Bertha Hodgkinson, Pearl Morgan, Catherine Smith, Opal Freeman, Frances Jones, Pauline Jones, Hazel Gupitell and Lloyd Jones.

William Lucas, 78, a resident of Garden Grove, passed away Tuesday evening at the Orange County hospital. Mr. Lucas, who made his home with the Silas Faulkner family, was born in Virginia in 1848, coming to California in the later years of his life. Funeral services were conducted in Santa Ana Wednesday afternoon.

A number of interested parents and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. C. C. Arrowsmith Tuesday afternoon to enjoy the recital which was given by the musical pupils of Mrs. Clarence C. Jones. Numbers on the program were given by Anita Ehrenfort, Ben Poland, Veeda Walker, Pauline Kirk, Clarence Jones, Ella May Christianson, Mrs. Clarence Jones, Margaret Arrowsmith, Norma Ehrenfort and Mrs. C. C. Arrowsmith. Shortly after the recital was completed, a social hour was enjoyed, when delicious punch was served by Mrs. Arrowsmith and Mrs. Jones, assisted by Mrs. Winifred Shackelford.

Mrs. Mary Morrill, who has been visiting at the home of her son, W. M. Morrill, returned to her home in Corona yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvine German and son left Tuesday on a two weeks' trip to Yosemite. They visited relatives in Los Angeles and Downey before leaving for Yosemite.

Mrs. J. W. Johnson, who underwent an operation at Burbank last week, is doing nicely.

Miss Mary Miller left Friday to attend a camp meeting at the Pacific Palisades. She will remain for two weeks.

Miss Clara Newman, of Los Angeles, has been a guest at the W. B. Merchant home this week.

WILSHIRE SETS CASING IN H. B. WILDCAT WELL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 28.—The Wilshire Oil company has stopped drilling and has set a string of casing in its test well in the western part of Huntington Beach, in the area where drilling restrictions were recently lifted. The cement job was shrouded in secrecy, the casing being hauled to the well and placed in the derrick under cover of darkness and no information as to depth of the hole, or character of showings being divulged by the company.

Scouts, who are keeping an eye on the well from a distance, estimate the depth of the hole by counting the stands of 80-foot lengths of pipe standing in the derrick, but these estimates vary between 3100 and 3300 feet. The general opinion is that the Wilshire probably picked up oil sand showings at about 3200 feet, which would correlate with the upper sand and found in other parts of the Huntington Beach field.

The Superior Oil company has added in its first well in the Huntington Beach city field, and has cemented a string of 15-inch surface casing at about 725 feet. The Superior intends to put its well down quickly and determine definitely just what it can expect to get in the prospective field.

Superior is one of the largest leaseholders in the district and if the field proves to be prolific, the company stands to obtain perhaps even greater production than developed in the Torrance field, where it made an excellent production record.

The Julian Petroleum corporation's well, the only other project in the west end of Huntington Beach, is idle after making a technical spud. The well is rigged up and ready to begin drilling on a few hours' notice.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, June 28.—Mrs. Addie Cretts and her brother, Dan Hall, who has been visiting here for some time, are to leave Tuesday for Oregon for a short stay at Mr. Hall's home.

Little Kenneth Neffert, of Los Angeles, is visiting at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hamilton.

On Wednesday, Herschel Settle was in Claremont to attend the wedding of a friend, Homer Helton, to Miss Charlotte Hall.

Don Smiley, Wade Flippin, Marion Flippin and Lucien Flippin, of Orange, are enjoying a trip to Yosemite valley.

Mr. Alfred is building a cottage at the rear of his home to be used by his daughter and her family, who expects to come from Indiana soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies and Mr. and Mrs. James H. McLaughlin spent a very pleasant day Friday visiting with the Blums in Long Beach. The Blums formerly were residents of this place. Mrs. Blum's many friends will be glad to know she is much improved in health. On the way home the visitors called on Mr. Davies' daughter in Brea.

Ell Harmon and Robert Harmon and son, Russell, of Long Beach, were callers at the R. C. Adams home Saturday afternoon.

Herschel Settle and Edwin Settle attended a leader's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening in Fullerton.

W. F. Crist's and Miss Nellie Crist's Sunday school classes enjoyed a picnic at Laguna Beach one evening last week.

Mae VanVranken returned Tuesday on a visit in Lindsay.

Walter Thomason is on the sick list this week, having just underwent a painful operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Houts entertained at a 7 o'clock dinner on Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wheeler and family and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kistler.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones entertained members of the Alamitos Domino club Tuesday evening, the time being spent in playing dominos and flinch. Refreshments of apricot ice and cake were served to Mr. and Mrs. George Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. William Hanster and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones and family.

C. F. Crane celebrated his 80th birthday anniversary Sunday with a dinner at Dixie park, Long Beach. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Crane's mother, Mrs. Reed, Everett Crane and family, of Hollywood, Lloyd Crane and family, of Garden Grove, Milo Harris and family, of Compton, and Mr. and Mrs. Mott, of Laguna Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones and Joseph Johnson attended the yearly meeting of the Friends church at Whittier Wednesday evening.

Mrs. A. G. Schroeder arrived Tuesday from Oakland for a visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. P. N. Larson.

Miss Katherine Miller, Miss Alma Shackelford and Eugene Shackelford enjoyed a dip in the Huntington Beach plunge Tuesday evening.

Miss Ora Baker and Elizabeth Lehnhardt have gone to Balboa the W. W. G. Louse party. They Palisades, where they will attend will remain until July 4.

Harold Tomplin, of Hutchinson, Kans., arrived in Garden Grove Tuesday for an indefinite visit at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Claude Comfort.

The W. J. Newman family has gone to Davis, where Mr. Newman will begin a six weeks' course at the Davis agricultural college.

Mrs. Clifton Bryan and son, Walter, and Miss Elizabeth Brown returned Wednesday from a two weeks' vacation spent at Forest Loma.

LOS ANGELES SYNDICATE AYS $75,000 CASH FOR 420-ACRE YORBA TRACT

YORBA LINDA, June 28.—Paying a reported consideration of $75,000 in cash, a syndicate of men headed by Jacob Stern, of Los Angeles, has purchased the 420 acres of unimproved land of Rosa Yorba Locke east of Yorba Linda with a view of subdividing it for citrus groves. Stern was one of the property owners when the Yorba Linda tract was placed on the market.

It is understood that the tract will be laid out this fall and winter and a water system installed. Sales will not be started before spring, it is understood. There is also a possibility that the V. Y. Vejar tract of about 400 acres will also be subdivided at the same time.

Both properties are a part of the Yorba estate and at present are used for barley fields. Efforts for years have been made to have them opened up for citrus.

YORBA LINDA, June 28.—The J. M. Oil company, which is to drill on leases covering about 90 acres south of town, is rigging up and will be ready to spud in its first well about July 15, according to Jim Gillespie, foreman on the job. Equipment used in drilling two wells at Carpentaria is being brought here and what is not used will be stored at the warehouse on South Lakeview avenue.

SCHOOL CREDIT SYSTEM CHANGE IS SUGGESTED

Radical changes in the requirements for high school graduation may be effected in the next few years, if the suggestions of A. C. Olney, commissioner of secondary education in California, are found feasible.

In a report just received here of the results of the convention of the state principals, held this year in Pasadena, Olney raises the question whether it is time to change anything to do with the actual accomplishment of the student.

The high school student at present goes to school for nine months each year for four years and receives a diploma for graduation. "Is Custom Right?" Olney asks whether the custom is right of requiring each student, in order to earn a unit of work, to remain in class five times a week for a year. The feasibility of keeping a student in a typing course for 10 months when he is able to meet the requirements in six months, is doubted.

"If we had reliable standardized tests in the various high school subjects, why should we not give credit toward graduation based on actual accomplishment?" Olney queries.

At the Pasadena convention were Principals D. K. Hammond, of the Santa Ana polytechnic high school; Will S. Kellogg, of the Frances Willard junior high school, and H. G. Nelson, of the Julia Lathrop junior high school. More than 500 principals were in attendance at the sessions.

Time Limit Set
Other results of the principals' convention are touched on in Olney's report. Action has been taken to require high school principals to submit courses of study adopted by the school boards by October 31. Complaints were made that in some cases the state law covering this point was being violated.

High school is no place for writing, arithmetic and spelling and other elementary subjects, it was charged at the convention. The state board of education will refuse to recognize these courses of study after July 1, 1927, unless these subjects are of high school grade and standard.

The Santa Ana senior high school has been abreast of the progress in this line. Before a senior may graduate, certain tests in penmanship, arithmetic and spelling must be passed in senior review courses without credit.

Old Diary Tells How U. S. Lived In Early Times

NEW HAVEN, Ct. June 28.—How a certain young Connecticut doctor jogged over the country roads in November, 1788, to visit relatives and friends in New Haven, how he ate "pompion" pies and drank Thanksgiving flip, how he appraised the pretty girls he met at parties, is all set down with a wealth of detail in an old diary just received by the Yale university library.

The author of the diary was Mason Fitch Cogswell, Yale 1780, who was a prominent physician in Hartford more than a century ago. His great-granddaughter, Mrs. Edward W. Root, presented the yellowed manuscript to the university because of the intimate details it gave of the life of the time, just after the close of the Revolution.

The diary tells of young Dr. Cogswell's trip from New York to Stamford to attend a wedding, what he ate and drank and the people he met and what they wore; the condition of the roads, the houses and the liquor at the inns. From Stamford he jogged on up to New Haven, stopping at Bridgeport to refresh himself.

He speaks of his thoughts as he drew near to Yale, which he describes as the "seat of my former pleasures" and the recollection of a "thousand happy circumstances crowded into" his heart. He tells of family reunions, of the politics of the times in detail.

Sunday Closing Of Barber Shops Annoys Actors
NEW YORK, June 28.—Actors will be the class most affected by the new law closing barber shops on Sunday, say the owners of the Rialto shops. It has been the actors' wont to spend no small portion of the Sabbath in a barber chair. At one shop, at whose ceiling Edwin Booth, Joe Jefferson and many another famous thespian has stared in bored silence, complaining actors already are predicting "bootleg" shaves and "blind tiger" shops where work would be done on Sunday.

WHAT! NO EGGS!
LONDON, June 28.—People develop the mentality of a cow if they drink large quantities of milk, according to Dr. Stavros Damaglov, of Athens. One of the worst centers of infection in the world is the hen's egg, he also declared. Dr. Damaglov was addressing a vegetarian congress.

Our Neighbors

VAN NUYS—Apricots in large quantities are beginning to make their appearance in local grocery stores and fruit stands. All the fruit is from local orchards. There is also a large amount of plums of various varieties from local trees. There is an abundance of sweet corn, locally grown, selling now at about 30 cents a dozen. All markets are carrying an abundance of all other fruits and vegetables. Tourists passing through appear to buy more apricots than anything else, this being a fruit they see little of in small towns back east.

LONG BEACH—Plans have been prepared for the first unit of the Southern Pacific-Dollar steamship terminal in Long Beach harbor. Vessels leaving docks in Long Beach harbor through the local entrance which will soon be dedicated to a depth of 40 feet, can be under full steam within 10 minutes after casting off, an advantage possessed by no other great harbor in the world. Trackage has been contracted for and work soon will go forward on the Long Beach Terminal company's docks, warehouses and cold storage plant, on frontage leased from the city at the head of channel No. 3. This improvement will cost between $600,000 and $750,000. Construction will start July 1, on the $250,000 plant at the San Diego Ice and Cold Storage company on Anaheim street at Daisy avenue.

RIVERSIDE—Three hundred and fifty tons of apricots are being harvested from the Morongo Indian reservation, according to C. L. Ellis, supervisor of the Mission Indian agency. Ellis says that the apricots are of exceptionally good quality this year. The apricots are selling at $50 a ton at the orchards. In some cases even higher prices are being paid, one Indian grower receiving $70 a ton for his crop of 15 tons, according to Ellis. A number of growers on the reservation are drying their crops, in the hope of getting a larger profit. The price for dried apricots now is 18 cents a pound. The crop is probably more than half harvested.

LANKERSHIM—Members of the San Fernando Valley Bankers' association, following their regular meeting at the Hollywood Athletic club, adopted a resolution which provides a charge of 25 cents extra on all checks which are returned on a basis of lack of funds for paying same, it is given out by the association's secretary. It was developed that quite a number of bank patrons are careless about their checks and often overdraw in moments of forgetfulness. There are now 14 members of the association including banks at Zelzah, Owensmouth, San Fernando, Burbank, Van Nuys and Reseda.

CALPATRIA—Imperial Irrigation district must pay $114,000 in damages to 20 property owners along Salton Sea who claim to have had their property flooded with excess drainage water, according to the decision of a special board of arbitration. The damage occurred two years ago, according to the claims filed with the district when surplus water from the irrigation system caused Salton sea to rise and overflow low lying property adjacent to it.

Eat Sauerkraut; Live to Be Old

BERLIN, June 28.—"Eat sauerkraut! It will cure you of all sorts of diseases, including tuberculosis, and if consumed regularly will enable you to reach the Biblical age." This is not a quotation from the advertisement of a sauerkraut manufacturer, but the opinion of Professor Hartmann, of Heidenheim, famous German physician, who laid down the above maxims in a recent issue of the Munich Medical Weekly.

However, to assure efficacy, sauerkraut should be consumed raw. Cooking destroys its healing power. Hartmann, to strengthen his arguments, cites the late Professor Metchnikoff, famous Russian physician, who claimed that countries where raw sauerkraut forms an essential part of the daily diet, the greatest number of old people are to be found.

CHILDREN'S TOURS

STOCKHOLM, June 28.—School children from the mountains will be brought down to see the plains, and children from the plains will go to the mountains, according to a new project in Swedish education. Several agencies are co-operating with the department of education to furnish the tours.
